WOMAN SLAYER WILL ABANDON COURT BATTLE

Attorneys for Mrs. Ida Hughes Decide To Appeal to Prison Commission for Clemency.

PLEA TO GOVERNOR WILL BE NEXT STEP

Plan To Carry Case to Supreme Court of United States To Be Deferred, It Is Believed.

Abandonment of the appeal to the state supreme court for a new trial for Mrs. Ida Hughes, under sentence of death for the slaying of her mother-in-law, Mrs. E. C. Hughes, and decision to appeal to the Georgia prison commission in the hope that that body will recommend clemency to Governor Clifford Walker, was announced Thursday night by H. A. Allen, attorney for the defense.

Mr. Allen is associated with Charles F. Wells in the defense of the woman, and declared that after a conference in which merits of the appeal for a rehearing on the plea for a new trial were discussed this course was decided on.

The plea will go to Governor Walker in any event, it was announced. If the commission recommends clemency, it automatically will be taken to the chief executive, and if the commission refuses such a recommendation, attorneys will appeal directly to the governor, they announced.

The Georgia supreme court refused a new trial plea last Friday, and Attorneys Allen and Wells have been considering the appeal for a rehearing on the same grounds—namely, that Mrs. Hughes was not in the courtroom at the time the verdict of "guilty" was read.

Continue Fight.

"Papers in the case probably will be back in the hands of Fulton county officials Monday," Mr. Allen said. "Mrs. Hughes probably will be sentenced again, and then we intend to appeal to the prison commission. In the event the commission fails to recommend clemency, we propose to take the matter directly to Governor Walker.

"This procedure does not mean that we have abandoned the fight for our client at all. It simply means that after a conference, we have decided to place the matter before the highest authorities at once."

Judge R. R. Jackson, special counsel for Mrs. Hughes, has announced his intention to take the matter to the United States supreme court on an appeal setting out that the rendition of the verdict in the absence of the defendant was contrary to law. He could not be reached Thursday night, and therefore the effect this action on the part of Attorneys Allen and Wells would have on his appeal could not be learned. It is presumed, however, that he will continue his effort to place the matter before the supreme court. He may await the outcome of the appeal to the commission and Governor Walker in order to prevent possible complication of the case in having two movements on foot at the same time, it was intimated.

Mrs. Hughes Ill.

Meantime Mrs. Hughes is confined to her bed in the matron's ward at Fulton tower suffering from a nervous breakdown. She began to grow weaker when informed of the refusal of the George supreme court to grant a new trial.

Tuesday, she asked to be allowed to go before Governor Walker in a plea for her life, and when informed that her friends and attorneys would do that, she replied she had no friends.

"I am not afraid of death," Mrs. Hughes said. "I do not believe there is any happiness for me in this life."

Mrs. Hughes shot her mother-in-law when the elder woman, accompanied by officers, were searching her home for chattels said to have been taken by her. The search was being carried out with a warrant in the hands of police. She was tried in Fulton county superior court and sentenced to death. Judge G. H. Howard presided.

Postal Pay Bill, Passed by Senate, Goes to Coolidge

BOYKIN TO DROP TRUE BILL AGAINST LOCAL EXCHANGE

Commercial Exchange Will Remove Private Phone Booths and Bar Sending Out Orders.

The indictment charging the Atlanta Commercial exchange with violation of the Georgia law prohibiting trading in futures on margin will be quashed and the case nole prossed following an agreement made between the directors of the exchange and John Boykin, solicitor general, whereby the exchange will remove the private telephone booths of the brokers and prohibit the sending of orders out of the exchange building floor over the wires of the branch offices of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

At the instance of heads of several of the largest business and banking houses of Atlanta, a conference was arranged with Solicitor General Boykin so that the Atlanta Commercial exchange would avoid the technical violation of the Georgia statute regulating the trading in futures on margin.

Conference Is Held.

The conference was attended by Solicitor General Boykin, E. P. McBurney, chairman of the trustees and of the bondholders of the Commercial Exchange building; J. J. Williamson, chairman of the board of directors of the Atlanta Commercial exchange and Robert A. Smythe, president of the Atlanta Commercial exchange and of the Commercial Exchange building.

The solicitor general expressed the opinion that, in order to comply with the Georgia state law, it would be necessary for the brokers on the floor of the Atlanta Commercial exchange to give up the telephones leased by them from the Southern Bell Telephone company for their exclusive use which were located on the floor of the Commercial exchange, because this constituted prima face evidence of a violation of the Georgia law in the soliciting of business in futures on margin.

At the meeting of the board of directors Wednesday afternoon the report of this conference was submitted, and the board unanimously adopted a resolution that, pending a decision of the matter now before the United States supreme court as to whether the Georgia law conflicted with any of the federal laws legalizing the trading in futures, that the board call upon the brokers to immediately comply with the request of the solicitor general.

It was agreed by the solicitor general that, upon compliance by the ex-

Increase of About $300 Annually in Postal Employees' Salaries Is Provided Under Bill.

VOTE OF SENATE WAS CAST 69 TO 12

Sponsors of Measure Hopeful That President Coolidge Will Give His Approval To It.

Washington, February 26. — The postal pay and rate increase bill received final congressional approval today and now goes to the president. The conference report, practically substituting the house bill for that passed by the senate, was accepted by the senate after debate.

The measure provides for an average increase of about $300 annually in postal employees' salaries, effective as of January 1, this year, and increases postal rates, effective April 15 next, to raise about $60,000,000 of the $68,000,000 required for the pay advances.

The bill also carries as a "rider" a corrupt practices act, strictly limiting campaign expenditures of congressional candidates, as recommended by the senate campaign funds committee.

Vote Was 69 to 12.

The vote was 69 to 12, eight democrats and four republicans voting against the conference report. The republicans were: Borah, Idaho; Brookhart, Iowa; Howell, Nebraska, and Norbeck, South Dakota. The democrats were Bruce, Maryland; Dial, South Carolina; George, Georgia; Glass, Virginia; Harison, Mississippi; Pittman, Nevada; Swanson, Virginia, and Underwood, Alabama.

The salary increases are the same as carried in the measure passed at the last session and vetoed by President Coolidge. With the rate advances added, however, administration leaders are hopeful the bill will receive approval.

Opposition to the conference report today was based entirely on the rate provisions, Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, declaring the senate conferees had yielded to the higher rates in the house bill after a conference with President Coolidge. Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, one of the conferees, also told the senate the president had asserted his prerogative in insisting on some of the rate increases, mentioning particularly the 2 cents service charge on parcel post packages.

Recommend Further Revisions.

The bill is one of the first pieces of general legislation outside of the appropriation measures to be sent to the white house this session.

While no limit is placed on the rate increases, the bill provides for a joint congressional committee to conduct hearings this summer with a view to recommending further revision of these schedules at the next session.

Controversy over the rate increases centered on the second and fourth classes. In the former, the rate is made uniform on all reading matter at one and one-half cents a pound, while for advertising sections the rates are two cents a pound in the first and second zones; three cents a pound in the third zone; six cents a pound in the fourth, fifth and sixth

ROBERT C. CLOWRY, EX-WESTERN UNION CHIEF, DIES AT 86

New York, February 26.—Robert C. Clowry, 86, former president and general manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, died on a Pennsylvania train en route to New York, this afternoon, his secretary, Frank J. Scherrer, announced tonight.

Mr. Clowry was returning in a private car from Palm Beach, where he had recently contracted a heavy cold. He became seriously ill on the journey and arrangements were made to meet the train here with an ambulance to take him to his home in Tarrytown. He died while the train was running between Washington and New York, Mr. Scherrer said.

Mr. Clowry had been at Palm Beach, since late in January.

Aged Veteran Of Civil War Dies of Burns

Daughter and Granddaughter Make Vain Effort To Save Life.

J. R. Lively, 84-year-old Confederate veteran, Thursday night died of burns which he received early Thursday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Chester Fite, 311 Formwalt street. His clothes became ignited from a pocket handkerchief which caught fire as he closed the door of the little coal heater in his room.

Mr. Lively, who came from Tennessee, had been making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Fite, for the last five years. Recently he had been in a feeble condition and, in the words of Mrs. Fite, had to be nursed as closely as a child.

Mrs. Fite's daughter, Mrs. G. C. Arnwine, who is chairman of circle No. 14, of the Second Baptist church, and who lives in the house with her mother, had just returned home from a meeting of the executive board of the church, when the tragedy occurred.

She and her mother were attracted to the room by the groans of the victim, and, rushing in, they found his chair and his clothing a mass of flames. Grabbing a blanket from the

'STRIKERS' WIN THEIR POINTS AND GO HOME

ALL CONTROVERSIAL POINTS ARE SETTLED

Solons Understand They Will Not Be Arrested and That Indictment Will Be Dropped.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Indianapolis, Ind., February 26.—An agreement under which democratic members of the Indiana senate, who bolted from the general assembly, have agreed to return to their seats, has been reached and the missing legislators are expected to be present at tomorrow's session of the legislature, it was announced tonight by republican leaders. The leaders positively declined to reveal the terms of the agreement.

Lieutenant Governor Van Orman and Senator James J. Nejdl, president pro tem of the senate, when asked if the "gerrymander" bill, which was reported to have been the cause of the democratic protest, would be withdrawn, said the matter had not entered into the discussions. It was reported unofficially that the bolting democrats, for whose arrest a senate mandate has been issued, have been promised immunity from prosecution.

Considerable anxiety had been exhibited by republicans over possibility of failure of passage of the annual appropriation bill, due to a continued absence of a quorum and it was reported this may have led to concessions on their part. Non-action on the measure would leave all state institutions without operating funds.

Despite statements from the truant democrats indicating that they had been assured republicans would not press for passage the gerrymander bill, the republicans were firm in their declarations that no such understanding had been reached.

Considerable anxiety had been exhibited over possibility of failure of passage of the annual appropriation bill, due to a continued absence of a quorum and it was reported this may have led to concessions on their part. Non-action on the measure would leave all state institutions without operating funds.

Dayton, Ohio, February 26.—Indiana democratic senators won their point tonight and started a triumphant trip back to Indianapolis. They were given to understand the bill, which caused them to bolt the Indiana general assembly, will not pass. The 14 men also understood, they said, that all other controversial points in connection with the runaway would be smoothed over. This was taken to mean that they would not be arrested when they crossed the state line and that action to bring about their indictment would be dropped.

The men, who fled to Dayton yesterday afternoon, expected to reach Indianapolis about midnight. The senate is scheduled to convene at 1

SWAIN CONVICTED OF FIRST-DEGREE MURDER AT MACON

Bibb County Jury Reached Verdict With One Ballot and Was Out Only Six Minutes.

APRIL 23 DATE SET FOR ELECTROCUTION

Swain Pleaded Self-Defense and Violation of His Home by Man He Killed as Cause for Act.

Macon, Ga., February 26.—James A. Swain must pay the death penalty in the electric chair for the murder of J. Walter Johnston last December, unless a new trial is granted.

A jury in Bibb county superior court late this afternoon found Swain guilty, without recommendation of mercy. Only one ballot was taken.

Six minutes from the time the jury retired it returned with the verdict.

Judge H. A. Mathews sentenced Swain to die in the electric chair on April 23.

Swain received the verdict without emotion. One woman in the courtroom fainted.

Within an hour after verdict was returned lawyers for Swain filed a motion for a new trial. This will be heard March 28.

Killed Last December.

Swain shot and killed Johnston on the streets here last December and then drove home in a car and shot his wife in the arm and fired at his mother-in-law, Mrs. W. E. Gregory, but missed her.

Trial of the case began Monday and the statement made on the witness stand Wednesday by the defendant was the outstanding feature of the trial, which has attracted large crowds to the courtroom each day.

Charged Violation of Home.

Self-defense and violation of the sanctity of the home by Johnston were the motives that prompted Swain to shoot and kill Johnston, according to his statement. He was on the stand 45 minutes and told briefly of his life's history and about his relations with Johnston as an employee and of Johnston's alleged relations with Mrs. Swain, his wife.

He began his statement by denying his guilt. "I had to do what I did," he said. He told of alleged threats Johnston had made on his life. He said that after Johnston was employed by him, he began to miss tools which he charged Johnston misplaced. He also stated that Johnston overcharged persons who rented cars from him while he (Swain) was operating a car rental agency here. Swain also said that he had on several occasions seen Johnston in company with his wife.

"If it hadn't been for Johnston, she and I would have been happy today," said Swain during the course of his statement referring to his wife's separation from him.

Justifiable Homicide Plea.

Both sides rested about 7 o'clock last night, when argument began. R. I. Stevens, defense counsel, opened, and plead justifiable homicide. The court then recessed until today, when argument was resumed.

W. O. Cooper, leading counsel for Swain, spoke for two hours, and reviewed at length the points of self-defense plead by Swain. Solicitor Charles H. Garrett represented the state. The case was given to the jury late this afternoon following the charge of Judge H. A. Mathews, in whose court the case was tried.

Abby Rockefeller Must Do Part of Work After Wedding

:: HEIRESS WILL NOT HAVE AUTOMOBILE, EITHER ::

New York, February 26.—When Abby Rockefeller, the nation's richest heiress, marries her childhood sweetheart, David M. Milton, Jr., an American boy who works for a living, she will do part of her own housework, live within her husband's income as a lawyer and will not have an automobile.

And furthermore, said her father, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., through a representative today, Abby will be well qualified to live as the wife of a comparatively poor man, because she has been taught, with her brothers, the value of money.

The statement revealed that the grandchildren of the world's richest man have been provided with a graduated and modest income from which they have, in late years, paid all of their expenses except for subsistence, education and medical aid, and that they have been held to an accounting of the money by their father, who rewarded or penalized them for accuracy and wisdom in its use.

At the age of 8, Abby received 30 cents a week, 10 cents of which went to the weekly church collection, 10 cents to a savings account, which left the world's richest youngster 10 cents to squander. A few years later, she received a whole dollar to be responsible for. None of the children ever had more than two "bucks" a week to account for.

"Although I have no intention of giving my children great amounts of money to spend in any passing mood, I do not mean that they will be cramped for funds for any worthy enterprise," Mr. Rockefeller said through his spokesman.

SHOALS MANAGERS CLINGING TO HOPE OF BREAKING JAM

Second Conference Report Reported to Both Houses — Opposition to Bill Is Jubilant.

Washington, February 26.—With their backs to the wall, managers of the Underwood Muscle Shoals leasing bill are clinging to a dimming ray of hope that some break will come in the legislative jam in the senate to permit action on the conference report.

The opposing camp is jubilant, its leaders freely declaring that the report hasn't a chance of adoption at this session and that when the point of order was sustained against the first conference report, it meant the death of the Underwood bill.

Yielding to the contentions of the supporters of the point of order, the conferees today reported out a measure that virtually is identical with the Underwood bill as it passed the senate.

Will Call Up Report.

The second report formally was presented to both the senate and house late today, and its sponsors in both chambers announced they would call it up at the earliest opportunity.

Action first must be taken by the senate and progress in this chamber will depend upon the attitude of the Underwood bill opponents. Both sides admit that a filibuster could kill the measure, but managers of the report claim the opposition cannot be continued consistently, as they have yielded to their objections.

The latest conference report is the same as the senate bill, except that it creates a farm board to supervise the production and sale of fertilizer, increases the fertilizer profit from 1 to 8 per cent, excludes the cost of the locks on dam No. 2, on which the rental would be based, provides for the lease of the property as a whole,

DENEEN IS NAMED TO FILL OUT TERM OF DEAD SENATOR

Senator-elect From Illinois To Serve Few Days Left of Senator McCormick's Term.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Chicago, February 26.—Governor Len Small tonight announced the appointment of Senator-elect Charles S. Deneen to fill the vacancy in the United States senate caused by the death of Senator Medill McCormick.

Senator-elect Deneen will fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator McCormick until next Tuesday, when he would have taken the place made vacant by Senator McCormick's retirement. Mr. Deneen is ill with a cold here, and when informed of the appointment tonight, said that he had made no arrangements for going to Washington, and that he would not go until after the funeral services here tomorrow for Senator McCormick.

Governor Small said tonight that he had a message from Senator Curtis asking that an appointment be made at once so that Illinois might be represented by two votes in the senate. He said that he had conferred with Senator-elect Deneen late today and that Mr. Deneen probably will leave for Washington tomorrow afternoon following funeral services for Senator McCormick.

M'CORMICK FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY.

Chicago, February 26.—Arrangements for the funeral tomorrow of Senator Medill McCormick were completed today while political leaders speculated on his successor.

The services will be conducted from the Fourth Presbyterian church, to which the body will be taken on arrival from from Washington.

COMMITTEE ASKED TO PASS ON WORK DONE BY BORGLUM

GUTZON BORGLUM NOT YET LOCATED

U. D. C. Claims Gift of Mountain Side — Association Names Committee To Employ Sculptor.

While authorities of several southern states Thursday vainly sought trace of Gutzon Borglum, deposed sculptor of the gigantic memorial to the heroes of the south, and his superintendent, Captain Jesse C. Tucker, both of whom disappeared Wednesday after Borglum had wrecked the models of the project, developments in the Stone Mountain Monumental association controversy were numerous and important in their bearing.

Chief of these was a demand from the forces of United Daughters of the Confederacy of Georgia that they be given a voice in the administration of affairs of the memorial association and that the points at issue between Borglum and the organization be submitted to a board of expert arbiters.

Ask Board of Judges.

Atlanta chapter of U. D. C. Thursday passed resolutions formally requesting the association to approve appointment of a board of three nationally-known sculptors and a layman to examine the work done by Borglum and settle the mooted question as to whether the work measured up to requirements and specifications of the contract between the sculptor and the association.

At the same time, the chapter—which has led the way for many years past in fostering the ideal of the world's greatest monument in stone—asked for a comprehensive audit of the books of the association and an itemized account of all expenditures in the offices.

In addition, the Atlanta chapter, by indorsing the letter, drew attention to the fact that Mrs. Walter Grace, of Macon, president of the Georgia division of the U. D. C., and Mrs. John A. Perdue, president of the local chapter, had written to the memorial association asking that the state U. D. C. and the Atlanta chapter be given a voice in the affairs of the association. This letter is in addition to the one written by Mrs. Grace asking for arbitration of the difficulties between the sculptor and the association.

Advised of the passage of the resolutions and the forwarding of the letters mentioned above, the publicity department of the memorial association Thursday night stated that a formal, carefully-considered reply probably would be forthcoming today.

Two members of the Venable family, Samuel Hoyt Venable and Mrs. Coribel Venable Orme, issued a state-

Leaning Tower of Pisa Adds Few Inches More to Its Slant

:: AMERICAN ENGINEERS ASKED FOR ADVICE ::

BY FRANCISCO REA.

Rome, February 26.—After 771 years of giddy leaning, exactly 10 feet out of plumb, the famous tower of Pisa has added a few inches to its slant. Unless remedial measures are adopted soon, the remarkable old pile will finally stretch its 188 feet of length lengthwise with a sudden crash.

The problem of succoring the tower is too much for European engineering technique, so Italy plans to send to the United States for engineers to move the mediaeval monument to a safer foundation in another corner of the square it has overlooked for nearly 10 centuries.

Subterranean streams have weakened the tower's site. When it was built in 1154, the ancient architect envisaged a sturdy, upright tower which would carry his fame to posterity. Even as the workmen placed the stones of the round tower body, the tower began to lean. Before the thing was completed the uppermost cornice jutted out of perpendicular. Some slight alterations were made and the structure achieved fame through the centuries as the leaning tower of Pisa.

Because the tower rests upon the surface of the ground, it is believed that it easily could be lifted and removed to a spot where bed-rock would assure against another tardy subsidence. The structure could retain its unnatural slat on its new site.

There is no immediate danger of collapse, according to the Italian engineers who discovered that the slant had increased. Tests probably will be made of the subsoil in various sections of the spacious square, and a convenient and safe spot selected.

European engineers are rarely called upon to deal with buildings that cannot be scaled with ladders. Business houses and residences are not high. Therefore, American experience will be welcome when Italy decides upon the time and place of removal of the Tower of Pisa.

The tower is commonly thought of as one of the seven wonders of the world, but this is not the case. The seven wonders were ancient structures, whereas the tower dates from the middle ages.

Patient Dies After Months Spent in Tub

Soldier Kept in Watery Bed 120 Days Because of Pain From Sore.

El Paso, Texas, February 26.—John Porter, 22, confined for the past four months to a bath tub filled with water, because he could not lay in any other position due to pain from bed sores, died today at William Beaumont hospital on the military reservation.

Porter's case attracted nation-wide attention. He was known as the "bath tub patient" in the big hospital, because he was forced to live night and day in a bath tub. The water always was kept warm and conditions were made as comfortable as possible for Porter.

He received thousands of letters from persons all over the United States, sympathizing with him. One sent a large radio set and another a recipe for delicacies which were prepared by the hospital staff.

Porter was injured one year ago at Fort Bliss while in camp with the New Mexico national guardsmen. He fell backward over a bale of hay and injured his spine. Kept in bed as a result of the injury, he developed bed sores. Various forms of relief were tried before the bath tub idea was hit upon.

14-YEAR-OLD BOY KILLED BY AUTO

Driver of Machine Is Now Being Sought by Police. Four Other Persons Are Injured Thursday.

Struck down by an automobile occupied by two men who appeared to be intoxicated, Ralph Elliott, 14-year-old Boy Scout, who lived on College street, in Hills Park, died at Grady hospital Thursday night, three hours after the accident.

The accident, which occurred near the store of Nolen & Richardson, in Hills Park, was witnessed by two motorists and several pedestrians.

One witness of the accident, J. D. Morris, of 49 Euclid terrace, picked the unconscious lad up and rushed him to the hospital in his own car.

In addition to a fractured skull, the boy received two broken limbs—his left leg and his left arm.

On his arrival at the Grady hospital Morris immediately got in touch with both the city and county police, and asked that a vigilant search be made for the driver of the machine that injured the youth.

"I have been told that, after striking the boy down, the men went about a half-mile, when they turned around and started back. They also knocked down a group of rural mail boxes, I have been told.

"The driver evidently could not

Concerted Action Is Urged By Black To "Give Atlanta Rightful Chance To Grow"

Prominent Atlantan Tells City Club "We Must Have Orderly Plan for Traffic."

Eugene R. Black, president of the Atlanta Trust company, speaking Thursday before the City club, urged the people of Atlanta to rise in "concerted action in efforts to do something" and by some orderly plan "give Atlanta her rightful chance to grow into a greater city."

Mr. Black spoke on the subject of "What's Best for Atlanta?" He answered the question by advocating the carrying into effect of the Beeler plan which he characterized as a plan that "says nothing that is not absolutely feasible and practical, and nothing that does not build for a greater Atlanta."

"We must have," he declared, "an orderly plan for traffic, both automobiles and street cars. We must see that the street car company grows so the community can grow. We have a chance now to build Atlanta to a greater city. We must relieve the very heart of Atlanta from throttling and suffocation."

Low Bonded Indebtedness.

"It does not necessarily mean," Mr. Black said in advocating the utilization of Atlanta's credit, "that there will have to be taxes for the improvements. Atlanta has a very low bonded indebtedness. Let our grandchildren pay their part."

"We live in a city," said Mr. Black, "which we claim is wonderful. Its past is replete with big things. We claim that the spirit of our people has builded Atlanta. Are we as ready today to do for Atlanta as were the Atlantans of yesterday?

"For my part I have never lost faith in Atlanta. In the past we have shown we could do big things for our city. The Community Chest drive soon after the war proved this. We have an opportunity to do something big now.

"We have here a city whose streets followed Indian trails. In a city of a quarter of a million people we are trying to get present-day traffic through Indian lanes.

Need Concerted Action.

"What we need is some concerted action in efforts to accomplish something. These civic clubs are doing good, but there is a lot of latent talent. We must all consider what's best for Atlanta."

"Automobiles," continued Mr. Black, "have rights on roads and streets, but no right to monopolize the streets. Downtown they are standing before the stores and merchants are simply paying rentals for automobiles that occupy their space that ought to be open so people can get to and from the stores.

"Everybody has a right to use the streets equally and no one more than his proper proportion. The automobile is here to stay, but it has no right to monopolize the streets and interfere with business. We must regulate the automobiles if we keep the chanels of business open.

Grows Along Car Tracks.

"The street car remains the poor man's method of transportation. I don't now, never have, and never expect to own a dollar of stock in the street car company. But I know that a city grows right along the street car tracks, the way they run, and it can't grow any other way. There has not been a subdivision yet built that has not been dependent on some means of getting back to the center of the city.

"If you want what is best for Atlanta you must regulate traffic so that the medium, people depend on for transportation, can live."

Mr. Black spoke of the petition the street railway company filed with city council, characterizing it as a "remarkable thing, saying here's what we think ought to be done and what we propose, but we are wedded to no plan and are ready for anybody to propose a better one."

Praise for Beeler.

The special transit committee of council called in famous engineers, Mr. Black pointed out, just as a man would call a doctor or a lawyer for advice. The speaker told of the reputation of James A. Beeler as a traffic engineer, widely recognized as one of the foremost.

"This engineer's report to the city," he went on, "says nothing that is not absolutely feasible, practical and that does not build for a bigger Atlanta. It tells a lot of things we already knew were bad and ought to be eliminated, so let's eliminate them."

Mr. Black stressed the need of viaducts, of new traffic thoroughfares, of street extensions, or removal of certain street car lines as recommended by Mr. Beeler.

"The proposed plan," he concluded, "would relieve the very heart of Atlanta from throttling and suffocation. This ought to be done. Atlanta has a right to a chance to grow into a greater city. Let's have an orderly plan for traffic. Let's take this change to build Atlanta to a bigger city."

Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway & Power company, was erroneously quoted in The Constitution Thursday as saying "the Beeler plan is a product of the power company." Mr. Arkwright, in addressing the Atlanta Automobile association Wednesday night, said his company paid for the survey, but the engineers were employed at the instance of city council, and the power company had nothing more to do with the matter.

Mr. Arkwright Thursday called attention to this error and asked The Constitution to make it plain that the work of the engineers was done for the city and not for the power company.

BOYKIN TO DROP EXCHANGE TRUE BILL

change with this request that he would dismiss the indictment and nol prosse the case against the Commercial exchange. The solicitor general ruled that any member of the exchange could send any telegrams or telephone calls for the trading in futures provided that the messages were sent in the name of the member of the exchange for his own account, the reply to be received in his own name, and any money transactions to be direct between the member and the firm with whom he was dealing. The solicitor further ruled that the exchange could contract for any number of pay-station telephones for the use of the members generally, provided the contracts for these phones were in the name of the exchange and the exchange paid all tolls and rental charges and made no charge on the members directly for same.

This action increases the premium upon membership in the exchange because the exchange can furnish every facility, even to the extent of including a stenographer to write out the telegrams, provided only that they are in compliance with the ruling as to only members using these facilities with outside firms direct and not through a third party. In case a reply came back to any member who had sent a message but in the meanwhile left the floor, the exchange could either through the mails or by one of its clerks deliver the answer, in an envelope of the exchange, to the member.

Exchange Not Interested.

If any of those who are not members of the exchange have their own phones outside of the exchange and transact business in this manner, this is a matter entirely between that individual and the solicitor general, the exchange not being in any way concerned, but this mode of transacting business is taken care of by the supersedeas now in force prohibiting the solicitor general from proceeding against any broker until the supreme court has passed on the appeal as to the question of the legality of the Georgia law where the trading is in a government approved contract on the New York or New Orleans cotton exchange, by which the delivery or receipt of the actual commodity is contemplated or contracted for.

The Atlanta Commercial exchange as an organization was indicted several months ago, along with more than a hundred brokers in this city, all charged with violating the law prohibiting trading in futures on margin. The brokers irrespective of the exchange formed a committee and with the four branch wire houses in the city placed their case in the hands of Judge Powell and former Governor Thomas Hardwick. An injunction was applied for and refused by a tribunal of federal judges, who just a short time later granted a writ of supersedeas staying Mr. Boykin from any prosecution until the case could be heard by the United States supreme court.

The Atlanta Commercial exchange was not represented in the litigation and was not protected as an organization by the federal writ.

STRIKING SOLONS WIN THEIR POINTS

o'clock in the morning, at which time every member of the party here will be in his seat, it was said.

Repeated telephone conversations with republican senate leaders and state officials brought peace, it was understood. Harold Van Orman, lieutenant governor and president of the senate, and Attorney General Gilliam talked to several members of the self-exiled senators here.

The senators started back to Indianapolis in the same motorbus they chartered to come to Dayton. They all were happy that an apparently satisfactory settlement had been reached.

Probably the happiest man in Dayton today was Jerome Brown, who came here last night to arrest the senators and take them back to Indiana. James Nejdl, president pro tem of the senate, ordered him to return home.

Somewhat unwell, the 63-year-old man who rose in an hour from a senate doorkeeper to an official charged with apprehending 14 men, made no secret of his pleasure in going back to Indianapolis.

Mr. Brown went through the formality of reading the warrant to each self-exiled senator. He admitted bewilderment when the senators challenged his authority. The runaways treated him with every courtesy.

The hotel barber shop did a thriving business, for not an erstwhile lawmaker stopped long enough in his flight to get his razor. There was not a satchel in the crowd. Each senator's regalia consisted of what he had on his back.

AGED WAR VETERAN DIES OF BURNS

bed Mrs. Arnwine tried to smother the blaze while her mother fought the fire frantically with water.

When the aged man arrived at Grady hospital doctors stated his life was just a matter of hours. He died just before 6 o'clock Thursday night.

Funeral services will be held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. Rev. Carter Helm Jones officiating. The body will be taken Saturday morning to Resaca for interment.

Was Out of Room.

Mrs. Fite had been out of Mr. Lively's room less than 15 minutes when his clothing, and the bathrobes on the back of his chair, caught fire.

"He was so feeble that either my daughter, Mrs. Arnwine, or myself stayed constantly in his room to assist him about. Although burned all over his body, father talked with me while we awaited the arrival of the ambulance and said that his handkerchief caught fire as he leaned forward to push the door of his heater shut. Two bathrobes were on his chair—one on the back and the other on the arms," Mrs. Fite said.

PAY AND RATE BILL PASSES SENATE

zones, and nine cents a pound on the seventh and eighth zones.

In the fourth class, a service charge of two cents a pound on all parcel-post packages is established, with the present basic rates unchanged. A "special handling" service also is created with a charge of 25 cents a package.

Private Card Rate Advanced.

In the first-class, the rate on private mailing cards and souvenir cards is advanced from one to two cents. In the third class, the rate is increased from one to one and one-half cents for each two ounces. All matter under eight ounces must be sent in this class, and all over that amount in the fourth class.

Increases recommended by the post-office department for money orders, registered mail, insurance, collect-on-delivery and special delivery services were retained in the bill without change.

The corrupt practices act limits the expenses of candidates for the senate to $10,000 and of candidates for the house to $2,500, unless state laws provide a lower maximum. As an alternative, an amount equal to that obtained by multiplying the total number of votes cast at the last general election for all candidates for an office by three cents may be spent up to $25,000 for a senate candidate and $5,000 for a candidate to the house. The act also provides for maintenance of record of all gifts and expenditures and for fines of $10,000 and imprisonment for two years for violations.

Representative Madden, republican, Illinois, today obtained house approval for an amendment to the deficiency appropriation bill, which would authorize payment of the retroactive salary raises of postal employees, provided the pay and rate measure becomes a law. This, Mr. Madden explained, would take $34,000,000 out of the 1926 postoffice department appropriation and the resulting deficiency would be made up in the next congress.

VETERANS APPROVE AIR FIELD PROJECT

Unanimous indorsement of the landing field project for Atlanta and a pledge of support to the Atlanta chapter of the Aeronautical association, which is backing the movement, featured a meeting Thursday night of Greater Atlanta post, No. 390, Veterans of Foreign Wars. S. J. Arnold presided.

A communication was read from J. D. Billman, national historian, declaring that officials at national headquarters were communicating with members of the Stone Mountain association with a view to obtaining two memorial coins for the national museum in Kansas City, Mo.

The Atlanta post pledged its support to the Stone Mountain project and also agreed to assist in every possible way in pushing organization work of the Boy Scout movement in Atlanta.

Charles A. Moran was elected adjutant of the Atlanta post.

Jail Term Asked To Save His Son From Rum Evil

"I want you to send my boy to jail for a year and see if that won't break him of this bootleg liquor habit."

That's the pathetic plea a prominent citizen of Atlanta made to Fred Dismuke, director of prohibition enforcement, Thursday.

The man was sincere in his request but unless some charge of breaking a federal law is placed against the young man and he is regularly convicted he cannot be sent to prison, Mr. Dismuke declared.

"My boy is 30 years old and before this poison liquor got him in its grip he was a steady worker," the man told the official. "But he has been going from bad to worse, the more he drinks the more he has to have and the situation is just unbearable."

Mrs. Dismuke said he hears many tales of the deadly work of bootleg liquor but said this request was one of the most pathetic ever made to him.

"On several occasions the man has had his own son arrested in an effort to get him straightened out but these methods have not stopped him. He has sent the young man to a sanitarium but after he was out he began drinking again. The man thinks that a year in prison would cure the son but there is no way of sending him there unless he commits some crime," Mr. Dismuke said.

PONZI FOUND GUILTY ON LARCENY CHARGE

Boston, Mass., February 26.—A verdict of guilty was returned in Suffolk county superior court today by a jury trying Charles Ponzi, former international postal return coupon financier, on charges of larceny from clients. Judge Sisk increased Ponzi's bail from $2,000 to $10,000 and gave him until tomorrow to file a motion for arrest of judgment.

The jury found Ponzi guilty of 14 counts of the four indictments against him which covered an aggregate of $9,500. The complainants were persons who, in 1920, invested in Ponzi's enterprise which guaarnteed fabulous returns. Evidence at the trial showed that the former financial "wizard" had taken in millions from investors.

Ponzi pleaded guilty in 1920 to fraudulent use of the mails and was sentenced in federal court to a term in Plymouth jail. He has now been tried in the state courts three times on indictments arising from his financial operations. At his first trial he was acquitted while the second resulted in a disagreement.

ATLANTA STAGE STAR BACK HOME ON SHORT VISIT

Mrs. Percy Moore, or in her professional life on the stage, Helen Stewart, an Atlanta girl who has won unquestioned success on the stage, is now in Atlanta on a two weeks' visit with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Word, of Piedmont road.

Miss Stewart's first theatrical engagement was with Margaret Anglin in repertoire. She has played with Maude Fulton in Chicago, with Tom Wise in "Cappy Ricks," with Alan Pollock in "The Pinch Hitter," and in many other new York successes. She has had remarkable success in stock and comes to Atlanta from Dallas, Texas, where she played for a season as leading woman in stock at the Circle theater. Her last role there was that of Craire Jewett in "The Fool."

Miss Stewart married Percy Moore, who is himself an actor of note. He had a leading part in "The Cat and the Canary" during its record-breaking New York run. She attended Calhoun and Girls' High schools in Atlanta. Following her brief vacation here she goes to New York to accept an engagement in a forthcoming important production there.

Mr. Steedman was prominent in Atlanta business circles for years, and was an active church worker. He was a member of the West End Baptist church.

He is survived by his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Edward Willingham Smith; a grandson, E. W. Smith, Jr., and a brother, A. H. Steedman, all of Atlanta.

BIG KITE CONTEST TO BE CONDUCTED AT PIEDMONT PARK

Boy members of the Junior Red Cross have been busy for several weeks working on kites. The object of this special activity is two-fold—first of all it will determine which one will fly highest and then it will provide a number of kites for boys in Atlanta institutions who may not be able to make their own.

All contestants will be given trials at Piedmont Park at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Every boy who wishes to enter the contest must be on hand with kite ready for the trial test.

Members of the colored section of the Junior Red Cross also will have a kite contest at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon on the grounds of the Atlanta university.

Shepherd, Mrs. McClintock Had Financial Difficulties, Evidence at Inquest Reveals Finger of Suspicion Points More Strongly at Man, Chief Beneficiary of Millionaire Orphan.

Chicago, December 26.—Evidence that financial difficulties existed between Mrs. McClintock, mother of William Nelson McClintock, millionaire orphan, whose death is being investigated, and William D. Shepherd, later foster-father of young McClintock, and chief beneficiary under his will, shortly before Mrs. McClintock's death was given before the coroner's jury here today.

Other high lights in the hearing today were expert testimony by a medical professor to the effect that typhoid germs are more easily obtainable than a pistol, and an attempt by Harry Olson, chief justice of the municipal court, who has been virtually director of the inquiry, to show that Shepherd had no means of making money and that he and Mrs. Shepherd lived with "Billy" McClintock rather than that the orphan lived with them.

Jerome Matillo, of Indianapolis, testified that he superintended the building of a house for Mrs. McClintock at Galveston, Texas, in 1909, and that Shepherd was handling the financial matters connected with the construction. Shepherd's brother, he said, was a foreman on the job. Shepherd, Matillo said, was sparing about paying out money for workmen and materials. Matillo also said Mrs. McClintock was displeased by a debt for $500 contracted by Shepherd at that time.

Matillo said some time later Mrs. McClintock complained of feeling ill and decided to go north to some mineral baths. She refused Shepherd's offer to accompany her, the witness stated. A week later, he said, she was dead.

Recalls Conversation.

Matillo recalled an alleged conversation between Shepherd and his brother, who was a foreman on the job in Texas. He said one day he heard the brother call out: "Say, Bill, how much do you expect to get out of this?" Shepherd answered, he said, "Never mind. Little Willy isn't going to miss anything."

William Goyette, an old schoolmate of Mrs. McClintock, Billy's mother, testified that he had seen her after she was dead, and that her face was so swollen "that it did not look like her at all." Her skin was dark, he said, and told of telling Dr. Oscar Olson, who was present at the time, but who had not been called in to attend Mrs. McClintock, that "a post-mortem should be held." Dr. Olson replied: "Sh-h——sh-h—don't mention it around here. Too much money is involved."

State's Attorney Asks Why.

Goyette stated that State's Attorney Lundgren was present at the time and asked why he had said such a thing. Goyette said he told him he thought it was funny that Dr. Olson had not been called in to attend Mrs. McClintock' because she had always told him that she felt that she responded to his treatment readily and always felt safe when he prescribed for her.

Olson said today he expected to finish the testimony in the case tomorrow.

2 ALLEGED BURGLARS HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Arraigned in recorder's court Thursday morning under a charge of having burglarized the store of the Rosenfeld company, 102 Madison avenue, several nights ago, at which time the safe was broken open and robbed, Thomas J. Brown, negro, of 61 East Cain street, was held to the grand jury in default of a $5,000 bond.

Brown, a former employee of the Rosenfeld company, made a full confession, according to Captain A. J. Holcombe, in charge of the plain-clothes department, who has personally prosecuted the investigation with Detectives B. P. Gillespie and J. J. Cowan.

Officers Cowan and Gillespie obtained their first clue Tuesday night, working overtime in an effort to apprehend the negro. Wednesday they recovered some of the articles taken from the safe, including a picture of Mrs. Rosenfeld. The negro was arrested Wednesday night.

Another alleged burglar to be tried in police court Thursday morning was a soldier, J. A. Barnes, 31, stationed at Fort McPherson. He was held to the grand jury in default of a $2,000 bond.

Barnes was apprehended through the vigilance of Patrolmen. W. L. Smith and J. A. Bailey, elected at the last meeting of the police committee and assigned to duty in plain-clothes. He was accused of having burglarized the Benjamin's pharmacy, at West Mitchell and Broad streets.

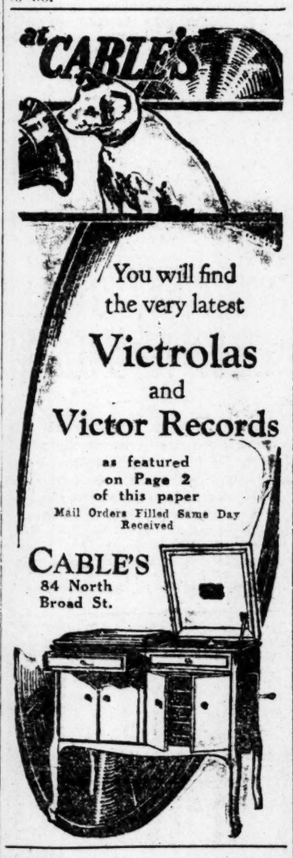

Captain A. J. Holcombe and Lieutenant T. O. Sturdivant, who have been personally investigating several recent robberies of automobile accessory stations, Thursday jailed a negro giving his name as Frank Taylor, and his address as 91 Haygood avenue. The negro is held under a charge of suspicion until his movements for the past several weeks can be traced.

The homes were invaded by robbers sometime before dawn Thursday, the thieves taking a gold watch at each place, besides some money and two checks.

The residences entered are as follows: L. A. Spiegel, 1020 Piedmont avenue; R. E. Johnson, 288 Williams street, and C. H. Watts, 105 Capitol square. Each lost a gold watch, Spiegel also losing $7.85 in money, and two checks aggregating $40.

CHILD LABOR BILL LOST IN MINNESOTA HOUSE

St. Paul, Minn., February 26.—The Minnesota house of representatives, after a debate lasting four hours today, rejected the child labor amendment to the federal constitution, 68 to 56.

Old-Time Remedy Best for Heavy Coughs

Stubborn, racking, deep-seated coughs that refuse to yield to other remedies are often checked overnight with the old-time cough medicine that our parents and grandparents "swore by." In spite of modern discoveries nothing has been found to replace good old Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey for giving quick, sure relief for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and other throat irritations. Doctors say that the pine tar quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, while the honey not only gives a pleasant taste, but helps soothe irritation.

But be sure you get the original Dr. Bell's and no other. There have been dozens of imitations, but the original is still the best. It often stops the worst cough in 24 hours. Contains no injurious drugs, so can be given even to young children. Insist on Dr. Bell's. Only 30c at any good druggist's.

REVENUE MEN AIDING INCOME TAX PAYERS

Thirty deputy collectors of internal revenue are covering the state of Georgia on regular schedule in the principal towns and cities of the state and are ready to assist taxpayers in preparing their income tax returns, Collector of Internal Revenue J. T. Rose announced Thursday.

Taxpayers are urged to consult these deputies in order that they take advantage of the deductions and credits allowed to them under the new 1924 revenue law.

"Hundreds of taxpayers are neglecting or failing to deduct the 25 per cent credit allowed on earned income," said Mr. Rose. "Most taxpayers are entitled to this credit and if they fail to take it and it should be overlooked in the audit of the returns in my office, they will have paid more tax than they should. It probably will be caught in the audit but this makes additional work for the revenue office and these returns must be returned to the taxpayers or refund check sent to them after the returns are audited.

"I am having a great many requests for extension of time beyond March 15 in which to file returns. In previous years collectors have had the right to grant extensions under certain conditions but under the new tax law, no provision is made for collectors to grant extensions and taxpayers, who want extensions must make the request direct to the commissioner of internal revenue at Washington, D. C., who, under the law is the only one who can grant extensions. If you must have an extension, write direct to the commissioner, telling him why you must have the extension. It only delays matters for you to write the letter to the collector's office for I am powerless to grant extensions.

"Do not forget that March 15 is the last day for filing returns. The tax law has been much changed from previous years. If you will come to the collector's office now, instead of waiting until the last few days before the filing period ends, deputy collectors will be able to assist you in making out your returns in conformity with the present law and probably save you money. In general, all single persons with incomes of over $1,000, or married persons with incomes of over $2,500, all corporations, all partnerships, and all fiduciaries must file tax returns. Personal exemptions in many cases make it unnecessary to pay tax but these personal exemptions in no way enter into whether or not returns are to be filed. The amount of income is the determining factor in whether or not a taxpayer must file a return. A great many people are penalized and some were prosecuted last year and in previous years for not filing returns. In most of these cases the taxpayers did not owe any tax and thought that because their personal exemptions were such that they would not have to pay any tax, they were relieved from filing returns, but this is not the case. If you are in doubt about whether you need to file a return, call at the collector's office or telephone Walnut 5844."

WAHABI TRIBES SLAY 1,000 NEAR AMMAN

Damascus, February 26.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—One thousand inhabitants of Transjordania were killed and many were wounded when taken by surprise by forces of 10,000 Wahabi tribesmen who crossed the border of Transjordania and started a march toward Amman, says an announcement made today by Sultan Ibn Saoud's political representative here.

The Transjordanians, unprepared for defense, fled in panic under the assault of the Wahabis, led by Emir Abdul Aziz, the announcement adds.

It is stated that the purpose of the Wahabis' march toward Amman is to expel Emir Abdullah, the ruler of Transjordania, as this is part of the Wahabis' plan to dethrone the Hashimite family in the Arab countries.

OSBORNE C. WOOD DECLINES TO SEE NEWSPAPER MEN

Barcelona, February 26.—Lieutenant Osborne C. Wood is sulking in his hotel. He refuses to see reporters and takes his meals in his room to escape the questions a bevy of writers would like to put. Even conversation with hotel employees is distasteful to him.

Wood has inquired about passage aboard a mail airplane to Almeria in southern Spain. It is believed that Wood intends to embark from a Spanish port, presumably for the United States.

Paris, February 26.—Friends in Paris of Osborne C. Wood today expressed the belief that Wood would make good all his obligations to them. They said they were confident that Mr. Wood would receive funds about March 1 and that they would be reimbursed in due course of time.

The Paris hotel at which Mr. Wood stayed prior to his trip to Spain is not contemplating any action against him.

"We never yet have brought charges against any guest for a bill due," said the manager today. "We refuse to state whether or not Mr. Wood's bill has been paid or whether his luggage is being held," he added.

The artist colony of Montparnasse, where Mr. Wood has many acquaintances, has received no information regarding his movements.

OHIO HOUSE PASSES BIBLE READING BILL

Columbus, Ohio, February 26.—A bill making Bible reading compulsory in the Ohio public schools was passed late Thursday in the house of representatives after a long and bitter fight between leaders of the house and Ku Klux Klan members. The Klan waged a concerted campaign for the measure.

The vote was 80 to 40. The bill now goes to the senate.

CABINET WORKS LOSES PLANT IN MACON FIRE

Macon, Ga., February 26.—One of the biggest losers in this morning's fire which originated in the Southern Box & Basket company, wasn't discovered till today. It was the Macon Cabinet Works, owned by Carl and Adolph Dohn.

The complete plant was wiped out, it developed today, that firm's loss being estimated at $20,000. This makes the total fire damage approximately $50,000. The damage to the basket company's plant is estimated at $30,000.

Mother Coming To Aid Her Son In Fortune Fight

Arrival today of Mrs. Charles Leuchtenberg, of Detroit, Mich., mother of Frank Deans, who is contesting the will of the late Robert E. Deans, wealthy Atlantan, who left part of his large estate to Miss Reba Lawrence, Atlanta beauty, is expected to aid materially in completion of evidence which will be used in an effort to break the will, Horace Russell, attorney for the plaintiff, announced Thursday.

Other cases on the court calendar will force calling of the Deans case to go over until March 6 before a definite date for the hearing can be set, it is stated. This, Mr. Russell said, will give him time to go to Darlington, S. C., where Mrs. Leuchtenberg declares she lived prior to her marriage to Robert Deans in August of 1904. She declares Frank Deans was born December 26, 1905.

A trip will be made to Troy, Ala., where the Deans lived after the marriage, Mr. Russell said. Mrs. Leuchtenberg claims she and Robert Deans were divorced in 1914, after separating in 1910.

Virlyn Moore, attorney for Miss Lawrence, announced that his client would fight the attempt to break the will, stating that no stress was brought to bear on Deans when he signed the document on December 25, 1924.

Mrs. Leuchtenberg was Miss Frances Kerrington, of Darlington, S. C., before her marriage to Deans, she claims. Young Deans will come to Atlanta for the trial. He now is a student at the University of Michigan. Mr. Russell states his client will be able to show conclusive proof that young Deans is the son of Robert Deans and is his only legal heir.

PRESIDENT EBERT SOMEWHAT BETTER DOCTORS DECLARE

CHURCH LEADER URGES CHILD LABOR STATUTE

Chicago, February 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—Bishop W. O. Shepard, of Portland, Ore., has issued a statement in support of the child labor amendment. The statement, as made public by Methodist Episcopal headquarters, follows:

"The Methodist Episcopal church has declared that an industry which cannot pay a just wage to its employees has no right to live. Any business ought to die if it can only live by exploiting children.

"The same arguments which have been made against the prohibition amendment are being made against the child labor amendment, and in general the same people who are resisting the enforcement of the one are opposing the adoption of the other.

"The amendment when adopted will give to the federal congress no right or authority which the state may not itself use. Only when a state fails to legislate properly could the federal law operate.

"Methodism everywhere should use every personal and political influence for the adoption of the proposed twentieth amendment. The amendment has to do with high physical, moral, educational and spiritual interests of all American children, and church people are therefore under bounden duty to do their best for its adoption."

Irwin for Rear Admiral.

Washington, February 26.—Captain Noble E. Irwin, now naval commandant in the Canal Zone, was nominated by President Coolidge today to be a rear admiral.

"So you are going to send your boy Josh to college?" "I am, answered Farmer Corntossel. "He needs discipline. He's too big for me to whale, so I'm going to send him where he can get hazed."—Washington Star.

Fifteen Students of the Southern Business College Go to Splendid Positions With Important Firms

Many New Pupils Are Enrolling for the Spring Term.

Fifteen more students of the Southern Shorthand and Business University have just gone out from the school to responsible positions with leading firms and corporations in Atlanta as stenographers, bookkeepers and secretaries.

Miss Lucile Clements goes with the State Life Insurance Company; Miss Georgia Finney with Manning & Son; Miss Bernice Reed with the Reed Oil Corporation; Miss Nora Miller with Southern Bell Telephone Company; Miss Louise Johnstone with Southern Bell Telephone Company; Miss Ruby Crowder with Southern Bell Telephone Company; J. L. Mayson with Empire Trust Company; Miss Virginia Conroy with McRoberts Drug Company; Miss Lucile Baughm with National Clothing Company; Miss Margaret Nutting with T. B. Keith Company; Mrs. Vallie Plumb with State Life Insurance Company; Robert Dorris with Southern Leather Company; Miss Clyde Gravitt with Baxter Plumbing Company; Miss Lucile Cawthorn with law firm in Hurt Building; Miss Hinda Roberts with law firm in Fourth National Bank Building.

Any business that shows results grows.

The Southern Business College, in its superbly equipped new home at 56 Whitehall, has the largest enrollment now in its history and new pupils are entering every day. A young man in North Carolina writes: "I have heard much about the Southern Business College and I am planning to attend it. Send me a catalog at once." Every mail is bringing similar letters from all parts of the country.

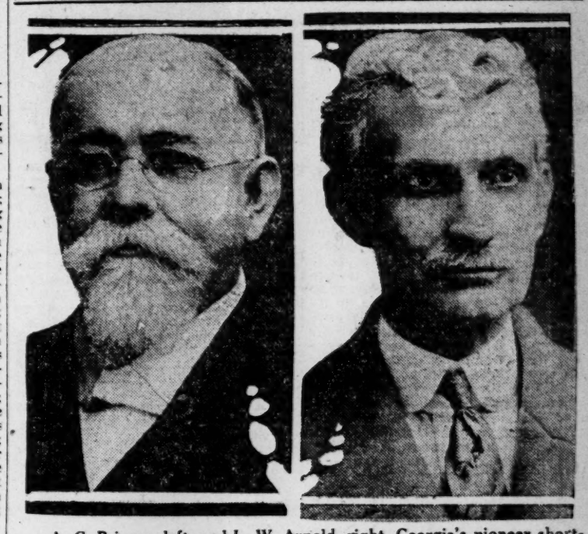

The demand for stenographers and bookkeepers upon the Southern Business College increases continually, due to the great efficiency of its product. In today's mail a firm in Cartersville writes for a lady stenographer. A phone call from a large furniture manufacturer asked for a bookkeeper. Other requests for help received in person.

To see the newly equipped Southern is to want to attend it. Competitors are telling prospective pupils not to attend the Southern because its managers are spending too much money in improvements and beautifying it. The Southern feels complimented. The same competitors, instead of putting their surplus money in school improvements, are investing it in outside ventures.

Enroll March 2 or March 9 and be ready for positions in the fall. Ask Atlanta's business men to recommend a good school and you'll then enter the Southern.

Call, phone or write for catalog. Address A. C. Briscoe, Pres., or L. W. Arnold, Vice Pres., 56 Whitehall Street, Atlanta, Ga. Phone Main 0251.—(adv.)

DEMAND PART CONTROL OF STONE MOUNTAIN

ment during the day stating that they had ceded the face of the mountain to the U. D. C. through the memorial association for a monument, were still anxious for the work to be completed, and were not parties to any controversy, but asked that the U. D. C. be given a voice in the memorial association.

While a movement for U. D. C. participation in affairs of the memorial project was taking definite shape, Hollins N. Randolph, president of the association, issued a formal statement declaring that the project would be pushed to completion and that a committee had been appointed to select a successor to Borglum.

W. W. Fuller, of Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., retired millionaire and widely-known eastern philanthropist who for many years past has been a leading patron of the Stone Mountain project, also entered his voice in the storm of attack and defense that surged up on the heels of Borglum's flight, by wiring the sculptor that he had resigned his position of honorary president "and all other offices in the association." He added that he "stands squarely with Gutzon Borglum."

Despite vigorous search and warnings to police of other states to be on the lookout Borglum and Jesse Tucker, superintendent of the Stone mountain work, had not been located late Thursday night. Hollins Randolph, speaking for the association, stated that the work on the memorial would be pushed vigorously, and that a committee had been named to employ another sculptor.

U. D. C. Resolutions.

The U. D. C. resolutions follow:

"Whereas, the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association, through its executive committee, has summarily dismissed the sculptor, Gutzon Borglum, to whom the carving of the memorial was entrusted, charging that he has not given value received for the money paid to him for work on the memorial; and,

"Whereas, there is no one qualified to pass judgment upon his work except fellow craftsmen who know its value, and the time and money necessary to accomplish certain results any more than a layman is qualified to pass on the work of a surgeon, a writer, or an expert in any line; and,

"Whereas, we, the Atlanta chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, are the natural guardians of the memorial, since it was to us that the splendid gift of the surface of the mountain was made by Samuel Venable and his nieces, Mrs. Priestley Orme and Mrs. Walter Roper; and,

"Whereas, it was at our invitation that Mr. Borglum came to Atlanta and outlined his plan for this memorial; it was our money that paid his expenses, and it was our work that kept the memorial alive for seven years. Therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we request of the officials—the president and the executive committee of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association—that a committee composed of three sculptors of national reputation and a layman who is a recognized authority in the granite business shall be invited to Atlanta to pass upon the work done by Gutzon Borglum on the memorial, and to examine the itemized account of expenditures upon the work at the mountain; and, be it

"Resolved, That one sculptor of said committee shall be selected by the Atlanta chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, one by the Monumental association and one by Mr. Borglum, and the committee to select the layman; and, be it

"Resolved, That we request an immediate and comprehensive audit of the books of the Stone Mountain Monumental association, and an intemized account of all expenditures in the offices; and, be it

"Resolved, That we agree to accept the judgment of this committee of experts as final, both as to the artistic merit of the work and the time and expense necessary to create and carve it; and, be it

"Resolved, That we demand this of the Stone Mountain Monumental association as an act of simple justice to the sculptor who was dismissed without a hearing, the public which has furnished the money, and the Daughters of the Confederacy to whom the gift of the surface of the mountain was made; and, be it

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Sons of Confederate Veterans that they may have a chance to cooperate with us in an effort to secure justice for the sculptor who visioned the great memorial and has proved that he can carve it in living stone."

Borglum Reported Seen.

Two clues as to the whereabouts of Gutzon Borglum and Captain Jesse G. Tucker, superintendent of the memorial work at the mountain, both of whom are charged with "malicious mischief," have been reported to Sheriff J. A. McCurdy, of DeKalb county, who is charged with the duty of serving the warrants.

One came from Grayson, Ga., where it was said both Borglum and Tucker were recognized in a closed automobile which passed through there late Wednesday night. DeKalb county officers had followed what they believed to be the tracks of this automobile from the rear of a home near the mountain, but were forced to discontinue the chase at Athens, when their own car developed engine trouble.

The other clue pointed to a totally different line of escape and came from H. W. Finch, an Atlanta attorney, who stated that he saw Borglum in the Terminal station Thursday morning just before the Ponce de Leon special left for Cincinnati. Reuben R. Arnold, attorney for the Stone Mountain Monumental association, asked Police Chief Jett to establish communication with the conductor of the train, but no results have been reported from this clue.

Armed guards patrolled the vicinity of the studios at Stone Mountain, as well as the monument on the scarp of the gigantic rock itself, all day Thursday to prevent any further damage to the property. This guard will be maintained night and day it was stated and, in addition, the giant spotlight which is kept in one of the studios at the base of the rock, will be kept turned on the monument all night as an additional precaution.

Will Get New Sculptor.

Officials of the Stone Mountain Monumental association declared Thursday that there would be little difficulty in promptly securing a capable sculptor to carry on the work begun by Mr. Borglum. They declared that names of many well-known and excellent men already had been suggested to them and that all these suggestions had been turned over to the special committee formed to select a new sculptor and that they would proceed at once with the selection.

This committee is composed of Colonel W. L. Peel, chairman; Robert F. Maddox, Bolling H. Jones, Mrs. Samuel N. Inman and G. F. Willis.

It was also stated at the association offices that a number of the workmen who had been employed on the mountain by Mr. Borglum had inquired Thursday as to whether the association would continue to employ them. In each case, it was said, that the answer had been in the affirmative and, while it was not yet certain whether the work of removing the rough stone could continue until a new sculptor arrived, all that is possible would be done.

It was pointed out that, even with the outlining that has already been placed on the mountain, it would not be advisable to proceed until arrival of the new sculptor, as he might think it advisable to make certain changes in the arrangement of the figures when he took charge.

Wires 14 Governors.

Mr. Randolph also sent a telegram Thursday to governors of the 14 southern states, assuring them that the Confederate memorial would be carried to completion under another sculptor, following cancellation of the contract with Gutzon Borglum. He assured them that the destroyed models could be reproduced from photographs and other records and declared that he was mailing to each governor a statement covering all phases of the situation, in confident reliance of continuance of support.

Various Confederate organizations in Virginia, it was stated in a news dispatch received Thursday, will urge the name of F. William Sievers as successor to Mr. Borglum. Mr. Sievers is a resident of Richmond and has won wide fame for his work as a sculptor. Among his more notable works are the statue of Stonewall Jackson in Richmond and that statue of General Robert E. Lee at Gettysburg. Mr. Sievers is now at work on a statue of Matthew Fontaine Maury, Confederate admiral, to be erected in Richmond. It is pointed out in Richmond, the dispatch states, that Mr. Sievers is more familiar with Confederate history than any other living sculptor and has a large number of valuable models of famous figures in the Confederacy.

Offers To Restore Models.

Robert LeRoy, of 375 Courtland street, Atlanta, on Thursday offered to restore and rebuild the models of the central Stone Mountain group which were destroyed by Mr. Borglum. The offer was made to the Stone Mountain association through Mr. Randolph, president, and E. Rivers, vice president and business manager. According to Mr. LeRoy's statement, restoration of the models will not entail insurmountable difficulties nor extraordinary expenses. He states that he has had long experience in repairing and restoring models and in manufacturing plaster casts of all sizes.

In addition to the charges of malicious mischief sworn out against Borglum and Tucker, officials of the association declared that the suit for $50,000 damages which was filed against Mr. Borglum on Wednesday, immediately following destruction of the models, would be vigorously pressed.

Fuller Resigns.

Mr. Fuller, who telegraphed his resignation as honorary president of the association following the dismissal of Mr. Borglum as sculptor, is a former North Carolinian now living in Briarcliff Manor, N. Y. He is a multi-millionaire and has been closely associated with the memorial plans. He was the man who offered $1,000 for the first of the Stone Mountain Memorial half dollars struck from the mint at Philadelphia, which offer was accepted by the executive committee of the association. He is a member of the Founders' Roll of Honor and has been a lifelong friend of Mr. Borglum. His wife, which was addressed to the sculptor, but which did not arrive here until after he had left, said:

"I stand squarely with you. I have resigned as honorary president and all other offices in the association. W. W. Fuller."

Samuel Hoyt Venable and Coribel Venable Orme, two of the three members of the Venable family which ceded the scarp of the mountain for the carving of the monument, Thursday issued a statement expressing their hope that the work might go on without interruption; that the U. D. C. might again be given a voice in affairs of the association and denying that they are parties to any controversy.

Statement of Family.

This statement read, in full, as follows:

"We ceded the face of Stone Mountain to the United Daughters of the Confederacy, through the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association, in order that a fitting monument might be carved thereon commemorating those heroic sons of the south who lived and fought and died for their ideals.

"We are still anxious for the monument to be completed and will cooperate with all those who are striving for harmony and the progress of the work.

"We are not parties to any controversy, have simply asked that the United Daughters of the Confederacy again have a voice in the affairs of the association, and that disturbing outside elements be barred. We are not parties to individual controversies and will not willingly be drawn into same.

"SAUMEL HOYT VENABLE.
"CORIBEL VENABLE ORME."

Governor Takes Hand.

Governor Clifford Walker on Thursday sent a telegram to the governors of 11 other southern states, asking them to cooperate in efforts to complete the memorial and assuring them that Georgia would raise twice the total of subscriptions to the project which any other state might give.

This telegram followed one sent out on Wednesday by Governor McLeod, of South Carolina, also asking the southern states' governors to give their support to the undertaking. Governor M. E. Trapp, of Oklahoma on Thursday wired a reply to Governor McLeod declaring that he was willing to cooperate in the work of completing the Stone mountain memorial.

Hollins N. Randolph, president of the Stone Mountain Memorial association, issued a statement late Thursday in which told of the plans of the association for selection of another sculptor and stated that when Borglum and Tucker are arrested they will be vigorously prosecuted. His statement reads as follows:

Randolph's Statement.

"The memorial association by unanimous action of its executive committee on Wednesday cancelled the contract which it had with the sculptor, Gutzon Borglum, and at the same meeting appointed a committee of five to select another sculptor, which committee is now functioning.

"Steps have been taken under the laws of Georgia to arrest and bring to trial Borglum and his superintendent, Tucker, for the wanton destruction of the models of the memorial, which were the property of the association. Prosecution of these men will be vigorously conducted. They have not yet been arrested because they cannot be found by the sheriff.

"The association has devised plans today for the resumption of the work at the mountain. We expect to go forward with the memorial with the least delay possible, and under plans already adopted there will be little interruption in the steady continuance of the work. The models which were destroyed will be immediately rebuilt. Everything will go forward with redoubled energy and confidence the same as before, with the guidance and direction of a new sculptor, of thorough qualifications and experience. We know already that such a sculptor can be speedily retained.

"This great memorial to the valor of the soldiers of the south appeals with great force to all of the people of the country, but is particularly appealing, naturally, to the people of the south, whose cooperation with the association at the present time and in the future we invite and request to the same or a greater degree than they have given in the past.

"Any persons who are desirous of making contributions to the memorial need have no hesitancy whatever in forwarding same immediately to the offices of the association in the Grant building, Atlanta, Ga., and all funds received will be devoted to the building of the memorial with the same care and thoroughness that all funds heretofore have been devoted.

"Let no one, anywhere, be the least discouraged. The people are building this great memorial and we, who are but their servants, are going to carry on to the very utmost of our ability to the end that a glorious undertaking shall become in due course an accomplished fact. All that is needed to bring that about is the prompt support and encouragement of the people, particularly at this juncture."

SITUATION IN HAND, UPSHAW IS ASSURED.

Washington, February 26.—(Special.)—Representative Upshaw, of Georgia, said he had been assured Thursday in a telegram from officials of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial association that the situation arising from the controversy over Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, was well in hand, and there is nothing to be done further here over the matter.

The telegram came in answer to an inquiry from Upshaw for all the facts in the case, in order that he might be prepared to answer fully if any action was taken on the floor of congress.

Upshaw said there was no likelihood at this session of any action on the resolution presented by Representative Woodruff, of Michigan, asking an investigation by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon into the controversy with all the plans and records of the association submitted to the secretary. The legislative situation will prevent the house taking up this resolution before adjournment, Upshaw said.

Greenville Seeks Borglum.

Greenville, S. C., February 26.—Greenville police were instructed today to be on the alert for Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor who was reported to be traveling north from Atlanta by automobile. Chief J. E. Smith said he had been requested by Sheriff McCurdy, of Decatur, Ga., to arrest the sculptor and hold him for the Georgia authorities if he should be located here.

Charlotte Watching.

Charlotte, N. C., February 26.—Charlotte police today were watching all trains and highways here in an effort to apprehend Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, wanted in DeKalb county, Georgia, on charges of destroying models of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial.

Advices from Atlanta said Borglum left Atlanta in an automobile.

Greensboro Notified.

Greensboro, N. C., February 26.—Police here today were notified to be on the lookout for Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, wanted by Atlanta authorities on charges of destroying models of the figures to be included in the Stone Mountain Memorial to the Confederacy.

Richmond on Lookout.

Richmond, Va., February 26.—Richmond police were requested by the authorities of Atlanta, Ga., today to be on the lookout for Gutzon Borglum, dismissed yesterday as sculptor of the Stone Mountain Memorial, and J. THREE BOYS AND GIRL HELD AFTER COLLISION

Three youths and a 16-year-old girl were arrested late Thursday night and held under heavy bonds following an automobile crash at the corner of Lucille avenue and Holderness street.

Albert Mitchell, 18, of 3 Lakewood terrace, is held under $1,000 bond on three counts—drunk and disorderly, possessing whisky and operating an automobile while intoxicated.

Louise Gentry, 16, of East Point, was held on a charge of being drunk and disorderly and possessing whisky.

E. E. Goodwin, 18, of 508 Jonesboro road, and F. W. Dye, 19, of 865 South Pryor street, were held on like charges. Bonds were assessed at $500 each.

The four, speeding west in their machine on Lucille avenue, struck an automobile driven by W. L. Brantley, of 82 Hunt street, at the intersection of Holderness street.

The arresting officers, M. B. Johnson and M. D. Cartright, quizzed them at length in an effort to find if they were anywhere in the neighborhood at the time J. Ralph Elliott, Jr., the 14-year-old boy who was fatally injured earlier in the night. Each emphatically denied that they had been in any other accident.

Mitchell sustained a black eye in the crash when he was thrown against the steering wheel. Both machines were wrecked.

MOVE TO LICENSE SCHOOLS OPPOSED

Disapproval of an ordinance submitted by Councilman W. M. Etheridge compelling licensing of all boarding and industrial schools in the city and recommendation of a plan for a mortuary fund of $5,000 to be paid to the widows and minor children of policemen and firemen killed in performance of duty, featured the meeting of the ordinance committee of the city council Thursday.

The school ordinance provided that all boarding and industrial schools of the city procure a city permit to operate and was adversed on the grounds that it applied to certain schools which should not be supervised in such manner, according to arguments advanced at the meeting by members of the committee.

Credits Allowed.

An amendment to the present ordinance regulating salaries of firemen, permitting the fire committee to credit any person elected to a position on the fire department with former service was aproved by the committee.

Several petitions for zoning changes were heard by the committee and created considerable public interest.

A group of 50 citizens appeared before the committee asking that the petition of the Shelverton Construction company, requesting the rezoning of certain LaFrance street property, lying within about two blocks of Moreland avenue, from residence to industrial classification, be adversed.

Some time ago the petition was passed by the zoning committee and later the decision of that body was reversed by the city council. Thursday the petition was adversed by the ordinance body and will be submitted to the council unfavorably.

Petition Tabled.

The petition of A. A. McCord to have the zoning ordinance changed so as to permit the construction of business property on the northwest corner of McLendon avenue and Clifton street, was tabled by the committee until a delegation can look over the territory. The recommendation of the committee will be made to the council on Monday after the investigation is made.

A similar petition made by A. L. Smith and Mrs. Lavender Ray to change the zoning of property lying on the east side of West Peachtree street and north of Fourteenth street from residence to business was also tabled by the committee pending an investigation by the committee. Both of these last petitions were opposed by property owners in the district.

Attention, Poultry Raisers!
Use Sulphur to Make Your Flock Profitable

A large poultry raiser of Texas wrote an article which recently appeared in one of the leading poultry journals. He told the secret of how he keeps his flock healthy, thrifty, free of all virulent poultry diseases and positively rids them of all parasites, such as lice, mites, blue-bugs, stick-tite fleas and other blood-sucking insects. The secret remedy is sulphur. But, since this chemical is practically insoluble under ordinary conditions and many poultry raisers claim that it sometimes causes the fowls to contract rheumatism, an easier and safer method to give sulphur has been found. A well-known druggist, who is a great poultry fancier, has discovered a way to obtain a CONCENTRATED solution of sulphur, to which several other ingredients are then added. This makes a wonderful poultry remedy which can simply be added to the drinking water. This Wonderful New Discovery is called "2-in-1" LICE AND MITE REMOVER. It is put up in large, four-ounce bottles—each bottle contains enough to last the average flock all season. You can now rid your poultry of ALL parasites by simply getting a bottle of "2-in-1" LICE AND MITE REMOVER and adding it to the poultry drinking water for a few days as directed on the bottle. It is sold by all drug stores, grocery stores, feed and seed stores under an ABSOLUTE MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE for $1 a bottle or six bottles for five dollars. Get a bottle at once, use it thirty days and your poultry will appear to take on new vitality, the fowls' plumage will become brighter, their combs redder, they positively will be free of all parasites, and your hens will lay more eggs, for you know that hens infested with insects seldom lay. You run no risk for your money will be cheerfully refunded if you are not satisfied in every way. Accept no substitutes—Get the genuine "2-in-1." If your dealer hasn't it in stock write direct to the "2-in-1" POULTRY SUPPLY COMPANY, 705 Central street, Kansas City, Mo. —(adv.)

Tennessee Anxious To Know Interest Taken by Georgia Students in Oratory Race

The Constitution Is Asked by Volunteer State Manager to Judge Enthusiasm in Georgia.

Tennessee, which is included with Georgia in the fourth national zone in the national oratorical contest for high school students, is anxious to know just how great an interest Georgia students are taking in the contest. A letter was received by The Constitution Thursday from the manager of the contest for that state, asking information as to the degree of interest taken in this state and also carrying the information that the Volunteer State expects to have over 100 high schools entered in contest.

The letter from William S. Howland, contest manager for Tennessee, concludes:

"I would like to know how your contest is progressing since the Georgia winner will compete against the Tennessee winner and schools in this state are interested to know how the Georgia schools are taking up the contest."

School Entry High.

Reports reaching this office indicate that there will be but few high schools in Georgia which do not have an entry in this oratorical contest. Many of the schools have already sent in statements regarding these entrants, and from practically all the 12 congressional districts reports from the district high school association president indicate that the Georgia high school representation will be practically 100 per cent.

The preliminary trial contests will be held in each school individually, in order to select the school champion orator who will represent the institution in the district and higher elimination trials. These school contests are to be held on or before March 24. The next elimination will occur when the district contests are held in each of the 12 districts on April 9 or 10.

On April 24 the state finals, for which the 12 winners of the district contests are eligible, will be held. The state winner will then go to Nashville, Tenn., for the zone finals, after which the zone champion will meet the champions of the six other zones in the country, in the final contest at Washington on May 7, to determine the national championship and to award the seven prizes, ranging from $2,000 to $300, which are offered.

The contest is sponsored in Georgia by The Constitution and the state high school association, and nationally by the American Bar association. This paper is offering a prize of $15 to each of the 12 district contest winners and first and second prizes in the state contest of $100 and $20, respectively.

All Students Eligible.

The contest is open to all bona fide high school students, boys or girls, not over 19 years of age on February 1 last. The orations must not take over 10 minutes in time of delivery and must be original with the individual delivering the oration.

The subjects on which the orations are to be written are either the federal constitution itself or the relationship thereto of Washington, Jefferson, Hamilton, Madison, Marshall, Webster or Lincoln.

In nearly all the local school contests, prizes for the winner are being offered by some local organization and, in addition, special prizes are being offered in some cases for the district contest winners.

In a recent issue of The Constitution, it was stated that the winner of the contest in the eighth district would have all his or her expenses paid to the state contest in Atlanta by the "Elberton Star." This was an error, due to a stenographer's mistake. It is the "Granite City News" that has generously made this offer for the winner in its district.

B. M. Grier, superintendent of schools in Elberton, writing about the contest, says:

"This is a wonderful opportunity for our high school students to make a careful study of our constitution. I am glad to say that I believe the schools in our district will all avail themselves of this opportunity."

Must 45 be an age of Misery?

There is no denying that 45 is an age of suffering and ill health for most women. But it need not be! Many women at 45 have perfect health and look years younger than they are.

They escape the miseries of 45 largely because their blood is healthy. Healthy blood keeps every body tissue properly nourished and promptly disposes of dangerous waste. Fortunately, blood that no longer performs these functions properly can be restored to healthy efficiency by Taylor's Blood Medicine.

Taylor's Blood Medicine nourishes the blood corpuscles back to perfect health. It destroys the impurities that lead to rheumatism, indigestion, kidney trouble and even to paralysis. Blood purified and enriched by Taylor's Blood Medicine keeps each organ and muscle vigorous with youthful vitality, ready for any strain.

Get a bottle of Taylor's Blood Medicine today. If you are not thoroughly satisfied it has helped you after you have taken it for a few days, your own druggist will refund your money on return of the bottle to him. —Taylor Medicine Company, Tampa, Florida.

A TONIC FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

Taylor's Blood Medicine is so pleasant to take and such an effective all-'round tonic that it is being used in many families by all members of the family. As an example, Mr. J. W. Rice, of Azalea, N. C., writes:

"Taylor's Blood Medicine just can't be beaten as a family tonic. I take it myself and I give it to my family. It always stops those rheumatic pains, brings back my appetite and makes me feel fine. I would be glad to recommend it."

BUSINESS OUTLOOK FOR SOUTH BRIGHT SAYS W. V. YOUNG

A promising future awaits the conscientious, conservative and economically sound business men of the country, in the opinion of W. V. Young, vice president of the American Appraisal company, of Chicago, who is spending the week-end in Atlanta as the guest of J. M. Green, manager of the corporation for this district.

Mr. Young's work keeps him in personal contact with general business conditions—nationally and internationally. With an awakened consciousness of its strategic position and natural facilities, the south's business outlook is very bright and promising, Mr. Young stated Thursday.

He emphasized the need for further tax reduction—both national and state.

BULGARIA ENTERS NEUTRALITY PACT WITH JUGO-SLAVIA

Sofia, Bulgaria, February 26.—Bulgaria has reached an agreement with Jugo-Slavia, providing for maintenance of neutrality along both sides of the frontier.

Foreign Minister Kalkoff took the initiative, and the Jugo-Slavian government meeting him half way, a working agreement was soon negotiated which it is hoped will prevent recurrence of the incidents that have gravely complicated the relations of the two countries for weeks past.

These incidents largely took the form of raids over the border from Serbia by agrarian communists.

DE MOLAY CHAPTER WILL CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY TONIGHT

The Atlanta chapter, order of De Molay, will celebrate its third birthday tonight with an entertainment in the Masonic temple, W. B Deane, master councilor of the local organization, announced Thursday.

The program includes an address by W. D. Stokes, a reading by Mrs. W. F. Methvin, special musical selections by students from the Griffith school of music and a song and dance number by Abe Weinberg.

Dr. Claude Hughes is in charge of the program.

Golfers Must Have Own Set of Clubs On City Courses

Golfers playing on any of the municipal courses in the city must be equipped with a golf bag and set of clubs of their own and will not be allowed to use clubs from the bag of another player, according to a statement issued Thursday by Frank H. Reynolds, chairman of the parks committee of city council.

The reason given for this move on the part of park authorities is the fact that more than one person playing with the same set of clubs delays the play of other parties on the course by the necessity of exchanging clubs.

Authorities also stated that on Saturday afternoons, Sundays and holidays nothing but foursomes will be allowed to play over the courses when they are crowded with the holiday rush of players.

An appeal was also made to players on the city courses to pay careful attention to the other ground rules applying to the conduct of players. Important among these rules are those which state that no one shall drive from any tee until the party directly ahead is entirely out of range of the shot and that which asks that players replace turf removed by shots.

Rockefeller Teaches Golf

:: SINGS WHILE PLAYING, SAYS DR. WHITE ::

To Former Atlanta Pastor

John D. Rockefeller's golf playing has become common knowledge but the fact that he is a proficient instructor in the art has just been made public.

This revelation is contained in a letter received here from Rev. John E. White, former pastor of the Second Baptist church of Atlanta, and now pastor of the First Baptist church of Anderson, S. C.

"I was taught golf by Rockefeller on his Forest Hills private course," White wrote. "I was his guest. He teed my first ball, handed me my first club and I hit it out in regular Babe Ruth fashion. I played with him for several days."

Describing the oil king's use of a bicycle in play Rev. White wrote:

"At times he used a bicycle after his longer shots. He would drive, mount his bicycle, and one of his men would push him along to the ball. On the bicycle was a little basket in which was ice and half pint bottles of barley water. Mr. Rockefeller would take a drink now and then."

That Rockefeller took great delight in knocking the little white ball out of sight was revealed by Dr. White's letter, which declared that often the multi-millionaire sang after a good drive.

"Often, after a good drive, he would sing under his breath a little song, 'Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming,'" Dr. White wrote.

EYE-WITNESS HINTED IN RAWLINGS CASE

Wrightsville, Ga., February 26.—Lawyers for the state indicated tonight that they might spring a surprise at the commitment hearing tomorrow morning for C. G. Rawlings, accused in connection with the death of Gus A. Tarbutton.

It was reported from what was considered reliable authority that the state has found an eye-witness to the shooting. Just what this eye-witness will testify to, however, was not disclosed.

The hearing will be before three justices of the peace, John Weaver, John Williams and Cliff Harrison.

Rawlings will be brought here early tomorrow morning from Swainsboro for a conference with his lawyers. The commitment hearing will begin at 10 o'clock. Former United States Senator Thomas W. Hardwick will appear as one of the principal lawyers for Rawlings.

COOLIDGE APPOINTS LUCAS AT SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., February 26.—(Special.)—News was received here today of the nomination by President Coolidge of Marion Lucas to be postmaster of Savannah.

He will succeed Acting Postmaster J. J. McDonough, who has been in office since the resignation of William R. Gignilliatt. Terrance J. Brady, in the local service, it is said, will be assistant postmaster.

Marion Lucas, brother of Arthur Lucas, was postmaster here during the Wilson administration, resigning to accept the position of municipal police commissioner.

He is a former newspaper man.

Warmer Weather To Follow Frigid Snap of Today

Although the temperature of Thursday was a full 15 degrees lower than the preceding day, the weather man is not yet satisfied. C. F. von Herrmann, in charge of the local office of the United States weather bureau, predicts a further drop of 10 degrees for this morning, which means a 30-degree temperature to greet Atlanta as it gets out of bed, and 2 degrees below freezing point to imperil shrubs and flowers planted earlier in the week.

However, hope is held out in the added prediction that, following the cold snap of Thursday and today, the mercury is due to climb rapidly back to its spring-like perch of three days ago.

On Thursday the highest reading for the afternoon, recorded in mid-afternoon, was 52 degrees. The minimum Thursday morning was 40 degrees and the noon reading was 48.

Clear skies are indicated for the next few days, and the cold is slated to disappear as the area of high pressure from the northwest continues its rapid march to the southeast.

Warnings were sent to shippers Thursday afternoon that shipments of perishable products to reach their destination within 36 hours should be prepared to withstand temperatures as follows: Northeast, through the Carolinas, 30 to 32 degrees; north through Tennessee, 20 to 25 degrees; west through northern Alabama, 30 to 32 degrees, and in Georgia 27 to 32 degrees.

extends the period for making a lease from next September 1 to next December 1, and authorizes but does not direct the president to construct dam No. 3.

Strike Out Amendment.

The conferees struck out section 4, which was the amendment of Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, providing that the lessee shall cease operations at the end of six years of the lease, if it had been demonstrated that nitrogen cannot be manufactured at Muscle Shoals except by a loss.

The final draft of the report requires the annual production of 10,000 tons of nitrogen the third year, 20,000 the fourth year, 30,000 the fifth year and thereafter 40,000 tons.

The lessee shall pay an annual rental of not less than 4 per cent of the cost of construction of dam No. 2 and the hydro-electric machinery, but not on the cost of the locks. The cost of the locks would constitute the only charge against navigation.

Senator Underwood, democrat, Alabama, author of the bill, declared that if the report "ever came to a vote in the senate, it would be adopted."

Leaders of the opposition asserted it "would not come to a vote at this session" and contend that even though it should pass the senate, sufficient time does not remain to permit its adoption by the house.

and officials from Washington, will accompany the body.

The body will be entombed in Graceland cemetery pending final burial at Byron.

Senator McCormick's death was considered in some quarters as likely to have a far-reaching effect on the republican factional disturbances in Illinois. For several years he had headed the wing of the party opposed to Governor Len Small and Senator-elect Charles S. Deneen, who defeated him for the nomination.

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney here, was considered likely to assume leadership in Chicago with the downstate following divided between Senator-elect Deneen and Senator William B. McKinley.

Charles G. Dawes, vice president-elect, in a tribute to the dead senator, said: "The recollection which comes to me most forcibly in his death is of those manifestations of Medill's sincere desire to be helpful to others.

"For years the work of Medill McCormick and his wife among the poor of the West Side, in times of widespread suffering, during a long period of industrial depression, was as important as it was obscure. Behind the efforts for relief made by others, he subordinated himself in every way. He helped thousands over a hard road without expectation or hope of public reward or notice."

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON PRESENT AT FUNERAL.

Washington, February 26.—Official Washington, led by President and Mrs. Coolidge, members of congress and the diplomatic corps, bowed in tribute today to the memory of Medill McCormick, senior senator from Illinois, at simple and brief services held at the home of Countess Eleanor Gizycka, a cousin of the late senator.

Besides the president and his wife, those attending the brief rites today included members of the senate, justices of the supreme court, members of the cabinet, the Illinois delegation in the house and representatives of the diplomatic corps, headed by Ambassador Riano of Spain. Senators Reed, democrat, Missouri, and Pepper, republican, Pennsylvania, delivered eulogies of the late senator and prayers by the Rev J. J. Muir, chaplain of the senate, opened and closed the services.

Other members of the McCormick family present were Robert R. McCormick, a brother, and Mrs. McCormick, who recently returned from Europe; Mrs. Stanley McCormick, of New York, a cousin; Mark A. Hanna, of Cleveland, a nephew of the senator's widow, and Mrs. Richard Porter Davidson, of this city, a niece. Mrs. Richard Derby, sister of Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, a close friend of the family, also came from New York.

MRS. McCORMICK UNABLE TO RETURN FOR FUNERAL.

Palm Beach, Fla., February 26.—Mrs. Robert McCormick, mother of the dead Illinois senator, will not be able to leave her Palm Beach hotel to attend the funeral, it was understood here tonight. Overcome with the news of the death yesterday, she is still under close physical care.

I was getting so bad that I was afraid to eat. Then I learned about Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach and liver disorders and after I took one bottle I felt like a different man. I took enough of it to rid me entirely of every sign of indigestion and am able to eat my food with enjoyment because it is digesting properly. Mrs. W. F. Lyle, of 4 Oak street, Kirkwood, Thursday had her left foot badly mashed when she was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. R. E. Rushin, 12 East Hardee street. No case was made.

The accident occurred on Howard street, in Kirkwood.

Another accident on which police have but little information was the collision between a bicycle on which James Mayfield, address not known, was riding, and a truck belonging to the Zaxas bakery. The truck driver's name was not given on the police report.

The crash occurred early in the morning at Georgia avenue and Capitol avenue. Mayfield is reported to have been slightly hurt.

Boy Hurt in Fall.

As the result of slipping from a truck which, police say, he was trying to board while it was in motion, Wilber Palmer, 15-year-old school boy, of 1 Brine street, is in a ward at the Grady hospital with a broken right leg, and other injuries.

The accident occurred at Cascade avenue and Beecher street. The truck belonged to the A. H. West Transfer company and was driven by a negro, whose name does not appear on the police report.

Bill Harden, 15, of 90 Central place, was rushed to the Grady hospital Thursday night, suffering from a broken leg which he received when struck by an automobile in Cone street—just beyond Luckie street.

The name of the driver of the automobile which ran down the boy has not been learned, and no report of the accident has been filed at police station.

AS TO FERTILIZERS.

Senator Harris has submitted to the department of justice charges of a fertilizer trust operating in the south, and in support of his charges alleged evidence of a violation of the anti-trust law.

He issued a statement in part as follows:

"The people of the south are outraged by the unjustified increase in the price of fertilizers. To Georgia alone the increase means an additional outlay on the part of the farmers of at least $2,000,000 a year.

"My information from all over the state of Georgia indicates that all manufacturers have furnished their agents with exactly the same prices. The uniformity of the increases indicates to my mind a combination on the part of manufacturers to unlawfully manipulate prices in restraint of interstate commerce."

The prices of commercial fertilizers today are unusually high and will work a series of hardships upon farmers this year unless materially brought down. The fact is, if farmers will balance their operations so as to have some marketing unit every month in the year, with a coordinated live-stock program, and then grow winter cover crops, they will very largely solve their own fertilizer problems. Again, independent farmers can apply modern methods, make soil tests, find what their lands need for specific production, and then do their own mixing of the necessary fertilizer chemicals. This will save money.

In the meantime the south will watch with keen interest the result of the investigation of Senator Harris' charges.

ALONZO RICHARDSON.

Atlanta has lost another useful and valued citizen in the death Thursday of Alonzo Richardson. While he had been critically ill for several days, the news of his passing came as a distinct shock to his multitude of friends throughout the city and state.

As a progressive figure in all civic affairs, giving unsparingly of his time and resources for the advancement of all worth-while and forward-looking activities, Mr. Richardson's life stood out with unusual distinction and prominence. He was a man of strong personality, untiring, companionable, sound and resourceful.

He was connected actively with a number of organizations, and gave much thought and attention, especially, to educational and cultural advancement. In his church he was active. Indeed, for half a century he had been an outstanding figure in the religious life of Atlanta.

The passing of this good man is a cause of genuine sorrow throughout the city in which he was born 63 years ago.

FRED HOUSER HONORED.

It was a fitting tribute that several hundred personal friends paid to Fred Houser—affectionately known as "Cousin Fred"—at the Biltmore Thursday evening. The dinner was an elaborate affair, and the "circus," participated in by a number of Atlanta's most prominent citizens, was a unique entertainment feature that particularly impressed the personal esteem in which the honor guest is held.

Mr. Houser, who is executive secretary of the Atlanta Convention bureau, an auxiliary of the chamber of commerce, is one of the most useful citizens in the city, and has carried the fame of Atlanta, as a great convention center, to all parts of the world. His resourcefulness in securing conventions illustrates his great energy, organization ability, and splendid personality. Several months ago he suffered a physical breakdown by reason of his arduous labors, but has now completely recovered. His friends were delighted to see him in better health than ever, and with a greater virility, due to the needed rest he was forced to take.

THE IDEAL LIVES.

Concluding a strong editorial deploring the sensational developments that have recently and most unfortunately enveloped the great Stone Mountain memorial undertaking, the Brooklyn Daily Eagle says:

"But the present row is petty and should be dwarfed into insignificance by the bigger purpose of finishing the Stone Mountain memorial."

The editorial, of course, was written before the action of the association Wednesday in dismissing the sculptor, and the later destruction of the models in the sculptor's studio. It illustrates the sentiment of a great eastern newspaper, however, that nothing, petty or otherwise, should halt the full development of the great ideal that has not only gripped the south, but the entire nation.

The Eagle reflects the spirit of the broadminded press of the north when it further says:

"Anything that jeopardizes or impairs the work on this great creation is regrettable from every point of view. The north, as well as the south, has a keen interest in the completion of the monument."

And again it says:

"Georgians and southerners generally may not realize it, but to the country at large and to the world such an inspiring work of art brings greater distinction to that section than any enterprise that has been undertaken since the civil war."

Georgians and southerners do realize the majesty of this great project, and appreciate the wonderful spirit of national unity displayed by congress in passing a memorial coinage act to help to the great end sought.

It is not an Atlanta, nor a Georgia project. It belongs to the south, but the whole nation is deeply concerned in its success.

The New York World voices a sentiment similar to that of The Brooklyn Eagle when it says:

"It would be a pity if the controversy which has arisen were to interfere in any way with the completion of the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial. Hewing a gigantic group on the face of a mountain in Gerogia is an epic and typically American enterprise. It has made headway. There should be no halt just to call names."

Omitting all controversial features from the equation, the Stone Mountain memorial must be completed. The heart of the south is stirred by its stupendous appeal.

It must not be jeopardized by individuals, controversies or misdeeds —"there should be no halt just to call names."

Whatever may be the merits, one way or the other, of the controversy immediately preceding the association's action Wednesday, the fact that the committee—composed of some of Atlanta's most prominent and outstanding citizens—acted unanimously is convincing evidence that it had, in its opinion, sound reason behind its action.

And the fact that Governor McLeod, of South Carolina, followed by Governor Walker and other southern executives, rallied quickly and militantly to the cause—the great cause of the memorial as a southern ideal, regardless of individuals—illustrates the spirit of the south that clings close and sacredly to this immortal ideal.

MRS. CATT'S VISIT.

Atlanta is honored in the visit of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, one of the outstanding women of America.

That she will lecture at Loew's Grand theater Sunday afternoon on a "world problem," appearing under the auspices of the Federation of Women's Clubs, is gratifying to her many admirers here, for it will provide the opportunity for listening to one of the most profound thinkers along the lines of world peace on the platform of this country today.

Mrs. Catt was formerly a suffrage leader, and after the triumph of that cause through the enactment and ratification of the 19th amendment she has given her services to the great ideal of universal amity.

The optimist paints a bright world, but it would have to blaze to convince the pessimist.

We doubt the story of "the first butterfly." We're inclined to believe it was a boll weevil in disguise.

Railroad casualties are not so numerous now, but sometimes a recklessly-driven auto knocks a train from the track.

When the prospecting tourist gets a fair sample of Georgia climate he saves the railroad fare to Florida.

Much might be forgiven if March should come in a storm of blossoms.

Like Hope, so oft deferred,
Her birds will sing the sweetest song
That she has ever heard.
An opera of the woodlands fair,
And she the radiant patron there!

The groves and gardens ringing,
Love's story will repeat
And in that sweetest singing
She'll hear the world's heart beat.
Oh, that her lips would lean today
And kiss sad Winter's tears away!

Man As the Exception.

The following, in which mere man is given credit for standing in the dim background of the picture, is from Editor McIntosh's Albany Herald—

"In the kingdom of feathered creatures 'tis the male that wears the gorgeous apparel. He outshines his mate on all occasions and in all seasons, and she is supremely happy in unselfish admiration of his fine feathers, having no ambition to outshine him.

"Among wild animals of the jungle and forest plain, the male is the more imposing member of the family. The male lion wears the flowing mane that makes him appear so regal. It is on the head of the male deer that the antlers grow, that being true of practically all species of antlered creatures.

"But man is the outstanding exception to a common rule. He is different. He does not wear the fine feathers that humans have appropriated unto themselves from the animal and vegetable kingdoms, but is content for the missus to bedeck herself in the finery which plays so important a part in the affairs of civilized peoples. He stands in the background and lets her shine—and is proud to see her strut in the spotlight and dazzle the natives' eyes."

In Dreamy Mood.

I.

Sometimes, sitting in dreamy mood,
I gaze at the countless multitude
Of stars, whose glorious light,
Extending like a shoreless sea,
Circle earth with sublimity,
In the vastness of night!

II.

Lured by this star-world multitude
Strange thoughts my dreaming soul intrude,
About eternity;
My mind is filled with questionings,
Soul-dreams soar heavenward on swift wings—
Can questions answered be?

III.

Wake, dreamer, and your eyes unclose.
Yon sky which so sublimely glows,
In splendid jewelry,
Those wondrous star-worlds, one and all,
Which the Beyond you merely call,
Lo, 'tis Eternity!

Today's Talk

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ASK ALL OF LIFE.

You don't always take out what you put into an investment. But you do take out every bit that you put into life.

And the large rewards go to him who puts in most.

Modesty doesn't enter into the situation. You may be as bold as you like. You may ask all of life! The humblest and poorest deserves no more than he asks for and works to get.

Life is so free. Of course there are those who are born under more favorable circumstances than others, but life is the most impartial thing in all creation. It is no respecter of persons. It stands for all. All are a part of it.

Ask all of life and you are sure to get much of its richest portion.

Ask nothing, expect nothing, work toward no end and you will be disappointed in all. God's gifts are all generous. He is lavish in His offerings to the humblest and most unnoticed. But I am sure that He loves the alert, the aggressive, the listener, the thinker, the worker.

The choice things of life are for all, too. Like ripe fruit they hang upon the trees of the Everyday for that one who will only reach and pick.

Dare to be fearless. Take—then give. Take and give again. Again and again.

The only things you can lose are those which have never become a part of you. Learn to wrap life about you, to drink into the very warmth of your veins all that is clean, beautiful and strong.

Ask all of life—then take it!

The Unwanted Child

BY SOPHIE IRENE LOEB,
Whose Work for Child Welfare Is Known Throughout the Country.

(A bill has been introduced in the New York state legislature to eliminate the words "illegitimate" and "bastard" from the statute books, ond substitute "born out of wedlock." It is backed by the New York state commission to examine laws relating to child welfare and the child welfare committee of America, and if it passes it will prove a precedent for all the other states.)

It is high time that the stigma of "illegitimate" be removed once and for all from the child—make the father and the moter illegitimate if you will, but give the child its chance.

At best, such an unfortunate little one has the sins of his parents visited upon him; and for the government, which should give him its protection further to brand him by signalizing him as outlawed, would seem nothing short of barbarism.

If laws fail and education fails to make people marry before they have children, then whatever punishment there is to be inflicted should be visited on the parents.

The child must have a clear bill. Justice has been very slow in this direction.

First of all, the child comes into the world unwanted—many a time he is sent from pillar to post—left on a doorstep or cared for in an asylum.

Even in his tender years he knows he is classified apart from other children; he gets this knowledge sometime or other during his school-going period.

Pages by the thousand could be written in heart's blood concerning children who have suffered at the hands of society—society which should have been their best best friend.

Yes, certainly, the child who has not asked to come and who has no voice in the matter but has to face the future "willy-nilly" should have the community behind him at least in giving him opportunity to face the world without paying unnecessarily for his coming.

We cannot too forcefully condemn the inhuman attitude that has been taken against this innocent victim of the action of others.

History will point to the time in which we have so cruelly mistreated this child as belonging to the dark ages.

Other bills have been introduced at various times, providing for equal share in the father's property of such a natural child.

A similar bill is also pending in New York state. However, if only the former bill is passed, it will at least create the principle and establish legally the child's right not to be singled out as against other children, and that he is within the pale of the law—like any other child.

Until this is done, the state, the government, society, is recalcitrant and woefully wanting in the matter of human helpfulness and in the promotion of the brotherhood of man—about which we preach so much and which we practice so little.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Caillaux Looms.

The prediction is freely made by political observers in the international field that the days of Premier Herriot, of France, are numbered and that a new regime will shortly assume the reins of power. Monsieur Paul Painleve, present chairman of the Chamber of Deputies is pointed out as the most likely successor to the Premier, but beyond Painleve looms the figure of Joseph Caillaux, financial genius, the man who is now staging such a phenomenal some-back. Monsieur Caillaux was recently the guest of honor at a banquet at which nearly the whole Radical group of deputies was present. Monsieur Caillaux' pronouncements on that occasion were described in an American newspaper as of "the old pro-German, anti-British character." They were indeed not sympathetic with the British entente cordial. M. Caillaux has never been in favor with that arrangement. Yet that does not make the man a pro-German. Monsieur Caillaux can never be called a Germanophile in the ordinary, accepted sense of the word as anti-French and unpatriotic. His statesmanship looked in another direction than the English Channel. He was a Frenchman first, even when he announced it as his belief that France could not win in a war with Germany. A contention, by the way, which was not so far wrong, it would seem, for without the aid of America at a critical moment, France and her allies would have been completely vanquished. Monsieur Caillaux believes that the future peace of France and of Europe depends upon an understanding between the two leading continental nations, France and Germany, rather than having France assume "the role of tool of the British empire on the continent," as he phrases it. Of course such a policy would mean the reversal of that of Clemenceau, Poincare and even Herriot. But if M. Caillaux succeeds to power that policy will be tried out and a new era in European politics will have begun.

Public School Education.

Another one of these spasmodic campaigns to introduce the reading of a few verses of the Bible in the public schools has been launched in some Southern communities. It remains a doubtful matter, however, whether that method is endowed with any such superior educational import. It would be far more honest if our public schools were to make a serious effort to cope with the matter of character training. Our children are not, as a rule, taught the art of living. Patriotic virtue of them is pictured, with endless drilling, as consisting of national boasting and competition, with its unavoidable compendiums of bigotry and intolerance. Great fear exists in the minds of our pedagogs for anything that smacks of radical reform in education. The present status of society in America is therefore falsely pictured to the children as the long-looked-for millennium. But if the vast resources of the pubilc school system were utilized to teach the science of life, honesty, fair play, kindness to all human beings, regardless of color, creed or nationality, we would indeed set our feet on the road to millennium, rather than dallying in a futile labyrinth, where it's forever dusk, and never full daylight.

Appetite of a King.

A medical journalist tells his readers that "we eat too much" and he adds as a solemn warning: "You cannot point to a great man in history who was in the habit of gorging himself, like most of our people do." A little dip in history will at least produce exceptions to the doctor's statements, yet the exceptions may perhaps serve to prove the rule. The emperor Napoleon was somewhat of a gourmet. Besides being an "irritable smacker" as one of his biographists remarks, he could eat great quantities of food and yet at other time do without and sustenance, though suffering no ill effects from abstention. Dr. Luther is not solely famous for his chatty "Table Talks," but his friends often marveled at his prodigious appetite. To Louis XIV, the Sun-King of France goes the palm, however. The quantity of food eaten at one sitting by this gentleman is phenomenal. His biographers agree that habitually he worked himself through a menu such as the following: "Four full plates of different kinds of soup, a whole pheasant, a partirdge, a large plate of salad, two large slices of ham, mutton with gravy and garlic, a plate of pastry, some hard-boiled eggs and some fruit." The king never omitted to wash this collection down with three or four bottles of "good wine." It is further recorded that on Friday, when he did not feel well enough to observe the day, he could scrape up only sufficient appetite to eat toast, asparagus, pigeon, pottage and three roast spring chickens. In the evening he ate some soup and bread, no meat, but, as if this were not meat, three chickens of which he consumed only four wings, the breasts and one leg. Yet Louis has generally been considered a great man. The doctor journalist, however, may draw a new lesson from the lives of the three worthies enumerated. They all died of some digestive trouble.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

CHLORIN TREATMENT OF CRI.

The New York city health department recently decided after a fairly thorough tryout that the chlorin gas treatment for respiratory diseases is not satisfactory. And yet the treatment may be well worth while in certain respiratory diseases.

Colonel Edward B. Vedder and Captain Harold P. Sawyer, of the United States army medical corps, now find that their earlier conclusion, that hour exposures appeared sufficient to sterilize the surfaces of the tonsils and throat, was erroneous, for their later investigations have shown that such destruction of germs by chlorin cannot be expected. This correction is of great importance, for the fame of the chlorin gas treatment for cri originated in the army medical department. It seems that the earlier studies were made on healthy volunteers, and with a rather higher concentration of chlorin than is now considered right. The medical officers still consider the chlorin gas treatment a valuable one, however, and the gassing chamber is still in constant use.

Chlorin has no penetrating power, and of course cannot destroy disease germs in the tissues anywhere. Even if it can or does destroy or kill germs on the surface of the tonsils, throat, larynx or lungs, the germs present in the mucus covering these surfaces; that would be no particular gain, for it is only the germs which have invaded the tissues that are doing harm to the patient.

Some definite benefit is generally obtained from the chlorin gas treatment in whooping cough, and the medical officers ascribe this benefit partly to the free flow of secretions induced by the irritating effect of the chlorin, the loosened secretions being coughed up more readily.

The irritant action of chlorin induces more or less hyperemia or increased flow of blood to the capillary vessels of the region irritated, and such a hyperemia of the affected mucous membrane is associated, according to Bier, with an increase in the number of white blood corpuscles in the irritated region, and these white corpuscles (leucocytes, phagocytes) are the ones that destroy disease germs in the tissues.

Chlorin is a powerful oxidizing agent, and to its power in this action chemists attribute its disinfecting and deodorizing effects. These army medical corps officers suggest that the physiologically active oxygen freed by the chemical action of the chlorin stimulates the natural processes of immunization by which recovery from any infectious disease occurs.

For satisfactory results the concentration of chlorin in the gassing chamber must be very carefully controlled to keep it greater than 0.009 mg. per liter for the full hour, yet not over 0.015 at any time, for over that concentration the chlorin gas becomes harmfully irritating. Under the strength of 0.009 the concentration is too weak to have any value. Perhaps considerable discredit has come from failure to maintain the proper concentration for the entire hour.

Hay fever, asthma, pneumonia and tuberculosis are not benefited by the chlorin treatment, and in some cases made worse.

Coryza, acute bronchitis, acute laryngitis, chronic bronchitis and whooping cough are the conditions in which the most satisfactory results are obtained from chlorin gas treatment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

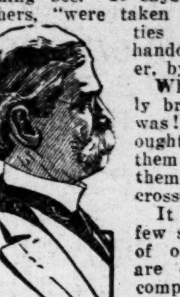

Iodin in Table Salt.

Michigan has a law which requires manufacturers of table salt to include a minute quantity of iodine as recommended by the Michigan state board of health. Wisconsin has a law which prevents the sale of such table salt through ordinary grocery stores; people have to go to a drug store to buy their iodized table salt in Wisconsin. Cleveland, Ohio, has discontinued the administration of iodin tablets to school for the prevention of goitre; the efficient health commissioner, Dr. H. L. Rockwood, also rejects the method of treating the municipal water with iodin, which he deems too expensive, so much water being used for other purposes than drinking. The Cleveland health commissioner puts the prevention of goitre up to the parents themselves, whom he advises to use iodized table salt in place of ordinary table salt. Iodizing the municipal water supply is open to no other sound objection than that of the unnecessary expense of wastage. Iodizing the table salt is open to no objection whatever, except the fanciful notions of people who do not know just what it means. Standard manufacturers of table salt put out iodized table salt which can be had anywhere, if people demand it. By the recommendation of the health authorities of various states, the proportion of iodin in this iodized table salt is exceedingly small, generally 0.02 per cent of sodium iodid or potassium iodid, which means something like a grain of iodin in a pound of salt. Another advantage iodized table salt has over the addition of iodin to the municipal water is the freedom of choice such a plan affords conscientious objectors, who can go on taking their salt without the iodin if they wish, and keep their goitres and everything, just as at present.

The Lynching Mob Not A Southern Institution

BY SAM W. SMALL.

Here comes the report of another lynching bee. It says two negroes, brothers, "were taken from authorities and hanged, handcuffed together, by a mob."

What a gloriously brave mob that was! Mississippi ought to identify them and award them cast-iron crosses for courage.

It seems that a few sporadic gangs of our population are determined to compel congress to pass a drastic anti-lynching statute—one which will probably aggravate the crime and yet will unjustly and heavily penalize the great innocent majorities of many communities.

A Crusade for Justice.

I am deadly opposed to all such proposals as the Dyer anti-lynching bill, which has once passed the lower house of congress. I believe it embodies provisions that are radically unconstitutional. But I know that some such measure will eventually be enacted, unless such cowardly, brutal and lawless lynchings are brought to an end.

Why cannot our preachers, teachers, legislators, executives and judges join in a general crusade to educate our people out of this lynching habit?

It can be as surely stopped by a militant moral uprising in favor of law and justice as was the once popular and prevalent custom of settling private quarrels by the code duello.

Lynchings I Have Seen.

In my career as a newspaper reporter I have looked upon the lynchings of five men—two white men and three negroes—in the states of Tennessee, Texas and Georgia.

Not one of those mob-murders was justifiable in any sense whatever. In every case the victim was already safely in the hands of the regular officers of the law. In due course every one would have been given a public court trial and, I believe, every one would have been found guilty and been lawfully punished.

Let me say, also, that in each case the officers did all in their power, amid sudden surprises, to resist or disperse the mobs and save their prisoners; but the mobs were too powerful and frenzied to be beaten off.

The Mob Psychology.

No one who has not been mixed up in one of those mobs can well understand the terribleness of a herd of men maddened by mob psychology. I have faced death in varied forms—by pistol in an enemy's hand, by fire, and on the battlefield—but the most awful moments of my life were when pushing through one of those lynching mobs to be at the front and visualize every act of the frightful tragedy being carried through.

Argue with them? In nine cases in ten you might as well try to reason with a Texas tornado on its rampage! Stop them? As well try to stop a prairie fire with a woman's perfumery squirt-gun!

A mob is hell-a-poppin', with every member of it a red-eyed devil!

Not a Southern Invention.

Contrary to a popular delusion in other sections, let it be recorded that the lynching mob is not a southern invention. The first recorded performances in that line were in New York City and in New England towns.

Before the American revolution negroes were shot, hung, burned and banished in New York City, under charges of incendiarism. White men, also, were included in some of the slaughters, and in New England women witches got the rope.

I have searched out the history of American mob-law development and among my papers have a most illuminating summary of where and why that form of deviltry originated.

The first lynching of a negro in Georgia of which I have knowledge occurred during the war between the states, in 1864, when Sherman held the region around Atlanta. That hanging was pulled off at Lawrenceville, in Gwinnett county.

A panting negro ran into the federal camp there and begged "to see the boss-man" to save his life. He was taken to the colonel commanding and confessed to him that he was being hunted by citizens because he had "had some fun with a white girl on the road." The officer having heard the confession, realized that a rape had been committed.

Whereupon he called out a guard, sent for a rope, secured it around the neck of the negro, stood him in the wagon of a passing negro, drove the wagon under a tree, swung the loose end of the rope over a limb and drove the wagon from under the man, allowing him to strangle to death.

It may be that the hanging of that negro for a confessed rape gave the cue to the subsequent mobs that, for years after, only lynched for rape or assault with intent to rape.

But the mob appetite grows and expands with gratification and now it goes so far as to "lynch a nigger for cussin' a white man!"

Newcomer Urges Atlanta To Build for the Future

Editor Constitution: The Constitution's support of the gerat plan of city development, recommended by the Beeler engineers and already adopted in part by the city council, especially commands the appreciation of Atlanta institutions which were built yesterday to meet the needs of today—which was "tomorrow" when they were built.

It demands great confidence and courage to build for the future but it is a great satisfaction when that day has come to realize that plans were well laid and that the city has lived up to its promise.

Atlanta, indeed, has tried in recent years to build for the future in many ways but seemingly it has so far outrun its expected speed that each great new improvement has been completed only in time to meet an emergency that has developed during the building. That has been true of its street extensions and widenings, of its viaducts and other civic enterprises. With these lessons of the past before us, it seems to me that we should be especially glad to have for the future a safe and certain guide, a scientific plan carefully worked out which will assure us that our further improvements will be sufficient for the needs they are intended to meet.

I feel sure Atlanta will profit immensely from the work its great daily newspapers are doing to awaken it to appreciation of the opportunity of the hour.

BITS OF NEW YORK LIFE

BY O. O. McINTYRE

New York, February 26.—Thoughts while strolling around New York: A flock of collegiates with raccoon coats. And Basque caps. Aglow with youth. A harp in a taxi. Hippodrome dancing girls on the fire escape for fresh air. And a crowd collects.

Gypsy beggars—tart of speech and slatternly dressed. White heads and white shirtfronts in club windows. Arthur Train, the novelist. The hotel doorman who looks like Secretary Hughes. Curbstone comedians around the Automat.

Ed Wynn and A. L. Erlanger. And why should a clown like Wynn have such a seraphically studious face? A fire in a manicure parlor. White, tired faces. Wonder who bricked that window? An athletic club with the usual crowd of "pork and beaners."

All the street gamins selling parodies of "It Ain't Goin' to Rain No More." Silly looking synthetic dogs. With sillier looking people. Whatever became of "Stuffy" Davis! A little alley bristling with cobblestones. The only one I know in New York.

An interpretive dancer who does those "dryad dancing to the dawn" things. And gives corn beef and cabbage dinners to friends. A dull day in the Tin Pan Alley—only three pianos being thumped. The old Broadway Roman—Cap Churchill.

The white way's million dollar dance hall. And a flock of dramatic schools. Also a tea room institute. Where young ladies are taught to manage tea rooms. But the trouble is the most of them don't sell tea. Skirts still growing shorter.

And handkerchiefs smaller. The quick, vivid and haphazard life that swirls about the Winter Garden. All night boot, hat and clothing shops. A chestnut vender nodding over his charcoal burner. The most colorless types in all the city.

A 23-story building at Broadway and Exchange place recently sold for $5,000,000. It was discovered that the property once sold for $87. Peter Stuyvesant's widow sold this property in 1685 for 25 colonial pounds. And yet an expert mathematician has discovered that what is known as the "good old 6 per cent" jumps faster. At 6 per cent compound interest the account figured Gerret Leydecker's $87 would have grown in 29 years to $97,189,741.71.

As a matter of curiosity I answered in person the following "Help Wanted" ad in an office in 34th street: "Live wires. Hot sales. Quick profits. Here's your chance for a clean-up." A brick middle-aged man examined the applicants. The job was to sell patent pants pressers. He said it was easy to make $50 a day. It was interesting to see the type of men lured by the advertisement. They were all well dressed and prosperous looking. Yet all were evidently jobless.

Then there is the morning picture show at 10 o'clock—mostly patronized by well dressed men out of work. They are not night workers or they would no doubt be sleeping. When the lights are on they study the "Help Wanted" columns.

Mrs. Fanny Menchel is the East Side Hetty Green. She migrated to America 33 years ago, married a butcher who made $6 a week and bore him nine children. To increase the family income she became a janitress, rent collector and finally a dealer in real estate. She cannot read or write, yet she engineers deals involving many hundreds of thousands a year. Her income is said to be more than $600 a week.

Smith Urges Return Of Old-Time Cooperation

Editor Constitution: The Beeler report has well been called "the charter of a greater Atlanta." The bulk of this report deals with matters that should interest every man, woman and child in Atlanta. It might be expected, in discussing a subject so vast, there would be found recommendations that would not meet the approval of every one; but the report must be looked upon as a whole, and should be considered as a whole.

The vital basic necessities called for in the Beeler report are the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts and the opening of Broad street and Madison avenue. These improvements must be made. The viaducts should be built first, unless the whole work can proceed at the same time. It is a marvelous fact that the traffic today has been able to worm its way through a few narrow arteries that we now have across this great city. The Whitehall street viaduct was built something over 25 years ago, and since that time the traffic over it has multiplied about tenfold.

Conceding that the viaducts must be built, the question immediately arises as to where we are to get the money. Mr. Beeler answers this question by prorating this expense between the street car company, the railroads and the adjoining property owners. This certainly appears reasonable and fair. The railroads can easily raise their share and the property holders can well afford to raise theirs on account of the enhancement to their property, but the question arises as to how the street railway company is to finance their share. Mr. Arkwright tells us that in carrying out the Beeler plan it will be necessary for the street railway company to obtain two and one-half million dollars of new capital; Mr. Atkinson tells us that it will be impossible for them to raise this sum, unless the street railway company have the exclusive franchise for both bus and street car transportation.

This appears to be a reasonable statement. Competitive city transportation has long since been tried out and found wanting. It was tried in Atlanta, likewise competitive telephone service was tried unsuccessfully. We recall vividly that the competitive systems tried locally not only failed to give satisfactory service, but increased the cost to the average consumer, for the reason that with two competitive car lines universal transfers were not possible. With the two telephone systems it was necessary for every firm or person who wanted complete service to put in both systems. With a conglomerate number of bus franchises in this city, confusion will surely result, and coordination, so necessarily stressed by Mr. Beeler, would be impossible.

It stands to reason that a transportation company exclusively in the transportation business can be expected to give better service in every respect than a transportation company hitched to other interests for temporary exploitation. In order to save much time, and the citizens of Atlanta much patience, as well as money, it occurs to me that it would be better to at least try out the present street railway company on exclusive bus transportation, as well as street car transportation. This should result in a return to something like the old-time cooperation between the city and the street car company; when they both pulled together for the common good it necessarily produced a consistent, steady and happy growth of our fair city.

Outlaw Toy Pistol, Too, School Official Urges

Editor Constitution: My duties as assistant superintendent of Atlanta's public schools carried me to all parts of Atlanta during the Christmas season. My observations have convinced me that the mothers and fathers are partly responsible for the ever-increasing crop of "pistol toters," in that they develop this pistol fighting spirit in the very young children. Thousands of Christmas stockings in Atlanta were filled this year with toy pistols.

Children scarcely old enough for the kindergarten have been seen daily on the streets in the residence districts "shooting up the town," and staging mock Indian battles.

It seems to me that the parents should seriously consider their part in trying to keep the little minds from this craze. This point which I am trying to make has a sound psychological basis. The fighting instinct is very strong in the race and there is a natural desire to exercise this fighting instinct. The pistol with its noise tends to stimulate this instinct. Why not teach the youth to wield the club, but in the form of a baseball bat or use this surplus energy in kicking a football, or some other means of expressing this fighting and noisy instinct rather than through the pistol habit.

If the newspapers, magazines and educators would outlaw the toy pistol, in a generation we would remove this menace to society. Why not get old Santa Claus to close his toy-pistol factory in 1925, so that he will not burden our kiddies' stockings next Christmas with this instrument of death? Yours very truly,

H. REID HUNTER,
Asst. Supt., Atlanta Public Schools.

Bloodworth-Jones Case Once More In Supreme Court

The Georgia supreme court, for the second time, now has before it the cases of Gervis Bloodworth and Willie Jones, Taylor county youths who have been convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of Howard F. Underwood, a traveling salesman, on December 17, 1923.

A bill of exceptions has been filed with the supreme court and has been set for argument on the third Monday in March.

The two boys already have seen four dates set for their hangings come and go. Their first execution date was stayed through an appeal to the supreme court which affirmed the sentence. They then were resentenced to hang on November 28, 1924, but were respited until January 9, 1925, by Governor Walker.

Execution Enjoined.

On January 8, less than 24 hours before they were to have been hanged in the jail at Butler, Judge W. E. H. Searcy, Jr., of Griffin, enjoined the execution on the ground that the gallows, as constructed, were too open to public view. On January 16, this injunction was dissolved and they were again sentenced to hang on February 13.

A new appeal was launched, however, on the contention that Judge C. F. McLaughlin, of the Chattahoochee circuit, who was disqualified to act in the cases because he had assisted in the prosecution prior to his elevation to the bench, likewise was disqualified from designating Judge Searcy to take charge of the cases and from setting the date for Judge Searcy to hold a special term of the Taylor superior court.

Question Authority.

The bill of exceptions also contends that even if Judge McLaughlin had full jurisdiction in the cases, he had no authority in vacation to call a special term of court for the purpose of carrying out a verdict rendered in a regular term. It is further contended that an order of Judge Searcy, "executed in chambers at Columbus," is void because if he had jurisdiction it was only in Taylor county.

Another exception is taken to the refusal of Judge Searcy to await the arrival at Butler of Homer Beeland, chief counsel for the youths, before passing sentence on them on January 16. Mr. Beeland, it is claimed, was unavoidably detained and arrived 20 minutes after the new execution date had been set.

Americus, Ga., February 26.—(Special.)—The following officers were elected by the Voiture local, No. 725, at a recent meeting held in the organization's club rooms in the Legion hall: Chef de gare, Robert Lane; chef de train, G. W. Thomas; correspondant local, Walter I. Bell; commissaire intendant, A. J. Bell; conducteur, B. R. Fields.

HOLLOMON NAMED TO HEAD ATLANTA SAFETY COUNCIL

James A. Hollomon, of The Constitution, was elected president of the Atlanta Safety council at a meeting Wednesday, it was announced Thursday. Mr. Hollomon succeeds judge Shepard Bryan, who has been president of the organization since it was formed in June, 1924. Judge Bryan retired because of business pressure.

Special emphasis will be laid on safety methods in schools and factories, it is announced. Reports at the meeting showed that last year the safety council was instrumental in bringing about a reduction of 53 per cent in fatal accidents in Atlanta in 1924. In 1923 there were 164 fatalities and in 1924 this was reduced to 119.

During the year the number of automobiles was greatly increased, thus making the work of the council even more important, officials pointed out.

Atlanta Honors Houser With 'Big Tent' Banquet

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

In all its grand, glittering and gorgeous glory, the mighty Fred Houser shows—mastodonic amusement enterprises—appeared in stupendous and spectacular magnificence at the Biltmore "show grounds" Thursday night before a palpitating, perspiring plethora of peregrinating people, and with its colossal array of arenic artists from all America, Asia, Australia, the Arctics, Antarctics and Antipodes, scored a sensational success.

Crowds arrived at the "show grounds" an hour before the performance, and when the trumpet sounded for the grand entry, the big top was jammed to the ring banks. Those who could not obtain seats sat in the sawdust of the hippodrome track and enjoyed one of the fastest, snappiest and most varied circus performances ever witnessed in Atlanta.

The mammoth show arrived on its special trains from Alpharetta, and after armies of workmen had reared a tented city, a few preliminaries took place in honor of "Cousin Fred" Houser, director general of the big spectacle, to celebrate the 25 years he has devoted to public activities in behalf of Atlanta and to observe the 15th anniversary of his service as secretary of the Atlanta Convention bureau.

Houser Honored.

In this part of the program, which took place just after the hundreds of guests had enjoyed a dinner, Eugene R. Black presided as toastmaster and introduced Governor Clifford Walker, representing the state; W. B. Duvall, mayor pro-tem, representing the city of Atlanta; Colonel Frederic J. Paxon, representing the Atlanta Convention bureau, and Will V. Zimmer, representing the Atlanta Hotel Men's association. These speakers paid tribute to the work of Fred Houser and characterized him as a man deserving the love and esteem of every citizen of Atlanta. Mr. Black then presented Mr. Houser with a beautiful watch on behalf of the "representative people of Atlanta."

As "Cousin Fred" arose to respond, there was a tremendous blare of trumpets and the big show was under way before he was allowed to say a word. With Julian V. Boehm, world renowned toreador, presiding as ringmaster, the "mammoth pageant of splendor" introducing the big coterie of circus artists marked the beginning of the performance.

Display number one in the middle ring was an exciting wild animal act, introducing bears, leopards, tigers and lions. The "animals" were George Meyers, L. P. Wilson, A. L. Meyers and Carey Harris, and the trainers were Frank Spratlin, Tom C. Law, Leon Williams and Walter LeCraw. Next came Ben Wiseburg, as "the bearded lady."

W. O. Foote produced some clever fun as "Tit, Tat, Too, the Human Art Gallery," while Al Belle Isle, W. R. C. Smith, Bayne Gibson, Phil Wilcox, C. B. Bidwell, Willis Timmons and "Whiteside" Roy Head clowned their way to favor in a skit entitled "Buffoonery and Bunk."

Other Features.

As "Fatima," the dancing girl, favorite of the Pharaohs, Arthur Semonian got a lot of laughs assisted by an ordiental band composed of John Burdine, R. D. Bame, Bradford and E. H. Payne.

Cecil Meyers offered a ludicrous burlesque strong-man act which scored a big hit. He was followed by Dr. Claude N. Hughes as "the cigarette fiend." Next came a scalp dance of Indians led by "Big Chief" W. A. Jones and Fred Schaefer.

One of the most interesting features of the program was "Arkwrita, the Electric Marvel," presenting Preston S. Arkwright. After he was strapped in an electric chair, he "allowed 39,219 volts of electricity pass through through his body."

Miss Anna Mae Coleman and her dancing girls gave two graceful dancing numbers. Arthur Falkinburg and Forrest Traylor played several popular hits on the mandolin and accordeon, and the "Four Horsemen of Appoplexy" performed astonishing equestrian feats in the "Mustache Cup sweepstakes."

Officials of Shows.

Dave W. Webb served as general manager of the Houser shows, assisted by the following executive staff: J. Sherrard Kennedy secretary-treasurer; Julian V. Boehm, ringmaster; Arthur Falkinburg, clownmaster; A. L. Myers, hostler; Montague Salmon, property man; Thomas C. Law, electrician; L. P. Wilson, advance agent; Forrest Traylor, wardrobe mistress; Eugene Harrington, bear trainer, and John Burdine, sheik.

Mr. Houser finally managed to speak a few words of appreciation of the testimonial given in his honor, but his words were "drowned out" by the innumerable congratulations showered on him as the "razor-back" began to tear down the big tent.

OUSTED KLANSMEN FILE DAMAGE SUIT

Athens, Ga., February 26.—(Special.)—Revs. M. B. Miller and G. L. Johnson, formerly officers in the Athens Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, are suing the order for damages aggregating $400,000, it was learned here Thursday.

The suits were filed in Clarke superior court today, answerable to the April term of court, and a copy of the petitions has been served upon R. K. Murrell, now in Athens, and said to be a representative of the klan.

Rev. Miller, pastor of the First Christian church here, was exalted cyclops of the McDorman klan here until a few weeks ago, when he was removed by N. B. Forrest, grand dragon of the klan in Georgia, and Rev. Johnson was kligrapp of the order. He was also removed.

Rev. Miller is suing the klan for $300,000 damages, while Rev. Johnson is suing for $100,000.

Both petitioners claim their removal, growing out of the indictment last month of several Athens citizens on information gathered by T. C. Husted, klan detective, was detrimental to them.

Both petitions set out that the Knights of Ku Klux Klan is a corporation chartered under the laws of Georgia and that N. B. Forrest, grand dragon of Georgia, has supervision of McDorman Klan No. 5, of Athens.

Ignorant of Probe.

Rev. Johnson sets out that he was initiated into the klan here in December, 1923, and was made kligrapp in January, 1925. He asserts that he knew nothing of the so-called "moral investigation" conducted by the klan and of the methods employed by Detective Husted, and that when General Forrest published his removal as kligrapp that act was damaging to his character and in effect charged him with a debasing act because it placed upon him the blame for the methods employed by Detective Husted in his investigation.

Rev. Miller sets out that when indictments were returned, attorneys for the defense claimed klansmen were on the grand jury and that he (Rev. Miller) took a roll of the McDorman klan and the list of grand jurors and "purged the jury," reporting to the solicitor general that he had done so. After this was done Ben Sullivan, attorney for the klan, asserted that one member of the klan was still on the grand jury and that McDorman klan contributed $2,300 to the "moral clean-up," the petitioner states.

Miller Sues for $300,000.

Rev. Miller claims Attorney Sullivan made this statement to keep intact the roll of the klan and held him up as a falsifier. For the damages to his reputation growing out of Attorney Sullivan's charge the petitioner sues the klan for $100,000.

Rev. Miller claims he did not know anything about detective work and thought that Husted was "pursuing legitimate methods" in his moral investigation here. When General Forrest removed the cyclops, however, he laid the blame for the "questionable" methods employed by Husted on Rev. Miller and the McDorman klan, he states. For damages growing out of this act Rev. Miller sues the klan for an additional $100,000.

The last count upon which the petitioner bases his claim for an additional $100,000 damages, making $300,000 in all, is founded on a letter purported to have been written to William E. Purcell by General Forrest in which the latter absolves himself and the klan of all blame for the methods used by Husted and places it on Rev. Miller and "associates."

Schaefer's 400 Run Smashes Billiard Records

Former Champ's Opponent Sits as Spectator, Never Touching Ball After Bank

Chicago, February 26.—Jake Schaefer, former world's 18.2 balk-line billiard champion, broke all world's billiard records tonight when he ran 400 from spot in his match with Eric Hagenlacher, German cue artist, winning the seventh match of the international 18.2 balk-line billiard championship tournament without giving Hagenlacher an opportunity to play.

Never before in an international tournament has a player ran out from spot. The German player did not have a chance to touch the ball with his cue. Schaefer made the run in 70 minutes.

In addition to breaking the record by winning a match from spot, Schaefer established a new world's record for a high run, breaking his own former record of 368, made in the 1921 tournament here, and also broke a record for averages with 400 for the one inning.

Hagenlacher spent the entire evening sitting in a chair as an interested spectator. Those who witnessed the play declared it to have been the most marvelous exhibition of billiards ever seen in an international tournament.

Schaefer doubled his own record of 200 for a high average. The nearest to the record established tonight was made by Schaefer in 1921 in a match here against Welker Cochran. In that match he went out in two innings. He shot 82 in the first after which Cochran missed. Schaefer then stepped back to the table and ran off the 318 needed to go out.

Tonight the only chance Schaefer's opponent had to shoot was for the bank, which Schaefer won. Every kind of shot on the billiard table was used by the former champion in making his brilliant record.

Long spells of nursing were followed by several extremely difficult masses and these in turn gave way to some hard three-cushion shots until the balls were again under the hat.

His superlative form tonight makes him the favorite to take the crown from Willie Hoppe, a feat which he accomplished in 1921, only to lose it a year later. The two possibly may meet next Tuesday in the finals. With Schaefer in tonight's magnificent form, fans were agreed that Hoppe would be helpless before him.

7 MARIST MEN GET LETTERS

Coach Joe Bean, of the Marist college basketball team, Thursday afternoon announced the names of the seven lettermen of the 1925 Marist quintet which had such a successful season.

The winners of the Marist monogram are: Captain Max Williams, Fee, Langford, Van Houten, Holland, Corrigan and Lambert.

Coach Bean praised all the letter men for the fine work during the season recently completed and urged them all to report for baseball practice which now is under way at Marist.

U. S. B. FILLS GRID SCHEDULE

The gridiron schedule for 1925, of the University School for Boys, was completed Thursday when two more members of the G. I. A. A. were added to the list, making every team that U. S. B. plays a member of this association. The teams that will furnish keen opposition for the local team will be Columbus high, in Columbus on November 17, and Savannah high at Washington, Ga., on October 19, according to an announcement made by R. K. White, president of the institution.

Roy Jacobson was elected to captain the baseball squad for the coming season, while Allie Wilder was again elected to lead the basketball combination through another season.

BOBBY PAIRED WITH HAGEN

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 26. Robert T. Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., national amateur golf champion, arrived here today to compete in the west coast open championship at the Boca Ciega Golf and Country club Friday and Saturday. Jones will be paired with Walter Hagen, American professional champion and British open champion, Friday, and with George Duncan, the British star, on Saturday. The field includes practically all of the leading professional golfers in America.

BANTAM TITLE BOUT SOUGHT

New York, February 26.—Eddie "Cannonball" Martin, world's bantamweight champion, who lost a referee's decision to Carl Tremaine, in Cleveland several days ago has been guaranteed a purse of $30,000 to meet Tremaine again in a bout for the championship, according to Del Cooke, his manager.

Cooke didn't complain about the decision against the champion. "It must have been close and a good fight or they wouldn't be wanting us to go back," he said.

Martin got $7,500 for fighting Tremaine and he has been guaranteed $3,500 for fighting Pete Sarmiento in Milwaukee on March 6.

SMITHIES OFF TODAY ON LAST TRIP

BY GORDON KEITH.

Eight players, Coach Tolbert and Bob Mayhew, student manager, composing the Tech High 'varsity basketball squad, leave today for Gainesville on the last basket tour of the season for local fives. The Smithies are the last team to remain on the court, the other clubs having deserted the indoor game with the tournaments last week.

After the game tonight with Riverside, the Gold basket tossers will journey to Greenville, S. C., where the Greenville High five will be met Saturday night in the Smithies' closing game.

The players making the trip are: Lautzenheiser, Allen Waugh, Morris, Thomason, Randolph, Holland and Griffin. The team is in great shape, having observed strict training since the Griffin meet, and the local quint is prepared to give the opposing fives great fights. Both games should produce plenty of action.

Riverside has won some hard games and copped third place in the state tourney since Tech High took its measure so handily in Atlanta nearly three weeks ago, and with the score to settle and playing on home grounds, the cadets will be a mighty stiff problem.

TOURNEY ON AT LAGRANGE

LaGrange, Ga., February 26.—(Special.) — Sonora, West Point, Hogensville and Mt. Zion came through the first round of the basketball tournament here today and will play the second round tomorrow.

Pairings for tomorrow are: Sonora vs. LaGrange, West Point vs. Hogansville, Waverly Hall vs. Mt. Zion and Carrollton vs. Columbus.

GIRL TEAMS OPEN TOURNEY

Thomasville, Ga., February 26.—(Special.) — The girls' basketball teams of Camilla, Moultrie, Albany and Pavo, tonight are the squads to come through the first round of the annual tournament which opened here yesterday.

In the games yesterday Camilla defeated Cairo 26 to 24 and Moultrie beat Brunswick 35 to 5. In this afternoon's games Albany won from Sale City 15 to 10 and Valdosta lost to Pavo 28 to 13.

The tournament will continue to the end of the week, the finals coming on Saturday.

Charlotte Must Rebuild Ball Team for '25 Season

Charlotte, N. C., February 26.—Charlotte, runner-up in the South Atlantic association last season, faces a task of almost completely rebuilding for the 1925 test. Manager Ray Kennedy, signally successful in his first trial as a leader, has lost most of the Hornets who made the race a spirited affair last year.

The team was hard hit by draft and sale of players. Carlyle, hard-hitting right fielder, was sold to Detroit. Three infielders, Gardner, Crawford and Tolson, were drafted by Southern league clubs. With a chance that Catcher Chisholm may retire, forcing Manager Kennedy behind the bat, the entire infield of yesteryear, will have disappeared from the picture.

Two regular outfielders are returning, Noone and Shay. A likely prospect for the third place is found in Sanders, Florida league recruit. Carlyle, younger representative of a famous family in baseball, almost looms up as a serious contender.

In the breaking up of a strong combination, only the pitchers escaped. All of the moundmen of last season are again available.

Reports from club headquarters are that the management has not been idle during the winter. Promising recruits and well-known college players have been signed in what is believed to be abundance. Youth is being favored in the assembly of talent, it is said.

'Y' Reds Take City League Lead by Beating Catholics

BY DAVID JENKINS.

With C. Bumstead shooting more points than their opponents made, the "Y" Reds proved their right to the leadership in the City league on the Y. M. C. A. court last night, winning a low-scoring game from the I. C. Catholics by a count of 16 to 10. Previous to this game the two teams were tied up for the top peg in the City ladder. Three other battles were staged, two in the City league and one in the Sunday School association.

The Georgia Railway & Power company quintet trounced the Leather Pushers in easy fashion, holding them to one field goal in the first half. The final score was 31 to 14. G. F. G. gave the 22nd Infantry a tough battle, but lost out 17 to 13. The Sunday School game resulted in a 24 to 18 victory for Central Baptist over the Epworth Workers, while Central Presbyterian forfeited to Calvary Methodist.

Permenter featured the Power company game with 18 points. E. Cantrell secured 8 points for the Pushers.

THREE GAMES IN EPWORTH.

Oakland City had no trouble in again trouncing the College Park team, in what was scheduled to be the feature game of the Epworth league last night. Oakland had 30 points to College Park's 12 when both teams left the court. In the other two games played, the girls easily put away the St. Mark's quintet, when Miss Tucker covered herself with glory in shooting 17 points, Oakland winning 39 to 13. The second girls' game of the evening saw the Wesley Memorial and St. John's girls paired, but the two Smith girls were too fast for their foes and Wesley won out 26 to 4.

Miss Norma Tucker, former star on the Girls' High quintet, made some pretty shots, and did some good floor work in pushing St. Mark's down a peg.

RINGLING NOT BUYING GIANTS

Sarasota, Fla., February 26.—John J. McGraw, Thursday, rang up a noisy "no sale" to drown out reports that the majority share of the New York Giants, owned by Charles Stoneham, has been sold or would be sold to John Ringling, the circus magnate.

Nothwithstanding the tintinnabulation of the "no sale" key, there was still an undertone of rumor that Stoneham is about to secede from baseball and that Ringling is about to add a ball club to his already vast holdings of prizefighters, ring-tailed rhinos, dappled leopards, bearded ladies and dog-faced boys.

Mr. Ringling's bizarre tastes in human knick-knacks have been notorious ever since he assembled his freak show and it was but a step in the natural direction when he interested himself in the prizefight business as the backer of Madison Square Garden and gathered together some of the most interesting specimens of the busted nose and balloon type ear tribes. The ownership of a ball club would permit him to embrace within his holdings a complete collection of the genus ball players, which includes some rare southpaw specimens, the wildest type in captivity.

In denying the report, McGraw called attention to an article in the business constitution of the Giants which requires that none of the three owners may sell his interest without the consent of the other two. Stoneham, McGraw and Judge Francis X. McQuade, the New York Tammany magistrate, are the owning triumvirate at present.

Although McGraw has just returned from a long cruise on Ringling's yacht, he said he had not been asked to consent to such a transfer of Stoneham's interest. Therefore, he remarked, it would appear that no sale was even contemplated.

A. A. U. VOTING ON RITOLA BAN

New York, February 26.—Willie Ritola, the Finnish runner, is expected to be reinstated by the National A. A. U., within the next 24 hours, after an expensive process of voting on the matter. A telegram of 600 words was sent to each member of the national registration committee, stating the complaint of a Boston promoter, who accused Ritola of unethical conduct, and setting forth Willie's reply. Furthermore, at the expense of the A. A. U., Hugo Quist, Ritola's adviser, ran up two hours of long distance telephone tolls, explaining the circumstances to distant members of the registration committee.

The national headquarters of the A. A. U. seem to be in sympathy with Ritola, but there was nothing to do but suspend him when Charles Gorman, the promoter of a meet held in Boston last Monday, demanded that Willie be disciplined for failing to attend the meet. The promoter claims he advanced Ritola $40.40 as expenses, but Quist explains that this money was applied to the expense of another trip by Ritola.

DELANEY BOXES STRIB TONIGHT

Milwaukee, Wis., February 26.—Jimmy Delaney, of St. Paul, and Young Stribling, of Macon, Ga., light-heavyweights, who meet here tomorrow night in a ten-round no-decision bout, completed their hard workouts today. Stribling boxed yesterday and today and his work indicated he is ready for a hard bout.

Mike Gibbons, Delaney's manager, declared he is certain Delaney will defeat Stribling, and reverse a decision won by the schoolboy in Benton Harbor, Mich., two weeks ago.

Delaney, too, said he expected to mark up a win over his opponent.

RED SOX OFF FOR N. ORLEANS

Boston, February 26.—The advance guard of the Red Sox, under the wing of Coach Hugh Duffey, left Boston Thursday afternoon for the club's spring training camp at New Orleans. Pitcher Curtis Fullerton and a couple of rookies made up the playing talent, but the contingent is due to grow larger en route south. Outfielder Shono Collins was to join the party at Pittsfield and second baseman Bill Wambsganss was to board the train at Cleveland. The majority of the regulars, however, were instructed by the club to make the trip south direct from their homes.

ELECTOR SOLD FOR $25,000

New Orleans, February 26.—Announcement of the sale of Elector, a promising three-year-old, by S. N. Holman, owner, to the La Brea stables of California was made here today. The consideration was given at $25,000, the largest price paid for a horse on the local tracks this year.

Elector will be shipped to Tia Juana Friday where he will be entered in the Coffroth handicap. During the meetings here the horse has been started fourteen times, winning five races, placing second four times and third once.

TIGERS START SOUTHWARD TREK

Detroit, February 26.—Detroit's first contribution to the southern baseball migration began today when Jimmy Duggan, trainer of the Tigers, boarded a southbound train.

SEIZE FLA. BREWERY; INDICT DRY OFFICER

Tampa, Fla., February 26.—Seizure of the Florida Brewing company's plant here today preceding the filing of libel against the property, worth $300,000, by the federal government and the indictment by the federal grand jury of L. M. Phelps, general prohibition agent, on charges of conspiracy and accepting bribes, ends a quiet investigation of liquor traffic which has been going on in Tampa by government officials more than two years.

Phelps now is under $10,000 bond. Several officers and employees of the brewing company also are charged in indictments with conspiracy to bribe a United States officer and conspiracy to violate the prohibtion act.

Bridgeport Mauler Kayoes Tiger Second Time After Referee Backs Up On Foul

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Madison Square Garden, New York, February 26.—Jack Delaney, of Bridgeport, Conn., accused of using a blackjack, anvil or other foreign and deleterious substance on Tiger Flowers, of Atlanta, the first time that he knocked him out, stepped into the ring with Flowers again Thursday night and knocked the negro out twice again in one fight.

Both knockouts were dealt in the fourth round, but Patsy Haley, the referee, became confused when Flowers went into his first collapse and ruled that Delaney had fouled him, a decision which aroused such an ugly temper in the packed house that it was reversed and the fighters were called from their corners, again to resume the action. After another minute of fiddling, Delaney shot his accomplished straight right smash against the Tiger's jaw and sent him down again, this time officially and for good.

As soon as Flowers had been aroused from his second slumber and dragged to his corner, Delaney's gloves were cut from his wrists with a stiletto, which is part of every well-equipped fight manager's kit and exhibited at the ringside to prove that he had neither gas-pipe nor sand bag nor locomotive axle concealed within them. He also shook his bandaged fingers aloft in a vigorous manner calculated to dislodge and reveal to public gaze any scrap-iron or cobblestones that might have been hid den there.

Flowers Laughing.

Having thus proved his innocence of foul device, Delaney walked across the ring and talked with Flowers who was laughing as though he enjoyed nothing in the world more than being knocked out twice in one fight by Delaney.

This ostentatious display of virtue on the part of Jack Delaney was occasioned by the hysterical scream from Walk Miller, of Atlanta, a Caucasian party, who manages Tiger Flowers. After Flowers was knocked into the flat character of a waffle the first time these fighters met Miller went around and about as setting that his fighter had been fed what he called "the works" and expanding this idea he claimed that Delaney had carried a lead slug in his mitt.

The Garden was full of trade, which became ill-tempered when Haley called the undeserved foul on Delaney in the fourth round.

Delaney Finds Groove.

Delaney, who had been taking some awkward but stinging slaps on his flank from the palm of the Tiger's right glove suddenly found the groove that he had been feeling for and shot his right fist along it, straight to the Tiger's jaw. Flowers went down at the ropes, grasping the lower strand with his left glove. Delaney in accordance with the rule started for the furthermost corner but, on looking back, discovered that Flowers had risen at the count of four and was flopping in a dazed condition along the ropes.

Delaney rushed back and tossed a punch at him which seemed to miss. Flowers went down and Haley stopped the fight.

The customers thought Haley had disqualified Flowers for going to the floor again without due cause and were very much surprised and put out to learn that Haley had called a foul on Delaney. Haley said Delaney had hit Flowers while Flowers was down but the crowd had clearly noticed that Flowers was not only on both feet, but upright when the blow was fetched. They also thought it had missed, so there was no accepting the decision of foul.

The house police rushed to the ring to kick any petulant customers in the face and the ringside rows all surged toward the corners of the fighters. The city police captain in charge of the large detail handling the crowd outside the building split a trough in the crowd getting out of the building to whistle up his reserves and the ensuing five minutes were full of interest to say nothing of riotous possibilities. Haley went to Delaney's corner and heard his protest. Then he conferred with Miller, who lacked the nerve to accept the victory in this manner.

At last Mr. Haley called the men back and it was announced they would fight round four again. After about two minutes of this second fourth round Delaney banged Flowers on the chin with another right and put him on his back for the full legal toll.

3 MURDER CASES TRIED IN RABUN

Clayton, Ga., February 26.—(Special.—Three murder cases were tried here this week in Rabun superior court, which opened Monday. One man received a life sentence, another was sentenced to be electrocuted and the third received a sentence of from 10 to 20 yars imprisonment.

Miller Berrong, world war veteran, was today found guilty of the murder of John E. Burton, chief of police of Clayton, in January. The verdict carried with it a recommendation, and the defendant was given a life sentence.

Burton was shot by Berrong after a cash bond had been accepted by the marshal after he had placed Berrong under arrest. After shooting the marshal, Berrong then turned the gun on himself, inflicting wounds which for a time endangered his life.

Berrong stated to the jury that after the money was paid, Burton followed him and applied an epithet and at the same time placed his hand on his pocket. Berrong said, as result of his soldier training, he instinctively reached for his gun, but he did not remember shooting Berrong. The defense put no witnesses on the stand, except Berrong, who spoke in his own defense.

The Berrong sentence will not be appealed, it is stated.

Frank Jackson, a negro, who killed a fellow-convict, "Macon" Allen, another negro, in the Rabun county gang here Saturday night, was found guilty of first-degree murder and was sentenced to be electrocuted on April 10.

The two negroes had quarreled during the day, and after they were in their quarters, it was claimed, Jackson stabbed Allen with a meat knife, while the latter was looking at a newspaper. His attorney, Colonel R. E. A. Hamby, of Atlanta, announced he would appeal the case.

Ben Parker was convicted of killing William Hicks and was sentenced to serve from 10 to 20 years in the penitentiary.

The killing occurred in August, 1920, following a dispute at the home of the father of one of the men.

Parker was recently apprehended in North Carolina and brought back to Clayton for trial.

Court adjourned today after being in session four days. Judge E. D. Thomas, of Atlanta, presided in place of Judge J. B. Jones. He made a most favorable impression on the people of Rabun county.

Robert McMillan, solicitor, represented the state.

TRUST COMPANY WILL ADMINISTER COLLINS' ESTATE

Munford, Ky., February 26.—The Union Trust company of Glasgow, today was appointed administrator of the estate of Floyd Collins by County Judge Nichols, following filing of petition in the Hart county court, alleging that Lee Collins, father of Floyd Collins, who met death when trapped by a boulder in Sand cave, near here, was mentally incompetent to administer his son's estate.

The aged father was present at today's court session, but did not testify. A half interest in Crystal cave, which he discovered, is the major item of Floyd Collins' estate.

The petition alleging incompetency to administer the estate was filed by three brothers of the dead cave explorer, Andy Lee, Marshall and Homer. Floyd's half interest in Crystal cave is said to be valued at $8,500.

S. CAROLINA AND ALABAMA LOSE S. I. C. OPENERS

Virginia Beats Gamecocks, Maryland Defeats Crimson; '24 Champs Put Out V. P. I.

How Teams Play in S. I. C. Tourney

BY ROY E. WHITE.

Upsetting the dope by staging a great rally in the last five minutes of play, the University of Virginia eliminated South Carolina by a 31-to-25 score in the first game of the fourth annual S. I. C. basketball tournament, which started on the city auditorium court last night. North Carolina, present champions, again showed its superior basketball ability by handing V. P. I. a 42-to-13 drubbing, and the Crimson Tide from the University of Alabama fell before the great passing attack displayed by Maryland. The score of the Alabama-Maryland game was 27 to 21.

Due to the withdrawal of Clemson at the last minute last night the University of Georgia will not play tonight and one afternoon game has been switched to the night card, with Tech and Sewanee playing at 8:30 o'clock in place of Georgia and Clemson.

Today's play will start at 2 o'clock between V. M. I. and University of Mississippi. Auburn and Virginia will follow at 3 o'clock. Kentucky and Mississippi Aggies will play at 4 o'clock and Maryland and North Carolina State will close the afternoon's card at 5 o'clock.

Tulane and Washington and Lee will open up the night's program at 7:30 o'clock, followed by Tech and Sewanee at 8:30 o'clock and L. S. U. and North Carolina at 9:30 o'clock.

Va.-S. C. Game Best.

The Virginia-South Carolina game was by far the best game of the first night's play and now, by virtue of a great rally in the closing chapters of the first game, the South Carolina Gamecocks, conceded as the better, are speeding back to Carolina as the first team eliminated in the 1925 tournament.

It was a great game, especially in the last few minutes when even the crowd turned in favor of the wonderful play exhibited by the Old Dominion quint, and it was a dark horse that turned the trick. Tyler, who had been warming the bench in the first half of the game, was substituted for Captain Miller early in the second half and his presence in the game changed things considerably, for he began ringing field goals with consistency and converted three foul attempts into three points.

Not only was Tyler's field goal shooting ability especially noticeable, but his floorwork and passing were bright features and, if the writer is not badly fooled, Tyler will be seen at center this afternon, against Auburn, in place of Miller.

Virginia First Team Out.

Virginia was the first team to make its appearance on the brand new floor. Holland, the Old Dominion forward took the first crack at the basket after Miller had received and missed. Virginia was on the short end of a 16 to 14 score when the first half ended.

The excellent passing of Virginia in the last half of the game was all that could be asked and with Tyler, the dark horse, doing his extra bit, the Old Dominion team came back with a vengeance.

South Carolina started off like a whirlwind and ran up five points before Virginia had time to get going. Virginia then scored a field goal that seemed to give South Carolina more fighting spirit. Then the Carolina quint ran the total up to 13 points while Virginia scored only five points. South Carolina slowed up and Virginia came back and tied the score only to have Wright of South Carolina sink one from long range that gave South Carolina its lead at the half.

Wright Gamecock Star.

Wright, at forward for South Carolina, and a brother of Dick Wright, Georgia Tech freshman halfback, was the shining light in the losers' side of the game. He scored only three field goals and one foul, but those three were of the spectacular type, two from dribbles the length of the court, and the other from almost the center of the court. He was decidedly off in fouls making only one out of eight attempts. His passing was the best on the court and it was to that end that Lillard scored 10 points from directly under the baskets.

Lineup and Summary:

Virginia (31)	Pos.	S. C. (25)

V. P. I. Fights Hard.

University of North Carolina, present conference champions made another strong bid last night to retain its title during 1925 by giving V. P. I. its passports back to Virginia as a beaten basketball team, but one that fought every inch of the way despite its handicap of being the smallest quint in the tournament. The score was 42 to 13.

North Carolina, or Carolina, as the crowd began to yell, presented one of the smoothest working machines that stepped on the court last night. It was an exceptionally good game to watch and despite the fact that V. P. I. was clearly outclassed in every department of play, Carolina kept its machine-like pace all the way.

In the second half Carolina used every man in uniform and the substitutes worked just as well in the make-up as did the players who started the game.

Captain Cobb led the attack for the champions and was high scorer of the first night's play with 16 points. Not only was he a shining light in scoring field goals but he was also a center of attraction in the Carolina passing attack. He was ably assisted by McDonald and Dodderer in the passing.

Not only did North Carolina lead the offensive for the first night's play, but held V. P. I. to only two field goals during the entire game, one in the first half and one in the second half. It was near the end of the first half when V. P. I. located the baskets for its first two-point marker. The same thing can be said for the good guarding of North Carolina in the second half. It was Rutherford who scored both field goals for V. P. I.

Lineup and Summary:

N. C. (42)	Pos.	V. P. I. (13)
Cobb (16)	r.f.	(6) Rutherford
McDonald (6)	l.f.	Krebs
Dodderer (4)	c.	Payne

Foul goals: N. C., 10 out of 16; V. P. I., 9 out of 17.

Mercer, Newberry Enter S. I. A. A. Semi-Finals

Bears Easily Defeat La. As Indians Beat 'Noogans In Best Battle of Night

BY JULIAN GRIFFIN,
Staff Correspondent of The Constitution.

Macon, Ga., February 26—(Special.)—In a featureless contest, Mercer university, easily the class of the S. I. A. A., defeated Louisiana 31-to-21 without exertion. In the other game on tonight's bill Chattanooga bowed before the attack of Newberry college, 32-to-25.

The tournament narrows down to the semi-finals Friday, with Birmingham-Southern playing the Citadel in the first game, while Mercer will tie up with Newberry to settle rights to play in the finals.

Mercer had Louisiana so completely outclassed tonight that it wasn't even funny. Colonel Red Simmons, Buncie Skinner and company just passed the ball around and dropped it in the basket most any time they took a notion.

Pitchers' Battle.

Although Mercer had the ball most of the time, the first few minutes of the game resembled a pitchers' battle and the game had been under way six minutes before Red Simmons shot the first field goal of the game. Louisiana also had a Simmons in the lineup and although he wasn't in the class of the local entry, it will be necessary to refer to Mercer's man as Red every time.

Skinner and Red Simmons together shot nine points for Mercer before Bankston came through with the visitors' first field goal of the evening. After this Mercer, not unwisely, seemed to be saving fight and energy for future opponents in the tourney and let things rock along much as they chose.

Mercer did not play a good game of basketball. But it was simply because the home boys didn't have to. The Louisiana boys weren't nearly as tall as the Mercerians and couldn't offer enough opposition to keep them on the alert.

Louisiana Boys Wild.

When Louisiana shot at the basket the ball almost invariably went wild. Story had numerous shots, about 20, but only four of them went true to the mark.

Mercer has a classy team that can show plenty of fight when pushed and should win the championship in a walk-away.

After Mercer began making substitutions and saving energy, Newberry had enough shots to win. Each side made exactly 52 tries for the basket from the field during the game. Thirteen of Mercer's tries were good, while only eight counted for Louisiana.

The Lineup and Summary.

MER. (31)	Pos.	LOU. (21)
Skinner (6)	rf.	Simmons (6)
Green (1)	lf.	Story (8)
Simmons (9)	c.	Reid
Smith (6)	rg.	Hatcher (2)

Substitutions—Mercer: Dunn (8) for Skinner; Parks for Green, Long for Parks.

Field goals—Mercer, 13; Louisiana, 9.

Foul goals—Mercer, 5 out of 11; Louisiana, 3 out of 10.

Referee—Graves.
Umpire—Bernier.

First Game Best.

In the first game of the evening the Newberry Indians came prancing out on the floor in dazzling red uniforms not unlike the costume of the girl on the poster advertising "Flaming Youth," soon won the favor of the crowd and later won the game from Chattanooga, 32 to 25.

The game was what is often referred to as a nip and tick affair in the first half, with the lead changing hands exactly six times. Chattanooga was playing the best basketball and seemed to have the best chance of victory.

But Newberry took the four-point lead it had at the beginning of the second half and never let the Noogans get it again.

Teamwork Wins.

Working together was the keynote of the Indians' victory. Not a single substitution was made by them and every man in the lineup shot at least four points and no man shot over eight.

Hackett, Chattanooga guard, was the best floor man for the losers and also the best shot. He negotiated for 11 points in addition to playing his position in big league fashion.

The crowd tonight was much larger than that of last evening, possibly because the home team was in action, and the lusty cheers from the well-filled stands added much color to the situation.

Lineup and Summary.

CLUB MEMBERS SEE FAST BOUTS

A whole pack of undiluted action in amateur bouts engaged the attention last night of members of the Business Men's Athletic club, but the main event, in which Larry O'Leary was to go 10 rounds against some opponent, did not come off because the "opponent" could not be located who would enter the ring with O'Leary.

The amateur bouts that went on, however, gave the crowd all the fighting it could use for one evening. There was only one knockout and that came in the first round of the scheduled four-round affair between Tommy Ellis and Jess Ashworth. Ashworth took the flop.

The results of the other bouts, all of which went to the limit of four rounds, are as follows:

Kid Isaac and Kid Abie fought a four-round draw. John Harvey won a decision over John Wright. Ray Terrell won a decision over Ted Landrum. Charles Duncan won a decision over Young Anderson and Young Lawson won a decision over Jack McMullin.

All of the bouts except the Duncan-Anderson affair were referred by Tim O'Dowd, featherweight boxer. The Duncan-Anderson bout was refereed by Stormy Mott.

The tournament will start March 3 and will continue through March 6.

The schedule calls for games during the afternoon and evening. The junior schools to play off their games March 4 and 5 and the senior schools on the last two days.

CLARK FIGHTS STONE MONDAY

Augusta, Ga., February 26.—Jackie Clarke, of Allentown, Pa., is scheduled to reach Augusta tonight to complete training for his 10-round bout with Vic Stone, of Augusta, on next Monday night. Though Stone has been under expert eastern training for nearly two years, this will be his first real fight. He has received much publicity and there is considerable interest as to the outcome of his initial encounter.

AUTREY HURT; SCHWARTZ AT YANK CAMP

New York, February 26.—Martin Autrey, Yankee recruit, who did some catching for Pittsfield, Mass., of the Eastern league and Atlanta last year, had his "eye on the ball" in his first workout in the Yankees' new baseball park at St. Petersburg, and was excused from yesterday's practice. Autrey used his head in stopping a batted ball and carried a badly bruised optic.

With the arrival of Monroe Schwartz, right handed pitcher from Atlanta, the Huggins hustlers had increased in number to 11 and only Ray Francis, former Washington, Detroit and Atlanta left hander, were missing from the early roll.

Nick Cullop gained a tribute from the mite manager by hitting to all corners in the batting. Huggins went so far as to say that from present indications the pitcher-infielder-outfielder, will have a steady position with the Yankees as a reserve.

OVERWEIGHT YANKS QUIT HOT SPRINGS.

Hot Springs, Ark., February 26.—Members of the New York American league team doing preliminary training here for the past two weeks, will leave tomorrow for the Yankee training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Babe Ruth, who, with Wally Schang and Sam Jones, has remained longer than other members of the team, is much pleased with his condition. He is down, he states, to within about twelve pounds of playing condition and does not anticipate much trouble in getting that off in the warmer Florida climate and more strenuous practice. This has been the first season in two winters that the flu has not forced Ruth to go to bed. He took plenty of exercise, hiking over the mountains in the morning, playing golf in the afternoon and for the past few days has added horseback riding to his routine.

Tris Speaker, manager for the Cleveland American league team, led his squad through a lively field practice on the Whittington park diamond this morning, after which the players took a fast run over Hot Springs mountain. The Indians are scheduled to leave for their training camp at Lakeland, Fla., March 3.

GA. VARSITY TRIMS RATS

Athens, Ga., February 26.—(Special.)—Football, spring football, was brought to a finish at the University of Georgia Thursday afternoon when the 'varsity and freshmen opposed each other. The 'varsity was victorious and grid togs were discarded until next September.

Captain-elect Smack Thompson furnished the first touchdown for the day, after recovering a fumble and racing over the chalked line. A safety followed and then the freshmen pushed over a tally.

Ollis Dowis, Fleming and Gene Smith played the big part for the losers. The latter's run of a kick-off to the 'varsity 20-yard line was the feature of the game. Dowis carried the ball over for the freshman touchdowns.

Wee Willie Hatcher and Kells Boland did the best work for the 'varsity.

D. H. DIRECTORS BEAT TECHMEN

Directors of the Druid Hills Golf club yesterday won from the Georgia Tech goft team by 1 point, playing over the Druid Hills course.

Watts Gunn of Tech won three points from Dr. Hinman, Bill Spalding lost three points to R. S. Collinsworth and Gunn and Spaulding won 2 points and lost one on the foursome.

MERMAIDS SET FIVE RECORDS

Miami, Fla., February 26.—Five world's swimming records went down to oblivion here today under the combined assault of Arne Borg, of Sweden, and his fair companions of the women's swimming division most of whom are stars of the Olympic team that represented the United States in the last Olympics.

Arne Borg lowered the 300-meter back-stroke record by 9 4-5 seconds making the new mark of 3:35 1-5, while the women swimmers shattered the 880-yard relay, 220-yard free-style, 300-meter free-style and the 440-yard breast-stroke records, making a total of 12 new marks established in three days at this meet, another record in itself.

Summary of Today's Events.

880-yard relay: Team composed of Gertrude Ederle, Aileen Riggin, Ethel McGary and Helen Wainwright lowered old record of 11.36 to 11.22 2-5, a cut of 33 3-5 seconds.

Miss Ederle swimming the first lap of the 880 established the new 220-yard free style record. The new mark is 2:44 3-while the old mark was 2:55.

300-meter free-style swim: Martha Norelius clipped 7 3-5 seconds off the old record, the new mark now being 4:12 1-5.

440-yard breast stroke: Miss Agnes Geraghty broke her own record made last February here in this event, lowering the time by 12 4-5 seconds to a new mark of 7:20 1-5 which is likely to stand for some time.

300-meter back-stroke: Arne Borg lowered record by 9 4/5 seconds. Old record, 3:3[illegible] made by Johnny Weismuller at Honolulu in 1922. New mark, 3:35 1-5.

CUBS LEAVE FOR TRAINING

Chicago, February 26.—Seventeen players, sports writers and guests including President William Veeck and Secretary John Seys, made up the Chicago Nationals' party that left here today for their spring training camp at Catalina island.

With the exception of two unsigned rookies the club roster was announced complete.

Manager Bill Killefer already is on the island. With him are Wilbur Cooper, the veteran pitcher procured from the Pittsburg Pirates last winter; George Steuland, a rookie from Seattle; Charlie Root, who pitched last season with Los Angeles; Rabbit Maranville, former Pirate, and the veteran Grover Cleveland Alexander.

The opening workout is planned for next Monday morning.

New York, February 26.—The cotton market today made new high ground for the movement on a continuation of recent buying, but was called upon to absorb a great deal of realizing and after advancing to 25.65 for May sold off about thirty points in late trading. May closed at 25.35, the general market closing barely steady, net unchanged to 27 points lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of 5 to 11 points on overnight buying orders, but Liverpool did not fully meet bullish expectations based on the New York close of yesterday and a disposition to take profits on recent purchases was promoted by the foreca t for unsettled weather with probable rain in East Texas. There also was a little southern selling and local selling for a reaction accompanied by talk of an easier technical position following recent sharp advances, and the market eased off ten or twenty points from the best during midday. Trading became quieter on the setback, however, suggesting that the bulk of the selling was in the way of realizing and prices turned upward again in the early afternoon on the continued bullish character of southern spot advices and doubt as to whether rain prospects in the southwest would materialize.

March sold up to 25.38 and July to 25.88, or 15 to 30 points net higher. New crop months were relatively easy being influenced by the Texas rain possibility, but October worked up to 25.51, or 11 points above yesterday's closing quotations. At these figures there appeared to be a more general disposition to take profits and the market broke rather sharply in the late trading.

Private Liverpool cables said there had been further trading, calling and continental buying in that market, but that Manchester firms were selling part of their recent purchases.

Additional March notices representing about 1,800 bales were reported here at the opening, but spot house interests were buyers of March against sales of later deliveries.

New York, February 26.—Cotton, spot, quiet; middling 25.35.

ACTIVE MARKET AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, February 26.—The cotton market was very active today, in fact it was the liveliest session experienced in some time. Prices were erratic and fluctuated in a fairly wide range. Following an early gain of 6 to 8 points prices reacted, declining 18 to 22 points below the early high levels before the decline was checked. During the afternoon the market rallied sharply, advancing 38 to 42 points from the lows of the morning and finally losing practically all of the gain and more on new crop months, October closing 12 points down compared with the close of yesterday.

At the start Liverpool was slightly lower than due but all months save March showed opening gains of 6 to 8 points. March opened unchanged being held in check by the circulation of notices for 30,000 bales of March deliveries. The near month soon rallied with the other months when it became known the notices had all been stopped. Following the early gain the market eased off on an official forecast for rain or snow in the western belt and March traded down to 25.00, May 25.30, July 25.55 and October 24.95 or 17 to 22 points below the previous close. The rally of the afternoon carried March to 25.42, July 25.93 and October 25.24 or 29 to 42 points up from the lows of the morning. Nearly all of this gain was lost in the late trading and the market closed 11 points net higher for March but unchanged to 12 points net lower on later months.

The notices for March issued this morning added to notices issued earlier total 75,000 bales that have been so far tendered of March contracts in the local market. That all these notices were promptly stopped by spot interests accounts for the relative firmness of the March position.

The sharp rally of 40 points or $2 a bale in the afternoon was due to the urgent demand for spots reported from the interior markets. Southern markets sold yesterday 39,597 bales, the largest sales in several months. The late reaction was due to profit-taking, partly owing to fears of probable rain in the west and partly to rumors President Ebert of Germany w s dying.

Exports for the day were moderate, 7,961 bales.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, February 26.—Today's market was very much more interesting than for several days past. Following a report that there would be no further investigations from Washington into the gasoline price advances, the entire oil group became very active. Pan-American crossed 78 under the impetus of a tremendous volume of buying and vigorous operations for the rise were resumed in Sinclair, Pacific Oil and a number of other petroleum stocks. Many individual issues cropped out in different parts of the list. Savage Arms touched 105¼ and Jordan Motors achieved a new high at 54⅛.

During the forenoon, a great deal of activity centered around the motor stocks. Packard, Maxwell A and B and Chandler were the leaders, although this advance could not be traced to any particular development affecting the motor industry.

During the afternoon Allied Chemical was another strong spot, moving up to 89½ in anticipation of an early increase in the $4 annual dividend rate. Some irregularity was created in the last hour when call money advanced to 4½ per cent. Slight recessions from the day's best prices in Baldwin, American Locomotive and other leaders took place. A splendid report for Atlantic Gulf & West Indies showing earnings in excess of $5 a share on the common stock was responsible for a rapid upswing in both the preferred and common stocks. Although many fractional declines were to be noted throughout the list, the closing was fairly strong.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, February 26.—The market seems to be in a very irregular period. There is no selling pressure and in fact no particular reason why stocks should go down very much. At the same time a number of stocks seem to be rather tired and when they reach a certain level, there is no carry through to them. It looks as if the general market might remain in this state for a time while pools remain busy in individual issues. For next few months rails and oils seem to have very good chances of working higher. Oils are dragging just at this time along with the general market. In the rail list we believe that South Railway, Missouri Pacific preferred, Rock Island, Texas and Pacific, Central, Atchison and Pittsburg and West Virginia will reach higher prices.

JNO. F. CLARK & CO.

New York, February 26.—The tone of the market was strong from the beginning today, there being a moderate increase outside inquiry for stocks, and many of the floor traders were rather aggressive on the buying side in their favorite issues. In the tail-end dealings, however, some of the high-priced industrials seemed to be feeling the effect of more liberal offerings, which were probably representative of profit-taking sales. The oil stocks, until leadership of Pan-American, displayed prominent strength in the afternoon trading and the advance in the Pan-American issues is probably a belated recognition of the recent increase in the dividend declared. The tenor of the news of the day was construed in favorable manner and the advance in cotton and grains was not without its good effect on sentiment. The action of the market seems to have again fostered a more bullish sentiment and this may be reflected in a continued strong market, as minor recessions seem to attract a rather broad inquiry for securities. We continue to favor the constructive side of the market, with especial reference to the oils, rails and coppers.

Cotton Letters.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, February 26.—Bullish spot and weather conditions dominate the market at present and in view of the persistent demand for actual cotton, the firmness of holders and diminishing supplies of desirable grades we look to see prices work still higher. The more confident feeling recently in evidence is resulting in a broadening speculative demand and we believe cotton a purchase on all moderate setbacks.

ELLIS & CO.

New Orleans, February 26.—The issuance of further March tenders to the extent of 30,000 bales this morning precipitated considerable liquidation in March but the latter was well-taken and when it was found that the notices had been stopped by the same large spot interests, who accepted the tenders on yesterday, the market firmed up again and advanced into new high ground.

Spot advices continue extremely bullish and accounts from the dry goods centers report a steady though gradual improvement in that division of the trade. Meanwhile the drought continues over a large part of the southwest with the time for relief before the planting season now growing short. Under the circumstances we think that barring the usual fluctuations the chances favor a still higher market.

FENNER & BEANE.

New Orleans, February 26.—March notices for about 30,000 bales were promptly stopped by trade interests, but the market sold off 12 to 20 points shortly after opening on prediction of weather bureau of possible rain or snow in northwest Texas and Oklahoma and unsettled in east Texas.

A further decline was checked by buying orders which recovered a part of the loss. While outside interest during mid-session was lacking a strong undertone prevailed and prices moved within a narrow range.

A flow of spot news from all sections tells of scarcity of the actual and the impossibility to supply the demand even at the highest basis of the season caused a sharp advance, attracting outside buying which carried prices to the best of the day, or a net gain over yesterday's close of 17 to 20 points. Possibility of rains developing in Texas as forecast induced liquidation during the last hour which ran into selling with rumor that President Ebert, of Germany, was dying. This selling wiped out the day's gain, the final close being 5 net up to 12 net lower compared with last night's close.

Our latest advices from Texas report clear with no signs of rain. Conditions have not changed and we rather feel that vigorous selling at close was overdone.

POST & FLAGG.

New York, February 26.—Continued speculative activity on the long side caused a further advance in cotton today. Some heavy short covering by operators who felt that the market had advanced far enough lately and who had put out short lines at lower levels, also aided the advance. Spot news is as bullish as ever and the continued drouth in the southwest together with strong dry goods and advices were likewise encouraging factors. Sentiment particularly among the speculative element, is bullish but after a continued advance for several days without any setbacks whatever caution on the long side for the moment would appear advisable.

H. & B. BEER.

New Orleans, February 26.—(A. V. Curran & Co., correspondents.)—There being no abatement in the demand for spot cotton in the south, notwithstanding the basis being the highest of the season, the market, after ruling lower in early session, advanced again in afternoon owing to bullish spot advices from the interior and the absence of rain in the southwest.

Inland stocks are decreasing, and as the cream of crop has been sold and shipped, low and medium grades represent most of the unmarketed remnant of crop and it is probably only a question of time when buyers will not be so particular as to grade and staple since they will probably be glad to get the pick of what is left.

Additional March notices for about 30,000 bales were tendered on contract this morning and were stopped by spot interests. The character of the local certificated stock is unusually good, of the 89,000 bales, only about 4,591 bales grade lower than middling, and of ⅞-inch staple.

Pretty much the same conditions apply as to the situation in New York. It is not surprising therefore for trade interests to be anxious to get control of such large lines of good spinnable cotton, for while the demand so far has been for better staples, the inquiry now that inch staples are scarce, is likely to improve for contract cotton in the future.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, February 26.—Cables this morning were better than due, for our market hesitated a little in the early trading owing to reports of threatened rain in Texas. The map failed to show any actual precipitation and on reports received later that the weather appeared to be clearing, the market steadied up, subsequently advancing to new high prices on the movement. Reports from spot markets south are very bullish, an active demand being reported at advancing basis. The fact is that exports have been so heavy, the stock of cotton has been much depleted of late. There is talk that the New York stock is relatively the cheapest cotton in the country and this is true. The feeling has led to a demand for the near positions and now that March notices are out of the way, a tightening of the differences has resulted. Reports from the dry goods district are regarded as favorable and the new advance in securities and grain have a sympathetic influence in our market.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: March, 13.61; May, 13.73.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

New York, February 26.—Fluctuations in today's cotton market were erratic. Liverpool traded early this morning at prices equal to our rise of yesterday, but there was liquidation here on and after the opening, which made lowest quotations of the day, and the afternoon prices felt the effect of continued accumulation of contracts following failure of weakness to develop on prediction of arin in east Texas and rain or snow in west Texas. In the final transactions prices had a sharp break on profit-taking. The undercurrent is regarded good, and the fluctuations perhaps were only incidental. In the immediate future we expect a scalping market. Liverpool March due 13.61.

Total bond sales, par value, $14,153,000.

New York, February 26.—Bond trading today was somewhat restricted by expectations of an increase in the local federal reserve bank's rediscount rate from 3 to 3 1-2 per cent, although the advance was not announced until after the close of the market. Price movements were irregular, with rallies in several issues counteracting an early downward drift.

Trading interest centered mainly in St. Paul railroad obligations, which after an early reaction rallied smartly in response to a favorable January earnings statement which showed net income doubled over the same month last year. Although plans to refund the road's approaching maturities probably will not be completed for at least another month, the 4s of 1925 were actively accumulated today, scoring a gain of about 2 points, together with several other St. Paul issues.

Further increases in the price of both raw and refined sugar supplied the motive for increased buying of sugar company bonds, Punta Alegre 7s leading the way with a 1-point gain. Oil liens also turned upward in line with a rally in these stocks, although some selling previously had been inspired by indications that price advances were stimulating crude production. Other strong spots included Federal Metal 7s and Standard Gas 6 1-2s.

An unusually heavy over-subscription was reported for a $30,000,000 issue of United States Rubber Company 6 1-2 per cent notes, offered today. Bankers estimated that orders would total almost $100,000,000. Allotments of the notes, which run from one to 15 years, will be made on an average maturity basis.

MISS WHITESIDE SPEAKS AT MEET OF THEATER GUILD

Miss Mary Brent Whiteside, Atlanta poetess and playwright, addressed members of the Theater Guild of Atlanta, at their meeting Thursday night at the Henry Grady hotel speaking on her Easter play, "An Interlude," which will be produced by the guild.

Miss Adrienne Battey of New York city, was a guest at the meeting and paid a tribute to Channing Pollock's "The Fool," playing this week at the Lyric theater, and to seven members of the guild who are included in the cast.

Miss Battey urged the guild to utilize every original play possible, stating that creative work should be its real goal.

Casts, chosen from participants in the stunt night program, were completed and announcement will be made at next Thursday's meeting. Two one-act plays by George Ramey were read. They will be produced by the guild.

Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, who was to speak on plays produced by Oglethorpe university during the past five years, was called out of Atlanta Thursday afternoon. His address will be made at the next meeting.

CLARENCE HAVERTY SPEAKS TO MEMBERS OF JUNIOR CHAMBER

"Opportunities of Young Men," an address previously delivered before the Retail Merchants association, was the subject used by Clarence Haverty, the principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at 12:30 o'clock Thursday, in the Chamber of Commerce building.

The speaker pointed out in a concise way the chances for the men of the day in building up the city and making a success of life.

Several solos were rendered by Miss Virginia Futrelle, dramatic soprano, accompanied by B. F. Frazer, pianist of Howard theater. Alex Keese, director of the Howard orchestra also rendered a number of musical selections at the meeting.

The program was arranged by Abner Lichenstein, chairman of the program committee.

Colonel Napier Speaks At Tree-Planting Held Near Hartwell

Hartwell, Ga., February 26.—(Special.)—One of the most inspiring events ever occurring at the historic camp ground three miles west of Hartwell was featured today in celebration of the tree planting which has been in progress for several weeks. Rev. Horace S. Smith, presiding elder of the Elberton district acted as master of ceremonies.

Delegates from practically every Sunday school of the district were present.

Attorney General Geoge M. Napier was the orator of the occasion, and his interesting address was much enjoyed by the large audience.

The speaker's analogy of tree planting, growth and development with that of the children of our country was both interesting and inspiring.

The Day in Finance

BY R. L. BARNUM

An Increase of Between 75,000 and 100,000 Tons Is Preliminary Estimate of U. S. Steel's Unfilled Tonnage.

New York, February 26.—Stocks were in better demand today with prices higher, rails, oils, coppers, steels, motors, industrials all joining in the upward price movement. St. Paul's bonds and stocks were the features of the market. A number of very favorable railway earnings statements for January were made public.

Preliminary estimates of unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation for the month of February indicate an increase for the month of between 75,000 and 100,000 tons. February is usually a quiet month in the steel trade and this year it was especially so because of the heavy buying in previous months. An increase of almost any amount in new orders for this February over shipments would be considered very favorably by Wall street.

Secretary Mellon was quoted here today as saying that this government could do nothing to aid in restoring the British pound to a parity with the dollar, the return of the pound to par being dependent upon international trade conditions. Mr. Mellon does not agree with the views recently voiced by Reginald McKenna that the lower purchasing power of the dollar is largely responsible for the slowness of the pound to recover to par. Mr. Mellon points out that the purchasing power of the dollar and pound is practically the same, that commodity prices in this country have not advanced any more than those in England.

No one here questions what Mr. Mellon says about the government having nothing to do with aiding in the recovery of the pound to par. Wall street does feel, however, that the bankers of the country under the leadership of the federal reserve banks are manipulating money rates in this market for the purpose of helping along the recovery in sterling

But whatever bankers are doing there is no doubt but that there is a very large amount of idle funds in this country awaiting investment or employment. At the opening of business today there was a public offering of $30,000,000 United States Rubber 6 1-2 per cent 15-year serial bonds yielding between $5.20 and $6.02, according to date of maturity. Long before noon it was announced that all of the bonds had been sold.

Time money was quoted today at 3 3-4 per cent for 90 days, despite the fact that call loans renewed at 4 1-4 per cent and then advanced to 4 1-2 per cent. Heavy month-end requirements are responsible for the temporary advance in equal money rates.

An increase of 12,500 barrels was reported today in the average daily production of crude oil throughout the country for the week end, February 21. For weeks declines have been reported.

Sugar stocks were strong today on another advance in the price of refined sugar. Yesterday there was an advance in sugar prices. A party of prominent Wall street men have just returned from Cuba, reporting an improvement in the market conditions for raw sugar.

Atlantic Gulf reports for 1924, a surplus for the common stock, after allowing for preferred dividends equal to $4.51 a share. For 1923 there was an operating deficit of $1,628,000.

Baltimore & Ohio reports for January gross of $18,077,000 against $18,449,000 a year ago with net of $2,008,000 against $1,474,000.

Gasoline production throughout the country amounted in 1924 to 8,959,680,220 gallons, the department of interior at Washington announced today. This was 1,403,735,077 gallons above the previous high record which was made during 1923. Daily average production of gasoline last year was 24,480,001 gallons, an increase over 1923 of 3,778,781 gallons, imports of gasoline last year were 145,022,774 gallons, a decrease of 46,290,766. Domestic demand for gasoline last year was 7,780,625,085 gallons, an increase over 1923 of 1,095,589,805 to a new high record. Daily average domestic demand was 21,258,538 gallons, an increase over 1923 of 2,943,373. Stocks of gasoline on hand January 1 were 1,179,503,185 gallons, an increase over the corresponding period of the previous year of 104,603,535 gallons.

Washington dispatches report that the resolution offered in the senate for a federal trade commission investigation of higher gasoline prices will die March 4.

FAMOUS VIOLINIST TO GIVE CONCERT ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Mischa Elman, the violinist who is to give a recital Tuesday night at Wesley Memorial hall, has had a record-breaking season, according to an announcement from his management. The virtuoso has given 107 recitals within a period of 29 weeks, an average of more than three recitals a week.

Six of these recitals were in New York, four of them being in the great Hippodrome, where more than 5,000 persons heard the violinist at each concert. Three recitals in one week were given in Chicago, each filling the house to overflowing.

Mr. Elman will come to Atlanta near the close of a tour which extended from coast to coast. It is his first American season since his tour of Europe, where he made a splendid impression.

The sale of seats for the Elman recital begins tomorrow morning at the Phillips & Crew music store, and will continue through Tuesday. Russell Bridges, in charge of the Artists series of concerts, announces that holders of season tickets may exchange their auditorium coupons for Wesley Memorial hall seats by calling at the music store.

LIFE INSURANCE MEN CLOSE TWO-DAY MEET

A dinner at the Biltmore Thursday night brought to a close the conference of Georgia representatives of the American Central Life Insurance company, which has been in session for the past two days. Fifteen of the company's representatives in this state, together with their wives, were present.

Herbert M. Woollen, president of the American Central Life, was the main speaker at Thursday night's gathering. Together with Harry R. Wilson, vice president of the company, he has been making a tour of the entire United States. Mr. Woollen expressed himself as surprised and elated over conditions in the southeast, stating that he had found general conditions here to be better than in other sections he has visited.

JASCHA HEIFETZ TO GIVE RECITAL HERE MARCH 10

Heifetz has not played in Atlanta since 1917, the first year he came to the United States and electrified the whole country with his marvelous technic. Local music lovers express themselves as eager to hear him again.

Out-of-town requests for seats are already coming in, and tickets will be put on sale nearly a week in advance of the concert.

FEDERAL RESERVE RATE IS INCREASED

New York, February 26.—Directors of the Federal Reserve bank of New York today formally recognized the rising tendency of money rates, resulting from recent business expansion and the greater demand for funds in expanded securities trading, by raising the rediscount rate from 3 to 3 1-2 per cent. The 3 per cent rate, which was the lowest in the history of the federal reserve system as well as the lowest bank rate in the world, had been in effect since August 8, 1924. The new rate becomes effective tomorrow.

The first effects of the advance were felt in the foreign exchange market, where a break of more than a cent took place in sterling. The reaction in the British currency apparently was based on the theory that with the New York rate only 1-2 per cent below the London bank rate, the attraction of capital to Great Britain for higher interest returns would be lessened. Maintenance of lower rediscounts in the United States also had been expected to aid in the possible return of sterling to par.

Although the stock and bond markets are normally sensitive to any change in the rediscount rate, today's action had no direct effect on trading, since it was not announced until after the close of the sessions. Dealings, however, were somewhat restricted, as had been the case on almost every meeting date of the reserve bank directors this year.

The advance ordered today was the first upward revision of the rate since February 23, 1923, when a 4 1-2 per cent charge was established. This remained in effect until May 1, 1924, when the first of last year's series of reductions was initiated. Two subsequent cuts were necessary to bring the rediscount rate into alignment with open money market quotations, which have governed the reserve bank rate policy. Since the post-election stock market boom and trade expansion got under way late last year, however, Wall street has been looking for a higher rediscount rate.

One of the results of the increase probably will be an improvement in the local reserve bank's earning position. A decline in income last year was attributed partly to the lower interest levels prevailing.

The stiffening of money rates, which is reflected in the reserve bank's action, recently has held call funds around the 4 per cent level and has carried the quotation as high as 5 per cent. Bankers' acceptances also have shown a corresponding income.

In contrast to the advance in the New York bank rate, the German reichbank today lowered its rediscount rate from 10 to 9 per cent.

HOUSE APPROVES DICKINSON BILL

Washington, February 26.—By a vote of 284 to 95 the Dickinson cooperative marketing bill was passed today by the house.

The measure, approved as a substitute for the Haugen proposal reported by the agriculture committee as a bill carrying out the recommendation of the president's agricultural commission, goes to the senate with its fate problematical.

Passage of the bill came after it had ruled a tortuous parliamentary path. Offered by its author, Representative Dickinson, republican, Iowa, as an amendment for the text of the Haugen proposal, it was approved late yesterday by a standing vote of 138 to 78. The house today affirmed this action by a roll call vote of 203 to 175.

Another roll call was then demanded on the question of passing the Dickinson bill.

TABERNACLE TO HOLD ALL-DAY SERVICES

Revival meetings at the Baptist Tabernacle church, conducted by Rev. H. L. Stevens, of Canada, are being marked by unusual interest and increasing attendance. This week is being devoted to messages to church members, and the old-time "Tabernacle spirit." An all-day prayer meeting will be held today.

Thursday night Dr. Stevens preached an inspiring sermon on Consecration.

"The trouble today with our churches is that men are trying to do God's work in a half-hearted way which is an insult to Him," he said. "I am not fit to stand on this platform—and no man is fit to do any service for God who does not serve in the best way he can. This half-hearted, indifferent way of rendering service for the Lord is not acceptable unto Him.

"Lots of people go to church because it is their duty to go. I believe there is a higher principle upon which we can serve Him, and that is, because we love to do it—because the Spirit of God will lead us into it. For years I did not give a willing service—it was forced labor—I did not want to be conspicuous by remaining away from church. For that reason much of my service is going to be burned up. The one hindrance in the progress of a campaign is professed Christians who have a certain conception as to how the work should be done—and they will go so far and then stop. We should be willing to go with Him all the way.'

He is credited with the largest holdings in the Atlantic Ice company, which is the principal company engaged in icing the fruit crops of the southeastern states.

Mr. Boesel is one of the junior partners of Noyes & Jackson, of Chicago and New York, which firm, in conjunction with Bonner, Brooks & Co., recently made the first public offering of Kelvinator stock. It is understood in Wall street circles that Mr. Dobbs and Mr. Boesel are among the largest holders of the stock of the Savage Arms corporation, which also plans to enter the field of electrical refrigeration on a large scale.

New York, February 26.—Stock prices gave an impressive demonstration of strength in today's active market net gains of 1 to 3 1-2 points being quite common at the close. Some profit-taking took place in the final dealings when the call money rate was advanced to 4 1-2 per cent but the offerings were well absorbed.

Announcement that the New York federal reserve bank had increased its rediscount rate from 3 to 3 1-2 per cent was not made until after the market closed. Rumors of an increase were circulated throughout the financial district during the day as they have been on every Thursday for the last two months, but apparently were disregarded. On several previous occasions such rumors have caused the heavy selling of stocks on the theory that a higher rediscount rate would curb speculative activity in the securities markets.

Buying orders in today's market were well distributed with the best exhibitions of group strength being shown by the motor, sugar, public utility, oil and merchandising stocks.

The sudden outburst of activity in the automotive issues was based on reports of a sharp increase in sales during the last two weeks by the principal motor car distributors. Jordan touched a new high at 54 1-8, closing just below the top for a net gain of 3 1-2 points, and new peak prices also were attained by Willys-Overland common and preferred, Gardner Motors and the Maxwell and Packard issues.

Laclede Gas was the outstanding strong spot in the public utility group, soaring 12 points. Columbia Gas & Electric touched a new maximum at 51 1-2 and Peoples Gas & Electric and Brooklyn Union Gas closed at net gains of 1 1-2 and 1 point, respectively.

With the exception of American Can, which closed 2 1-2 points higher at 175 1-4, the so-called pivotal industrials showed little change on the day. U. S. Steel common fluctuated within a narrow range of 1 point, closing 1-4 higher at 124 3-4. Baldwin closed unchanged at 143 1-2 and Studebaker sold off 1-8 to 44 3-8.

Heavy accumulation of the oil shares took place despite the increase shown in crude oil production for the week ended February 21. The Pan-American issues led the advance, each closing more than 2 points higher.

Associated Dry Goods soared 12 1-2 points to a record top at 192 1-2 and then cancelled 3 points of its gain. Other outstanding strong spots included American Locomotive, Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, Savage Arms, Sears-Roebuck, United States Industrial Alcohol, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Allis Chalmers, American Car & Foundry, the Commercial Solvents issues, Crucible Steel, Mathieson Alkali, Remington Typewriter and Tidewater Oil, all of which closed from 2 to 3 1-2 points higher.

Rails failed to participate in the advance as extensively as the industrials, but exceptionally good buying was noted in New York, Ontario & Western, which closed more than 2 points higher at 25. St. Paul issues rallied about a point each on publication of an unusually favorable January earnings report.

Call money opened at 4 1-4 per cent and then advanced to 4 1-2. Time money rates were somewhat firmer, with little money offered below 4 per cent.

Foreign exchange rates held relatively steady until late in the day when the raising of the rediscount rate brought about heavy selling of sterling, which dropped more than a cent to below $4.74 1-2. French francs were quoted around 5.17 cents and the other continental currencies showed only nominal changes.

KELVINATOR GOES TO RECORD TOP

New York, February 26.—Chief speculative interest in today's curb market centered in the industrial shares which developed several strong spots on a large volume of trading.

Further accumulation took place in the electric refrigeration issues, Kelvinator advancing more than 2 points to a record top at 25 as compared with the recent subscription price of 16, while Car Lighting and Power touched the highest price in 3 years at 3 7-8.

Revival of activity in Chapin Sacks, which advanced 4 points above yesterday's low to a new high at 19 was based on reports that current earnings were running well ahead of last year. Other strong spots in the industrial group included Childs Company, Continental Baking B and Federated Metals certificates. Radio shares were heavy. Hazeltine broke four points to 31 1-2 and then rallied to 33 and most of the others closed fractionally lower.

Oil shares disregarded reports of an increase in crude production, South Penna advancing 2 1-2 points and Vacuum and Ohio one each, while most of the others showed moderate improvement. Gibson, one of the most active low priced issues, touched a record top at 3 1-2.

Public utilities were heavy, National Power and Light breaking 4 points and American Power and Light and Electric Bond and Share more than a point each.

New York, February 26.—Plans for the interconnection of power companies in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, North and South Carolina and Virginia are reported to be progressing and actual connections are expected by September 1, according to reports from the south. New York interests recently announced plans for a vast superpower system for that state to connect with similar system in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, indicating by these developments, it is said, that the superpower system talked of for the entire country is well under way.

Economies being introduced in the management of the Central Leather company will have a beneficial effect on the current year's business, according to Hiram Brown, president, who informed stockholders that $250,000 had been cut from the pay roll and that scrapping of the tanning plants would mean an annual savings of $150,000 in maintenance.

Operations of all subsidiaries of the United States Distributing corporation since February 10, have regained the profitable basis of last fall before the Pennsylvania Coal company strike and bad weather set in, according to President Taylor. Shipments of coal to Pattison and Bownes are proceeding normally and activities of the United States Barge corporation and the West New York Coal company, dependent in part on Pattison and Bownes, have increased this month.

BIG ADVANCE SEEN IN WHEAT MARKET

Chicago, February 26.—Wheat values went skyward today, with Europe purchasing in February United States grain to be shipped during July, August and September and for the most part yet under ground. Prices for the delivery jumped 8 1-8 cents a bushel and the wheat market as a whole closed buoyant, 4 1-2 to 8 1-8 cents net higher; May $1.92 3-4 to $1.95 and July $1.66 1-4 to $1.66 1-2. Corn finished 1 7-8 cents to 2 3-4 cents up, oats showing 5-8-cent to 1 1-8 cents gain, and provisions 7 cents to 17 cents advance.

It was estimated that 400,000 bushels of new 1925 domestic winter wheat was bought today for trans-Atlantic shipment after July 1, the end of the present crop year. Such European buying in this country at so early a date was said to be heretofore unparalleled, this being the time when foreign needs are usually supplied from the southern hemisphere. The fact that buying so far ahead was being done in the United States gave an immense stimulus to speculative demand, and the effect was further emphasized owing to unfavorable crop advises, notably from Kansas and Nebraska.

Big discounts at which July and September deliveries of wheat have heretofore been selling as compared with the May delivery proved too much of a temptation for speculative buyers to withstand. Despite heavy profit taking sales, the market rose persistently, and the close for all months was at the day's tip-top figures. In addition to the surprise over European buying of new wheat, export business today in wheat for nearby shipment was said to have been on a liberal scale, and there was talk current that reserve supplies of wheat in this country were at a point which deserved careful consideration.

High prices for hogs as well as for wheat were largely responsible for the upturn in corn and oats.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief?

Why cutting and operations fail?

Do you know the cause of piles is internal?

That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal tablet remedy discovered by L. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by Jacobs' Drug Stores and druggists generally, that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the internal cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sick sufferers, and saves the needless pain and expense of an operation. There is no reason why it should not do the same for you.—(adv.)

WARNING IS SENT TO CHATTANOOGA

Governor Clifford Walker has notified Chattanooga officials that if that city persists in its efforts to cut new streets through the property of the state of Georgia, consisting of the Western & Atlantic terminals, the state of Georgia will demand return of its right-of-way along Broad street as well as other property now used by the Tennessee city.

This warning was contained in a letter written by the governor about 15 days ago, he stated Thursday, but only became public when the story was published in one of the Chattanooga papers.

The governor explained that the properties referred to were given to Chattanooga many years ago as the consideration in a contract between that city and the state of Georgia. Chattanooga is now seeking to void this contract, it is charged, in order to cut more streets through the other Georgia railroad properties. "When Chattanooga was granted permission to use these properties," said the governor, "the city in return contracted to let Georgia's remaining property alone in the future. We have simply informed the Chattanooga authorities that we cannot be expected to live up to our portion of the agreement if the city violates its part."

The Western and Atlantic railroad, which belongs to the state of Georgia, at one time owned tracks running down the center of Broad street, Chattanooga's main business street, to the Tennessee river. The city, however, was allowed to tear up these tracks for several blocks, under an agreement by which it agreed for all time to let alone the railroad yards and terminals of the W. & A. In addition to this Broad street cession, it is said, other valuable properties owned by Georgia were ceded to the city for street purposes.

Chattanooga now is seeking to violate its portion of this agreement, Georgia charges, by running streets through the W. & A. yards. This step, it is stated, would ruin the properties for terminal purposes and force the railroad to build new terminals outside the city, at an estimated cost of more than $2,000,000.

SPECTATORS CHEER WATSON ACQUITTAL IN CAROLINA COURT

Charlotte, N. C., February 26.—Thomas I. Watson, of Greensboro, was acquitted by a jury here this afternoon of a charge of second-degree murder in connection with the slaying of Joseph E. McDonough, also of Greensboro, whom Watson is alleged to have found in a hotel room with his wife. The jury was out 43 minutes.

Loud cheering broke out in the packed court room when the verdict was announced, and it was with difficulty that Judge Henry P. Lane, presiding, restored quiet.

Mrs. Watson, wife of the defendant, broke into a half-shriek, half-sob of joy when the verdict was announced as she sat beside her father, R. M. Miller, of Texas. Then she rushed to her husband, threw her arms around him and wept on his shoulder. He displayed virtually no emotion.

Watson shot and killed McDonough in the presence of a police officer who went with him to a local hotel room to arrest McDonough and Mrs. Watson, who had registered at the hotel as husband and wife. When the two were identified by Watson, he fired a bullet into the heart of McDonough. He was arrested and has been in jail since. Mrs. Watson is scheduled to be tried tomorrow on an immoral conduct charge.

ACTRESS DEFENDS BROADWAY DRAMA AS WORK OF ART

New Haven, Conn., February 26. Jane Cowl, actress, interviewed by The Yale News today, gave her views on attempts to censor certain Broadway plays.

"Personally, I do not believe that either the public nor the newspapers will accomplish anything.

"I most assuredly do not believe in unbridled licenses, but it seems a great shame that because of a few truly salacious plays all drama dealing with subjects, which might have been termed immoral 30 years ago, should be swept away at one blow by a group of narrow-minded or unthinking people."

Miss Cowl said that she regarded the play, "Desire Under the Elms," as a "work of art."

"It is a great play and teaches a great moral lesson," she said. "How anyone, the least bit open-minded, can call such a play improper I cannot understand."

SURVEY OF PARKS IN SOUTH APPROVED BY LOWER HOUSE

Washington, February 26.—House sanction was given today to appropriation of $20,000 for the expenses of a commission in making a survey of proposed lands to be included in parks lying in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia, Smoky Mountains in North Carolina and Tennessee and the Mammoth Cave regions of Kentucky.

PUGILIST SENTENCED TO LIFE FOR MURDER

New Orleans, February 26.—Paul (Battling) Barrere, former pugilist, was sentenced to life imprisonment today upon his plea of guilty in connection with the murder of Valois Williamois, a waiter.

$15.00 Doll for $4.95

When the "Little Miss Georgia" doll Christmas campaign offer of The Atlanta Constitution closed, it was found that there were a few of these magnificent dolls left on hand. Rather than carry them over to another season, Constitution subscribers can obtain them while the supply lasts at $4.95, which is considerably less than cost.

"Little Miss Georgia" doll walks, talks, sleeps, winks, blinks, rolls her eyes, and does everything else that the premier doll of all times would be expected to do. She is non-breakable, elaborately outfitted; has real hair and is over 24 inches tall.

This doll has recently sold at retail throughout the country at from $12.50 to $15.00.

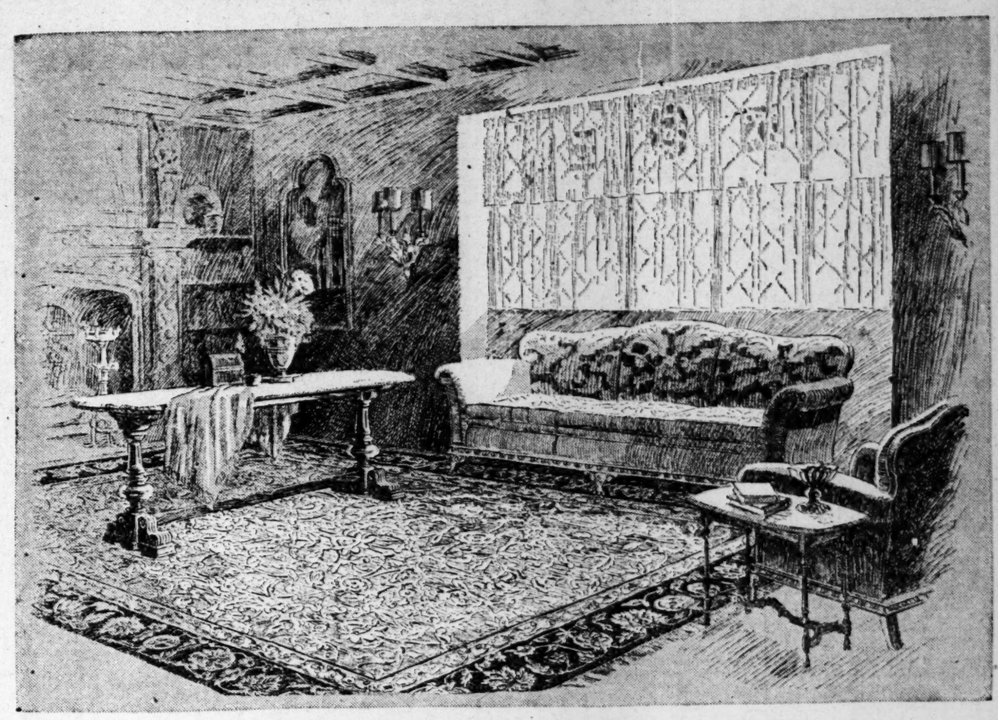

Atlanta and suburban Constitution subscribers and their friends can obtain the dolls at the city circulation department, second floor, Constitution building. Out-of-town orders filled by mail in first and second zones at same price, but beyond second zone 25c should be added up to fourth zone and beyond that 50c additional.

This will be a splendid gift to some little girl.

GYMKHANA WILL BE STAGED AT FT. M'PHERSON ON MARCH 8

Polo and Tea To Assemble Society at Fort McPherson

On Sunday, March 8, all roads will lead to Fort McPherson! On that day Atlanta society will mingle in colorful array with the smart, olive drab uniforms and shining leather of the army at a most interesting gymkhana and tea to be held at the fort at 2 o'clock. Arrangements for the unique occasion are being made by Major H. J. Keeley, as chairman, who extends the invitation to the public to attend.

The first event of the series will be especially unique and fun-provoking in that it will be a mule polo match between the enlisted men of Companies D., H., M. and the service company of the 22nd Infantry. The match will be played with sawed-off broom-handles and soccer balls. All the players riding army mules. A handsome liver cup will be awarded by Major Keeley to the player who wins the match.

Following the burlesque, the polo team of the governor's horse guards, of which Samuel Slicer is captain, will be ranged against the Fort McPherson team with Major Martin F. Shallenberger as captain.

After the game, Governor Clifford Walker, together with Colonel Dwight W. Ryther, commanding officer at Fort McPherson, will review the troops stationed at the fort. This inspiring and most unusual review will be held on the velvety, green parade ground with its banners and United States flags flying. It will be witnessed by an impressive assmblage amid the martial strains of the Twenty-Second Infantry band.

Tea will be served, following the review, at Company I, which is centrally located, the quarters of which will be decorated, policed and adorned in gala array. A group of prominent matrons of the army contingent will act as hostesses at the tea, their presence and exquisite costumes lending added charm and stimulus to the interesting event.

The occasion will smack of pre-war days when sporting events planned by the army invariably attracted the widest interest. It will afford an excellent opportunity for Atlantans to come into direct contact with the personnel of the military, whose breadth of experience and fascinating charm stand unquestioned.

Major Keeley assures special reservations and ample parking space for those who will motor out for the afternoon. Guards will be on hand to assist in parking cars and giving directions.

Mrs. Jack Lawless To Honor Daughter.

Mrs. Jack Lawless will entertain at a children's party this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at her home on Piedmont road in honor of her attractive young daughter, Jane, who will celebrate her third birthday.

Mrs. Lawless will be assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. W. J. Stoddard.

The party will be in the nature of a kindergarten affair and will provide much amusement for the little guests.

Thirty young friends of the little honor guest have been invited.

Agnes Scott Glee Club Will Give Concert.

The Agnes Scott College Glee club will give a benefit performance Saturday evening, February 28, the proceeds accruing therefrom to be devoted to completion of the new gymnasium with its improved apparatus and enlarged swimming pool.

The club this year has achieved a repertoire of diversified numbers sung with a finesse of tone and expression that gives it a place of credit among college organizations of a similar kind. Saturday evening's program will feature delightful solos, duets, quartettes and bright choruses, while novelty numbers will lend added interest and variety.

Mrs. Mary Dodge's "Minuet" as interpreted by Mary Freeman in full colonial costume will be beautifully graceful and quaint.

The "special chorus" will render some interesting numbers. Those composing the glee club are: Misses Helen Bates, Verna Clarke, Mary Brown, Mary Freeman, Grace Etheridge, Vera Hickman, Lillian Middlebrooks, Elizabeth Norfleet, Margaret Neal, Viola Smith, Ruth Pirkle, Gertrude Henry, Martha Johnston, Frances Bitzer, Annie Johnson, Ruth Drain, Mary Heath, Mamie Shaw, Mabel Dumas, Hazel Huff, Rosalie Wooten, Mary Riviere, Gennie Lyn DuVall, Edith Strickland, Mary Crenshaw, Ruth Thomas, Mrs. E. P. Daniels.

Miss Luckett Hostess To Delta Tau Delta.

Miss Edith Luckett, well known leading lady of the Lyric players, was hostess at an informal tea given for the members of the Georgia Tech chapter of Delta Tau Delta Friday afternoon, immediately following the matinee. The tea was held at the theater, and a number of the members of the fraternity attended.

Having finished a several weeks engagement here, Miss Luckett departs Sunday for Washington, D. C. Having many friends of this fraternity here and in other places in which she has played, she honored the fraternity by this tea as a farewell.

Mrs. Prendergrast Honors Young Son.

Master Winton Prendergrast was honor guest at the party given Wednesday afternoon by his mother, Mrs. J. J. Prendergrast, at her home on Rosedale road.

The occasion celebrated the sixth birthday of the little honor guest.

The lovely home was decorated with a profusion of yellow jonquils and white narcissi.

A clay modeling contest was held and prizes were awarded for the best rabbits.

Mrs. H. A. Jones and Mrs. J. H. Jordan assisted in entertaining.

Mrs. Poundstone Is Hostess to Witches.

Mrs. Odis Clay Poundstone will be hostess to the Witches' club Friday afternoon at her home on West Fifth street. The guest of honor will be Mrs. Poundstone's sister, Mrs. I. Randolph Banks, of Gainesville, who is her guest.

Mrs. Poundstone will be assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. James D. Carter, and Mrs. Charles U. Rogers, of Americus.

Daffodils will decorate the house throughout and the daffodil idea will

"Cho Cho," the Health Clown, Will Entertain Atlanta Children

"Cho Cho," the health clown, has come to town, and the children will gladly go to school while he is here, for they will be expecting him to show up at any minute to turn school into a circus.

All the world loves the circus and especially the clown, and this plan of giving the children the rules of health and exercise that they most need in this palatable form is one of the outstanding features in making useful knowledge attractive.

Mothers beg, plead and scold to make "Johnnie" wash his ears, but when he has seen "Cho Cho" go through the motions of washing ears and brushing teeth it is no longer a "bug-a-boo" but something that "Johnnie" likes to do because "Cho Cho" did it in such a funny way.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock "Cho Cho" will be at Commercial High and at 4 o'clock he will be at Georgia Tech basketball court, corner Third street and Techwood drive.

Mrs. Maurice Jacobus, chairman of child welfare work for the Council of Jewish Women, secured the services of "Cho Cho," the health clown, for the amusement and benefit of Atlanta children. Mrs. Neely, president of the council, interested her organization in defraying the expenses of "Cho Cho."

Assisting Mrs. Jacobus and Mrs. Neely are: Mrs. Robert Schwab, chairman of publicity; Mrs. Monie Ferst, information; Mrs. Henry Bowers, P.-T. A.; Mrs. Sinclair Jacobs, Mrs. Max Lowenstein, Mrs. Sam Schoen, Mrs. A. B. Greenfield, Mrs. F. M. Goldstein, Mrs. Max Greenfield, Mrs. Harry Gershon, Mrs. Bert Fox, Mrs. Arthur Harris, Mrs. L. F. Little Harriet Jones danced and sang several times, upon being encored so unanimously. Little Charlotte Hazelton, who made her first appearance before the boys at Base 48, sang two selections, which were roundly encored.

Mrs. Marcus J. Beck, vice president of the War Mothers, was introduced by Mrs. C. L. Anderson, and she made a short talk to the boys.

Every patient was served with ice cream and home-made cake. Dr. F. N. Gordon, the new commanding officer at the hospital, and his assistant, Dr. Carroll, both native Georgians, met the ladies and thanked them for their interest in the welfare of the patients and their regular visits to the hospital.

Miss Draper Gives Cooking School Plans.

In an interview with Miss Lucile Draper, instructor for the cooking school, which will be held at the Atlanta Woman's club next week, she gave out many interesting plans for the school and talked enthusiastically of the interest manifested in the great home demonstration week for the Woman's club.

Miss Draper has just arrived in the city, after having conducted successful schools in various cities over the country and she says of the school here next week: "The Gold Medal schools are famous in home economics circles for the quality of the instruction given in them as well as the interest they arouse in all communities. In the school to be held at the Atlanta Woman's club such subjects will be dealt with as preparation of salads and salad accompaniments, unusual desserts, cake and cake icings, and the planning and actual serving of meals as well as other instructions on the use of the electric range," etc.

Miss Draper, who will personally direct the school, is well known for her home economics work in the south. She is a graduate of Iowa State college at Ames, and has had a wide range of experience in demonstrational work. She is blessed with a thorough knowledge of her subject and a charming personality as well, which makes her a host of friends in every city where she conducts classes. At her classes at the Woman's club she will give instruction and demonstration of new and easier ways of preparing old dishes as well as in the preparation of new ones developed by the Gold Medal home service department.

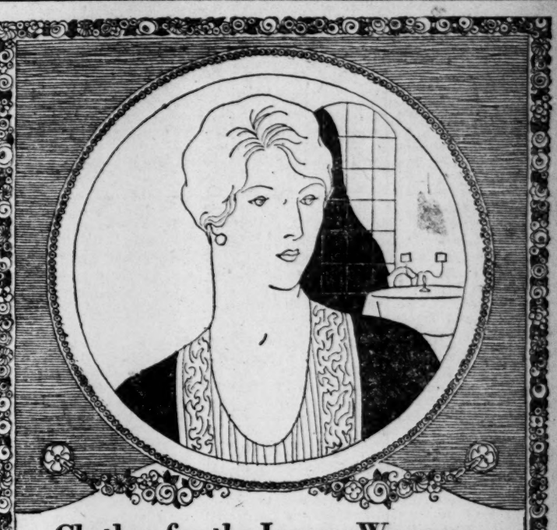

All of the work will be of an extremely practical nature. At the Gold Medal schools nothing is done or demonstrated which the average woman could not carry out in her own home. Throughout Miss Draper emphasizes the need of efficiency in the kitchen as much as in the factory or office, and the fact that there are right and wrong ways of doing things and that the right is always much easier. Recipes covering the preparation of the dishes demonstrated as well as many others will be given away at each class.

After each class Miss Draper conducts an informal session during which she delights in meeting her audience personally and talking over the household worries with them. Copies of recipes will be presented to all who attend and instructions how to use them.

Mrs. Tom Brook Makes Class Announcement.

Mrs. Tom Brook, chairman of the junior membership department of the Atlanta Woman's club, announces that the junior classes in art and handcraft, as directed by Mrs. Herbert Dean Oliver, have been postponed for several days and will not be held next Saturday as usual, on account of the absence of Mrs. Oliver from the city and her delay in returning at the appointed time.

Announcement will be made of the date of continuance of the classes, and those lessons missed will be made up as soon as it is possible for Mrs. Oliver to return to the city.

Miss Boardman Will Give Red Cross Talk.

Of peculiar interest to all Atlanta women will be the talk to be made by Miss Mabel T. Boardman, national secretary of the American Red Cross, on Monday afternoon, March 2, at 3 o'clock at the Biltmore hotel. The subject of her discussion, "Volunteer Work in Time of Peace," will be a vital one to all Red Cross workers.

The work of the Atlanta chapter, Red Cross, is carried on largely through volunteers. Joe McMillin, president of the chapter, and all the members of the executive board are volunteer workers. The volunteer work in Atlanta is done through three main channels, the production committee, the hospital entertainment committee and the Junior Red Cross.

The hospital entertainment committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. E. Sommerfield, takes as its special care the disabled soldiers in Base hospital No. 48. The members of this committee arrange entertainments for the patients, take home-made delicacies to their bedsides, provide free theater tickets, automobile rides and gifts at Christmas time and on other special occasions.

The production committee, headed by Mrs. W. E. Mansfield, has charge of the Red Cross linen chest. Through the work of church groups and other organized women's societies, this committee provides baby layettes, hospital garments, bandages and garments for disaster relief. In collaboration with the hospital entertainment committee it sends each year hundreds of Christmas boxes to men in the regular army.

The third branch of volunteer service in Atlanta, the Junior Red Cross, under Mrs. Louis J. Elsas, includes in its membership between 40 and 50 thousand school children of the city. Last year it was pronounced the most outstanding Junior Red Cross chapter in the country.

It is this type of work that will be discussed by Miss Boardman, who will make her appearance under the auspices of the Atlanta chapter Red Cross. After her talk, Miss Boardman will be assisted in receiving by a number of members of the executive board.

A most delightful supper was served at 6:30 o'clock, after which appropriate games were played. There was a Washington portrait contest, a familiar sayings game, a hatchet game and "Who Shakes My Cherry Tree?" Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the occasion. The Clover club had charge of the supper, with the Business Women's club assisting and serving; Old Glory club was responsible for the decorations and the S. I. S. "A Depot Farce" Will Be Played At Joel C. Harris

The farce, "A Depot Lunch Counter," which will be staged at the Joel Chandler Harris school tonight at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the ways and means committee of the Joseph E. Brown Parent-Teacher association, is said to be, by those who saw the final rehearsal on Wednesday night, one of the most comical and interesting plays ever given in the city.

The scene of the play is "A Depot Lunch Counter," in "Anyville," with the following characters one would naturally expect to find hanging around a depot awaiting the departure of their train: "Flora Flop," "Conductor," "Mr. Pippin," "Hist," "Rube," "U. B. Quick," "Biles," "Hardly Hear," "Mrs. I Can," "Mr. I. Gotit," "Mr. Kronspippel," "Mrs. Slaimskey," "Mrs. Woodju Believeit," "Tiny Belerit," and "Porter."

The play is most humorous in its portrayal of every-day happenings around a depot and the players make the different characters wonderfully true to life.

Those assuming the characters are: Miss Blanch Walden, H. E. Shindlebower, Gus Johnson, C. A. Bagnell, W. A. Monk, Mrs. Gus Johnson, C. T. Bailey, P. T. Beavers, Mrs. Montgomery, R. A. Moreland, J. S. Boardman., Mrs. H. E. Shindlebower, Mrs. W. L. McCalley, Jr., Grady Cook and Hubert Anderson.

"You do not appear to be making your old efforts to lead your party." "No," said Senator Sorghum. "These days, a party goes right ahead and the best I'm trying to do just now is to step along and not be left out of the procession."—Washington Star.

Half the world is half asleep

Many people are considered lazy when they are really suffering from the world's most universal disease—constipation. It is a disease which robs you of your energy, your interest, your desire to do things. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure and safe relief from this disease.

"Dead tired by 10 in the morning"

SHOULD the morning housework tire a woman out? No! But how many women are all in, ready to sag, when it is finished. Nine times out of ten, this unnatural weariness is caused by constipation.

By ridding the body of this dread disease you bring back the energy of perfect health. Thousands have already found the one safe, sure way to rid themselves permanently of constipation—have found the glorious good health which had seemed lost to them forever—found it in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Here is the reason Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings sure results even in chronic cases. Bran—ALL-BRAN—goes completely through the system without a change of fiber. It is what doctors call a bulk food—a necessary aid to regular elimination.

Retaining its fiber, it stimulates the flow of digestive juices, both in the stomach and in the intestine. It absorbs and carries through the intestinal tract a great amount of moisture. Through the length of its journey, it sweeps and cleans thoroughly. It rouses a sluggish intestine to natural, healthy action.

Contrast this natural action with the irritating effect of habit-forming drugs and pills, which lose their effectiveness unless the dose is increased constantly.

Eat at least two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day—in chronic cases, with every meal. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or your grocer returns the purchase price. It is never necessary to increase the amount you first find effective. Eat it with milk or cream; sprinkled over other cereals; cooked with hot cereals; in soups, and in the recipes given on every package. You'll like it with fruit too.

KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN

To be effective, bran fiber must go through the various digestive processes without submitting to any of them. It must pass through the entire alimentary tract without its form being changed.

What happens when a bran food is eaten?

After the saliva has acted upon it, it passes through the stomach and into the intestines, where every part which is not fiber is absorbed.

In ALL-BRAN the quantity of fiber is so great that it furnishes bulk enough to prevent and relieve constipation.

In a part-bran food, the quantity of fiber is so small that there is only a puny amount to do a herculean task.

ALL-BRAN brings sure results. Demand it.

Only ALL-BRAN can bring sure results. Products which are only part bran are doubtful. They bring only partial results, or none at all. Doctors recommend Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. They know it brings results. So don't take chances—you can't afford to take chances with constipation.

Kellogg's is the original and only ALL-BRAN. You know what it will do. Go to your grocer and buy a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is also served in leading hotels and restaurants. Begin eating it today.

These Spring Coats

If evidence be needed, observe these coats. A buying office in New York, primed on hair triggers, picked them off last week. Read us aright. Picked them off, instead of bagging them in droves or ordering them by the ton. Therefore, even though the price is $21.66, one is certain of that thing devoutly to be wished for in a coat—distinction—the assurance that one will not meet oneself turning the corners. The value is in them, obvious as noon. It appears in the fabrics and reappears in the tailoring. The point of it all is, the Reorganized High's has buying facilities in New York unapproached anywhere in the Southeast!

Slimness and lightness characterize the styles. The lines of the reed developed in bright sunlight materials—flannel, twill and charmaine with linings of satin.

And the colors—how glad, after drab winter—titians, greens, blues and the pastels. Not to mention gray and blue.

One-Head Traffic System, One-Man Street Cars Seen As Atlanta Innovations

Sims and McLendon Favor These Changes; Peachtree-Whitehall Boulevard Probable.

BY KENNETH SAPP
(Special Staff Correspondent.)

New Orleans, La., February 26.—(Special.)—Placing of Atlanta's entire transportation systems under one head; installation of one-man street cars; creation of bus lines to be operated in coordination with the street railway system; elimination of street cars on Peachtree and Whitehall streets from Broad to Mitchell; general rerouting of street car lines, and elimination of many unnecessary stops are almost certain to be the major recommendations of the special traffic committee of city council, which with Mayor Walter A. Sims, today completed a four-day inspection tour of traffic and transportation conditions of Houston and New Orleans.

"Things that have been shown up on this trip have convinced me that the entire transportation system should be under one head." Mayor Sims stated Thursday. "Houston's system of street cars and coordinated bus lines works without a hitch, and I am in favor of granting the Georgia Railway and Power company authority to establish coach lines to sections of the city not served by street cars on condition that they give interchangeable transfers free.

"In Houston, the fare is seven cents for both bus and cars, and free transfers on either are accepted on the other. The system, according to our own observation, together with assurance of W. E. Wood, general manager of the street railway company of Houston, has proven entirely sucessful. I am opposed to permitting any form of transportation in Atlanta which is not operated by one head, but I do think that the city should have a reasonable amount of control over that one system.

"Another thing which should be done in Atlanta is taking all street car lines off Peachtree and Whitehall streets in the business district, where traffic always is congested. Following recommendations made by the John A. Beeler organization, of New York city, Houston ordered all car tracks off Main street, the principal traffic artery through the business district, and the result cannot be described in glowing enough terms.

"Briefly barring of cars on Main stret there has brought about a rise in property values all along the street, and also has resulted in construction of a number of large new buildings. If Atlanta follows the Beeler plan and orders elimination of car tracks on Peachtree and Whitehall, we should make those streets traffic boulevards for their entire length. Main street is Houston's only traffic boulevard, but that, with the synchronized system of traffic signal lights, provides for a swift, even flow of traffic.

"Atlanta could take up car tracks on Peachtree and Whitehall very easily, and send the cars down Broad Forsyth and Pryor streets. As soon as Broad street is extended through to Whitehall, the cars can cut off Peachtree at Broad and go down that street, returning to Whitehall at Cooper street. Another important step recommended by Mr. Beeler, and one which should be adopted, is opening of a new traffic artery by cutting a street through from the intersection of Pryor street and Auburn avenue to Piedmont avenue and Ellis street. Houston already has cut through such a street, Polk avenue; and New Orleans has started construction of the North Rampart-St. Claude cut-off, which is very similar to the proposed Atlanta project.

Success In Houston.

"The entire Beeler plan appears to have been an unqualified success in Houston and I see no reason why a majority of his suggestions should not be adopted in Atlanta. The first and most important civic improvement, of course, is erection of new viaducts across the railroad tracks at Central avenue and Pryor street, and that should be followed by cutting through the new street.

"New Orleans has not put into effect all recommendations made by the Beeler organization here, but they are being inaugurated gradually, and officials here claim that they have been successful. One-way traffic throughout the downtown district, one of the most important results of the Beeler survey, is not needed in Atlanta, as our streets are of sufficient width for traffic to go in both directions. However, elimination of much duplicate trackage here has saved a large amount of both money and confusion, and has resulted satisfactorily as far as both the public and the street railway company are concerned.

"The one-way traffic law applies to street cars as well as vehicles, and has resulted in abandonment of one set of tracks on each of the streets within that zone." Alderman J. L. McLendon, with other members of the committee, hold the same views as the mayor regarding Atlanta's situation.

One-Man Cars.

"In addition to those things," Mr. McLendon said, "I think that we certainly should have one-man cars. Our trip to Houston showed that one-man cars can be operated successfully and economically without costing any man his position, and if they will mean an amplification of our street car service, I am for them."

Mr. Wood explained Wednesday that the one-man cars are not put into service on any line unless cars are added to that line, which means that no motorman or conductor loses his position through the change. That type of car must be inaugurated gradually, Mr. Wood said, and it is estimated that it would require approximately four years to change all of Atlanta's cars.

The Atlanta party's tour was concluded today with a further study of New Orleans transportation conditions and a visit to this city's unique water and sewer departments. As almost all of New Orleans is below sea level, obtaining of good water and disposal of sewage present two of the city's hardest problems. The delegation left New Orleans at 5 o'clock on the final leg of their return journey, and are scheduled to arrive in Atlanta at 7:40 o'clock Friday morning.

ADMIRAL DEFENDS REPORT OF BOARD

Washington, February 26.—The house aircraft committee, resuming its investigation today as though it had not been abruptly halted Saturday examined Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, head of the navy general board, and Clifford A. Tinker, author of a recent magazine article charging congress with selling 34 American lives for $412 each in pursuit of economy, and requested Secretary Weeks to reappear for examination.

After hearing Mr. Tinker, who, among other statements, criticized testimony of Brigadier General Mitchell, assistant army air chief, and vigorous contender for unification of the government's air arms, the committee expunged from its records all of his assertions not bearing on the magazine article, and went on record as denouncing it as "inaccurate, unfounded and untrue."

Mr. Weeks probably will be asked to appear Saturday instead of tomorrow, as first planned, because of the large number of witnesses summoned for tomorrow, including Rear Admiral Sims, retired.

In an executive session, the committee voted to accept the war secretary's invitation to visit Fortress Monroe, Virginia, for a demonstration of anti-aircraft fire against targets towed by airplanes, but asked that the date be arranged about the middle of March instead of March 6, as tentatively fixed by the war department.

The Real Cause of Most Bad Complexions

It is a stern fact that no truly beautiful complexion ever came out of jars or bottles; the longer one uses cosmetics the worse the complexion becomes. Skin, to be healthy, must breathe. It also must expel, through the pores, its share of the body's effete material. Creams and powders clog the pores, interfering both with elimination and breathing. If more women understood this, there would be fewer self-ruined complexions. If they would use ordinary mercolized wax instead of cosmetics, they would have natural, healthy complexions. This remarkable substance actually absorbs a bad skin, also unclogging the pores. Result: The fresher, younger underskin is permitted to breathe and to show itself. An exquisite new complexion gradually peeps out, one free from any appearance of artificiality. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggist's and try it. Apply at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning (tag).

Florida Solon Sings Swan Song After 10 Terms

Washington, February 26.—In a "swan song" today in the house, Representative Clark, democrat, Florida, declared he was retiring from the congress, after 10 consecutive terms, with a realization that the pay of public officials is too meager to enable them to make proper provisions for old age.

Mr. Clark was applauded repeatedly as he recalled his house associates of former days and declared that although he could have made many times what he has had he remained in private life, he had no regrets over dedicating his life to public service.

Declaring he was going back to the "best state in the union," he urged members of the house to visit the "land of sunshine, fruit and flowers."

Both Representative Longworth, the republican leader, and Representative Garrett, the democratic leader, made brief speeches praising Mr. Clark for his service in the house.

A letter signed by Mrs. Walter Grace, state president U. D. C., and Mrs. John A. MAY TRY TO CODIFY ALL AMERICAN LAWS

Chicago, February 26.—A maze of conflicting and varying state laws, became the subject of a special clinic of national standing, when the several sections and committee members of the conference of commissioners on uniform laws met here today.

Uniform laws for the forming of corporations, uniform title acts, uniform laws for trading and commerce and a uniform sales act were among the matters discussed while a plan to codify all American laws in collaboration with the Carnegie institute was also considered.

Nathan William MacChesney, president of the conference, referred to the committee on scope and program the question of whether the conference should consider drafting a uniform act with a view to having the states recede from the domain of income taxes and taxation, and the federal government recede from its position of taxing inheritances.

The committee reported through Judge William S. Hargest, of Pennsylvania, that this is a subject which the conference should consider and recommended that the president refer the matter to an appropriate committee to prepare and draft a tentative act for consideration of the conference at its next annual meeting to be held in Detroit, August 25 to 31.

Under the rules of the national conference, a proposed statute may not be urged on the various states, the governors of which appoint the members of the conference, until it has been debated for two years.

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT ROBERTS

FOR TIRED FEET.

Girls whose work keeps them on their feet a great deal, and housewives who do not happen to live in one of these two-by-four affairs we have learned to regard as the modern home, write me daily of the terrible aches in their feet and ankles after the day's work is only partly done.

My very first bit of advice is for them to wear the proper sort of soft, low-heeled shoes. Sport shoes that are of good quality so the leather is not harsh are the best, for they generally have wide toes and always low heels. Besides, they are wider than a similarly marked width in dressy shoes; that is, double A in sports shoes is about equal to A in fancy ones, etc.

The chief thing is the low heel. Feet are not accustomed to being raised more than an inch from the floor, even feet that have been put into high-heeled shoes for years. Certain delicate bones are misplaced, the result is one form or another of falling arches, aches, pains and backaches, which seem to have nothing to do with the feet but which are caused by bad shoes. The weight of the body must go on the ball of the foot, an inch heel will allow this, even force it, in some cases where the body is wrongly held so the weight barefooted would be on the heels.

No one can stand for hours a day without being under a strain. It is wrong to increase this strain by standing, not on the two feet made to bear the weight, but on ten weak toes and a slanting, helpless set of delicate bones that would ordinarily form two firm arches of the feet. Every bone and every nerve in the body must respond to this strain, must react to it, so anything from a simple headache to what the physicians lump under the general title of internal troubles, are the result.

Bathe the feet in hot water or rub them with a little lemon to rest them after a long strain, and pour talcum powder into the evening shoes when you change from your day-time working ones.

Bobby.—A long face needs more hair on the sides, which is an easy readjustment in your case as it conforms exactly with the present mode. If there is a tendency to grow loose hairs on the neck below the hair line, you will have to keep them clipped close to the skin.

It requires a classic type of features to stand having the hair parted in the middle and brushed to lie flat. Bobbed hair will need more shampooing than long hair as it is apt to get oily, and packs to the head in a week or more. This is partly due to the very snug hats we are wearing at present.

Tomorrow—Some "Tips."

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question.—The Editor.

LAST APPROPRIATION BILL SENT TO SENATE

Washington, February 26.—The house today passed and sent to the senate the last deficiency appropriation bill, carrying $56,000,000.

An amendment to increase the salary of the president's secretary from $7,500 to $10,000 a year was eliminate by a viva voce vote before the final action was taken. This was done at the request of Representative Sanders, republican, Indiana, who will hold the position after March 4.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

XVII.—THE YACHT'S OWNER APPEARS.

Nick and I wandered about the yacht as if we had owned it, instead of being mere visitors. It was the last word in luxury; even the smallest appointments were perfect. I would feel to own such a beautiful boat and cruising in it wherever one wished, away from New York's bitter weather.

And then, as we returned to the main cabin, a door opened suddenly, one that led to the deck.

In it stood my host of the previous evening, Mr. Jordan, with a pretty, overdressed girl at his side.

For a moment I was thunder-struck as was he. Then I regained my self control and stepped forward, just as he did the same.

"Mrs. Larrabee," he exclaimed, "how delighful to have you for my guest again so soon."

"Yes. Or perhaps you didn't know that this is my yacht."

I could see that the situation amused him and determined that he would not see how ill at ease I was.

"No, I didn't," I replied, and introduced Nick, who was far more embarrassed than I. I added that Nick had helped to design the yacht, and had wanted me to see it.

"Ah, yes." Jordan looked at him with narrowed eyes; I realized that he was trying to find out just what Nick and I meant to each other.

He turned at last to the girl who was still standing in the doorway and casually introduced her. She tried to conceal her embarrassment by being awfully patronizing to me, but I didn't mind.

"It's a pretty boat, isn't it," she remarked, glancing about her. "I am awfully glad to see it—I've been promised a cruise on it—" with a coy glance at Jordan, who glared at her by way of reply.

"How delightful that will be," I murmured. "Where are you going?"

"Oh, the Mediterranean, I guess—Egypt and India and all that," she replied, airily indifferent to a little matter like geography.

"Yes, I've been talking of taking a crowd on this jaunt; how'd you like to come along?" Jordan asked me. Nick frowned. I could see that he didn't like Jordan and wondered how I happened to know the man.

"That would be wonderful," I answered promptly. "Is this the trip Nathalie was talking about yesterday?"

"Nathalie?" At my mention of his wife's name he flushed scarlet. "Do you mean—"

"Yes, of course; I met her at tea

In the door stood Mr. Jordan with a girl.

yesterday, with the handsomest man in town in tow," I replied; after all, if I was going to help his wife win him back, a fib or two wouldn't matter. And I knew that he was the sort of man who takes more interest in a woman if he thinks other men are attracted to her.

"Well, I—er—yes, this is the same trip," he answered slowly.

"Of course I'd love to come if she's going," I went on. "She'd be a marvelous travelling companion. I like to just sit and look at her—don't you think she's beautiful" I asked the girl. "Mrs. Jordan, I mean."

"I don't know her," she answered. Her voice turned sulky. "We've never met."

"Oh, you've missed a great deal," I insisted. "That reminds me—you and I really needn't have been introduced—didn't we meet at Mr. Jordan's pary last night?"

I knew that he hadn't, of course.

This girl was even more frankly second rate than Jordan's guests had been.

She was furious, not only with me, but with him also.

"I didn't even know he had a party," she cried, and turned to him. "Why didn't you ask me? You have such wonderful parties—you said I could come to the next one—"

She went storming on, though he tried frantically to stop her. Finally he took her by the arm and turned sharply toward a door leading to the deck.

"I think we'll say goodnight, Mr. Jordan," I called after him sweetly. "Your yacht is beautiful—I'm delighted with this glimpse of it."

He looked back at me disguestedly. I knew that he was furious with me for having spoiled his evening and for having shown up his companion so plainly. I didn't care.

But as Nick and I left the ship, after having given Jordan and the girl plenty of time to get away, I wondered why I was taking so much trouble with other people's affairs. Nick and his wife, Jordan and his—really, I told myself, it might be just as well if I began to look after my own affairs a bit.

Tomorrow—Another Tangle.

HIRED TO MURDER HUSBAND AND WIFE, SLEUTH CONFESSES

San Francisco, February 26.—Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson announced today that Ralph King, a former patrolman of Honolulu and now a private detective here, was in jail and had confessed that he had been employed for $3,500 to kill Fred Hotaling, heir to a fortune, and Mrs. Hotaling, Fred's wife.

According to Matheson, King said he in turn had hired two men to kill Hotaling and Mrs. Hotaling and that the men apparently had at the last minute abandoned any act of violence and resorted to the use of poisoned milk.

King was quoted as saying he was a close friend of a San Francisco millionaire. The plot against Hotaling and Mrs. Hotaling was revealed two weeks ago when Hotaling turned over to the board of health the contents of a bottle of milk which had been left on a porch of the Hotaling home.

Analysis showed that the milk contained poison.

Burned Evidence

By MRS. WILSON WOODROW

BLUE RIBBON FICTION Reg. U. S. Patent Office.

SYNOPSIS.

The story is being told by young Dandridge, junior member of a New York firm of lawyers. Old Jerome Fosdick, one of the richest clients of the firm, invites Dandridge to lunch at his home. The young lawyer is interested in the old man's granddaughter, Sara, a beautiful young society woman, who is Fosdick's heir. Fosdick tells Dandridge that Sara's father, his only son, had spent many years in South America, where he died. After his death a South American woman appeared at the Fosdick home with baby Sara, whose mother, the nurse said, had died soon after the baby's father. Fosdick had investigated the woman's story and found it to be true.

After luncheon Madam Adelbron, a famous psychic, calls on Fosdick and tells him she had been an intimate friend of Sara's mother, in Buenos Aires when Sara was an infant and that when she had had to leave the city on a theatrical tour she had left with Sara's mother all her jewels and a large sum of money. When she returned to Buenos Aires Estrella Fosdick was dead and her property had disappeared. She has just succeeded in tracing them, and she demands that Jerome Fosdick return her jewels and the money with interest. A few days later the old man is found dead in his automobile. The case is in the hands of Police Inspector Curran. Dandridge tells him about Madam Adelbron's demands on Fosdick, and informs him that the medium had carried with her a list of jewels that had belonged to Sara's mother and written in the latter's handwriting, identical to a list in Sara's possession. Before Dandridge is able to have Mr. Fosdick's safe, which contains important letters, opened, it is mysteriously drilled and rifled. Curran and Dandridge hasten over to the Fosdick house and find that the letters are missing. The inspector questions Herbert, curator of the Fosdick museum, and the old man's secretary, Miss O'Connor. They both have good alibis. Herbert claims that he spent the hours between 6 and 11 at the house of Professor Markham, but admits that he allowed a Professor Quigley, known to him slightly, to remain in the museum alone during the afternoon.

Sara Fosdick contrives to have Madam Adelbron invited to give readings at a bazaar for one of her charities. She also arranges to have a crystal gazer present. Curran attends the bazaar, and Adelbron gives him reading without recognizing him. He stirs her professional jealousy by praising the work of the unknown crystal gazer, and she decides to visit the latter's tent. The crystal gazer is Sara, but Adelbron fails to recognize her.

INSTALLMENT XXIII.

ACHISON MAKES HIS FIRST MOVE.

Sara's eyes, cool as light on steel, looked into mine; her red, passionate mouth smiled at me; her voice, with the color of sherry in the sun one moment and decisive as a saber stroke the next, rang in my ears. Her moods! I could watch with a rising pulse that vital energy which found its outlet in sheer daring and never quailed at the ultimate hazard; but I had no will to withstand her soft appeal.

Her grandfather may have been able to chart the course of her wayward will; but no one else. And I even less than others. To me she was always mystifying, always an enigma. Perhaps, realizing how muddled were my wits where she was concerned, she took a perverse delight in bewildering me. When even Curran recognized the nature of my feeling toward her, Sara herself must long ago have divined it—perhaps the first time we met, on New Year's eve.

I had to be in surrogate's court until after 12; but I must have argued the motions I had up with some subconscious intelligence, for my conscious mind was wholly engrossed with the problem of Sara. And free finally to leave the courtroom, I hurried at once to the office, framing a pretext on the way that would permit me to call her up, if only to hear the sound of her voice.

But when I started to give the number the telephone girl interrupted to tell me that Mr. Achison's office was on the wire and wanted to speak to me.

Achison's office! Dismay gripped me. A communication from that source could be concerned only with the Adelbron claim against Sara Fosdick.

"Mr. Dandridge? This is Mr. Achison's secretary speaking. I have tried to get in touch with you several times this morning. Mr. Achison is attending a picture sale, and so could not call you himself, but he instructed me to ask you if you will forgive the short notice and dine with him in his apartment at half after 7 this evening."

I succeeded in keeping the amazement out of my voice and, after a moment's hesitation, accepted.

Achison and I had never met, although whenever he was trying a case I always made it a point, if possible, to be in court. It was infinitely more diverting to me than the theater. I had often envied actors looking on at a play; they saw so many things that escaped me—the way effects were secured, a thousand nuisances. But, being a brother of the law, I could appreciate Achison's whole bag of tricks. He was the Houdini of the bar, a magician whose resourcefulness and technique were unrivaled.

And now here was the famous—or infamous, if you choose—Achison tossing a dinner invitation to an obscure member of the profession. A field marshal welcoming a mere corporal to his table! And why? There was no reason that I could think of, unless it was that I had somehow become a magnet for all the adventures there were in the world. Having thoughtlessly accepted one, all the other bizarre happenings, not already dated up, came flocking to me.

Still that wasn't a wholly satisfactory explanation; so I put on my hat, telephoned Curran, and a few minutes later met him for luncheon.

Curran, always methodical, greeted me casually and then busied himself with the menu card, studying it as thoughtfully as if he were a gourmet composing a symphonic banquet. Finally he ordered ham and eggs. But it was not until our food was put before us and the waiter had departed that he consented to put his mind on my reasons for seeing him.

"Well?" he said, with one of those straight, sharp glances of his.

I told him.

"I don't like it—at all—at all," he said, and then devoted himself to his meal in silence. He did not speak again until he had pushed his plate aside and, lighting a cigar, began decorating the menu card with his polygons.

"Achison has those letters," he muttered, ruminatively. "That's the answer, for a bet. But how did he get them? As I told you, we've rounded up the missionary; boys brought him in last night, and I've had a session with him this morning. He's got the usual alibi, of course, but it isn't any too strong. You see, the old fox had a bit of hard luck; he ran smack into Detective Herlihy not two blocks from the Fosdick house."

"But that practically stamps him as Professor Quigley!" I exclaimed. "Have you given Herbert a chance to identify him yet?"

"I have not," he said. "I'm not tipping off to Herbert that we have the missionary until I know better where to place him. I want first to see what I can get out of the missionary."

"Anyhow"—he twisted his cigar over to the other corner of his mouth—"that's not the point I'm driving at. This unexpected run-in with Herlihy naturally made the missionary watch his step. He couldn't afford to risk a funny move. As a matter of fact, he maneuvered Herlihy into accompanying him to Gotham hospital, where, under the plea of having a pain in his chest, he was admitted to one of the wards and put to bed. And he didn't stir out of it, nor have any visitors, so the hospital attendants say, until we took him away last night.

"How, then," he frowned, "could he have got the letters to Achison? He couldn't; meeting up with Herlihy so quick, he didn't have a chance. The only way I can figure it, the missionary was simply employed to open the safe; some one else was on hand to get the letters and pass them on."

"Herbert." I nodded.

"But Herbert's time is pretty well accounted for," he reminded me. "He was picked up the minute he left the house, and followed to the Markhams. No; it begins now to look more as if O'Connor was the one. That is," he qualified, "if Achison really has the letters. And maybe we're taking too much for granted on that score. Maybe it's something else he wants to talk to you about, some other case you're in."

"I don't think so. We're in different lines entirely."

"Well, it's no use speculating until we have more to reckon on. You're going, aren't you?"

"Yes," dubiously, "unless——"

"O, go, by all means," he urged. "And if anything is staged, let me know first thing in the morning."

So, as we had nothing further to discuss, we separated, and I went back to the office to give the rest of the afternoon to an elderly client who wanted to be relieved of a hobble he had got into, but couldn't be induced to tell the truth.

My appointment was temporarily out of by mind, but curiously took possession of me again when I went home to dress, and was still strong by the time I reached Achison's apartment.

I was to learn later, when I knew Achison and his ways better, what a signal honor had been conferred on me. He usually entertained at one of his clubs or in a restaurant, especially when he was prepared to discuss a legal or a business matter.

I knew he was a collector of beautiful things, and my naive ignorance of the man supposed that his home would have much the same museum effect as Jerome Fosdick's. Nothing could have been further from the fact. Here there were no crashing chords, nothing that stood out; everything was blended and harmonious.

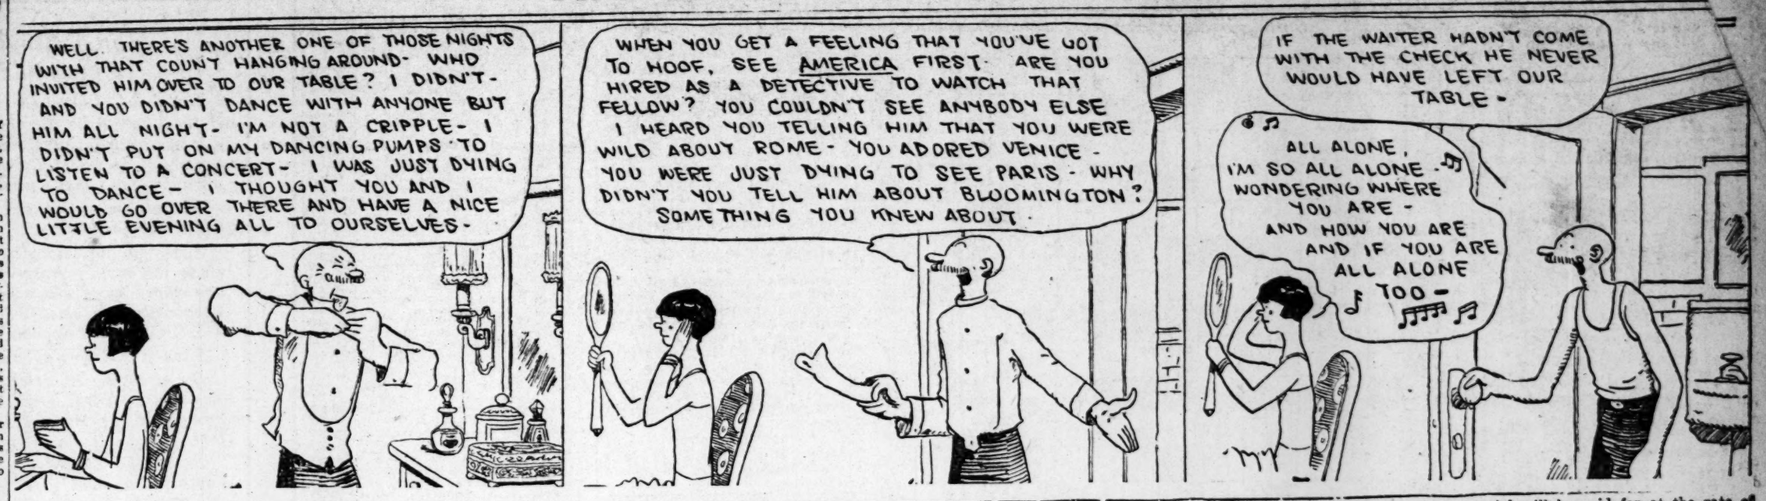

Achison came in at once. Having studied him only in the courtroom, I soon discovered I had formed an inadequate idea of the range of his talents. As a great actor he had a different role for every occasion; and although since then I have seen him cast himself for many parts, I have always preferred the one he played that evening within his own four walls. It was certainly most winning and disarming.

His pose—if it was one—was that of an unaffected, delightful man of the world, with a genuine gift for camaraderie and a true sense of humor; a host who took his duties so easily that the guest was only aware that everything contributed to his ease and pleasure.

The dinner! Let me not pass too lightly over that. Yet I am afraid I was not quite up to it—too crude and unsophisticated to give it proper appreciation.

MISS SHEBA.

By Wallace M. Bayliss.

The women try to make the world believe
That they are chased by men, but by your leave
I'll say they do the chasing as of yore;
Of course that will make some of them quite sore,
But turn to history, its pages scan
And you will find, since first the world began,
Authentic instances gets lots of space;
For one, let's take the Queen of Sheba's case.
She lived as happy as the trooloo bird.
And would have died that way had not the word
Been carried to her that there lived a man
Who was the wisest one since Time began.
They told her Solomon had never failed
To answer any question that assailed.
From that time on she never slept a wink,
But sat up nights and did her best to think
Of questions she could ask to stick that guy.
(All women are like that; I wonder why).
At length she searched him out—that is, she chased;
And asked her questions with unseemly haste,
With much chagrin she heard him answer all;
The Good Book says he made her feel quite small.
This much we know—She heard; she chased; she lost.
Once in a while we men, so sadly bossed,
Avoid the deadly female, danger fraught;
But most of us, when chased, are quickly caught.

SEALED BOTTLES REQUIRED IN CITY UNDER MILK LAW

Soda fountains, restaurants and other places of business in the city where milk is served must have their business so arranged that all parts of the new milk ordinance are strictly obeyed by or before March 15 or be subject to penalties provided for violation of the ordinance, according to Councilman W. E. Saunders, chairman of the sanitary committee of the city council.

Mr. Saunders Thursday stated that copies of the ordinance will be available to the public at the city health office at city hall on and after Monday.

Under the new ordinance milk must be served in sealed bottles. Pumps, dinners and other such devices now in use in many fountains and restaurants will not be allowed.

The statement of Mr. Saunders is considered by officials to be sufficient warning to assure obedience of the ordinance and after March 15 a concerted campaign of enforcement will begin.

Not A Single Bit Like Einstein's Theory

The A-B-C Classified Section makes one think of the Einstein theory—because it is so different.

It has been said that there are not more than a dozen people who fully understand the theory of relativity—and that's where the difference is—

Because everyone can understand the A-B-C Classified Section!

Space is an intangible thing which is apt to elude the mind's grasp—unless it happens to be newspaper space which has been laid out as systematically and classified as scientifically as the A-B-C Classified Section.

Then it becomes as simple as A-B-C!

By arranging its offers under numerical classifications in A-B-C order, the classified section is brought to the last degree of simplicity and system.

Most Prosperous Stage In Sect Educational Lines in History Reached

Denominational activity along educational lines is enjoying the most prosperous stage in the history of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, according to Dr. H. H. Sherman, associate educational secretary, of Nashville, who spent Thursday in Atlanta, visiting headquarters of the North Georgia conference.

The $6,000,000 raised with pledges by southern Methodists in a drive launched four years ago has been more than doubled by new pledges during the past two years, he declared. Payments on these pledges are to be concluded in May, 1926.

This money will be apportioned to 90 schools, supported by southern Methodists, and including the two Methodist colleges, Emory university, in Atlanta, and the Southern Methodist university, of Dallas, Texas. It will be utilized for endowment purposes, the paying of outstanding debts and the erection of new buildings, Dr. Sherman said.

Dr. Sherman commended especially the excellent work of the North Georgia conference, headed by Judge John S. Candler, chairman of the board of education, and a member of the general conference board, and the personal direction of Dr. Elam F. Dempsey.

Rollicking "Jessie James" Back at Atlanta Theater

It's a rollicking, musical, captivating "Little Jessie James" that's back at the Atlanta theater for a three-day engagement following one of the most successful appearances of the present season at the same playhouse only a short time ago.

The audiences that greeted Lawrence Weber's capable musical comedy company Thursday night, proved conclusively that the fame of "Little Jessie" has spread at an astounding rate since her first descent upon Atlanta—and if theatergoers are wise, they'll continue the rush.

For no more tuneful and entertaining attraction of its nature has held the stage at the Atlanta in a long time. With the same capable principals, the same accomplished chorus, the same clever dancing and the same sparkling wit—"Little Jessie James" is worthy of attendance even if you saw it when it was here before.

As is usual, demure little Miss Estelle Brody, in the role of "Jessie," dominates the production with a compelling personality that is as rare back stage as pulchritude is in grand opera. True her voice isn't wonderful, and she isn't the best dancer in the company by any means—but she doesn't need to sing or dance. She smiles—or rather, she grins—and the infectious quality of her good humor and assurance makes her audience blind to vocal and terpsichorean shortcomings.

The show boasts of two excellent voices, those of Mildred Reed (Geraldine Flower) and Donald Carroll (Paul Revere). The former was particularly effective Thursday night in the popular and tuneful airs with which "Little Jessie" is plentifully endowed, and Mr. Carroll's singing was a splendid foil for the clean blade of her voice.

To recount the accomplishments of the other principals or to mention the plot would possibly bore the hundreds who have seen the excellent performance, and take some of the edge off the delight of the other hundreds who will see it this week.

"Little Jessie"—the same show with the same James Boys orchestra—is booked for appearances tonight and Saturday night with a Saturday matinee. If you haven't seen it, arrange to go.

LOYD A. WILHOIT.

"The Fool."

(At the Lyric.)

When sophisticated playgoers, people who have seen countless plays and know by heart all the 'hokum" of the ordinary stage, come out of a theater red-eyed with weeping and starry-eyed with spiritual exaltation—as they are coming out of the Lyric theater after performances of "The Fool" every afternoon and night this week, the common run of folks who only go to a show once in a while will make no mistake in picking this show for the "once." With the cooperatin of the Georgia Tech Marionettes, probably the best known of college dramatic clubs, and of Big Bethel A. M. E. church choir, certainly the most famous group of negro spiritual singers in the world, the Lyric players are putting on a performance which is actually better than the original New York production, according to people who have seen both. Matinees are being given daily to accommodate the crowds which proved too large to be seated comfortably at the regular performances.

Loew's Circus.

(At Loew's Grand.)

This is a week of rejoicing among the children of Atlanta, and all the grownups who like for children to have a really good time. The reason is the appearance of Loew's circus at Loew's Grand theater at three performances every day this week. It is composed entirely of the very best circus acts, from the world's biggest circuses, which are at liberty while the "big tops" are in winter quarters. Marcelline, the clown who is probably the most popular entertainer, is said to draw regularly the highest salary of any living circus performer and has appeared before the kings and queens of Europe, as well as at the New York hippodrome during other winter "vacations" from the sawdust ring. The circus is being staged in all the atmosphere of the outdoor show, sawdust on the ground, ballyhoo man, redcoated roustabouts, wild animal cages and everything.

"Thief of Bagdad."

(At the Howard.)

Douglas Fairbanks' "The Thief of Bagdad" which has been generally accepted as being the most amazing development in the motion picture drama, is the attraction at the Howard this week. In "The Thief of Bagdad," there has been realized the most extraordinary happenings, so amazing that the thought of picturing them had not therefore been thought possible. In this picture founded upon the "Arabian Nights," Douglas Fairbanks seems to have nearly covered the universe both of fact and fancy. Wilbur Davis, "the golden voice basso," is to be seen in an atmospheric prologue to the feature picture and the other short reel novelties make up an attractive program.

Frank Mayo.

(At the Metropolitan.)

English actors who come to America to attain fame are numerous, but Americans who go to England to win their renown are few.

Frank Mayo, who plays one of the leading roles in First Nationals "If I Marry Again," being shown at the Metropolitan theater, is one of the few Mayo was born of stage folk, marking the third generation of actors on his father's side. His birthplace was New York City, in June, 1889. At the age of 20 he went on the stage, playing with his father in "David Crockett," on tour for two years.

"Contraband."

(At the Rialto.)

Despite the fact that it was conceived in melodrama and dedicated to the good of action, the new picture at the Rialto, an Alan Crosland production, "Contraband," is sprinkled plentifully throughout with bits of comedy action that add immeasurably to the entertainment qualities of the story, which, in its original form, was a novel by Clarence Budington Kelland.

Lois Wilson, Noah Beery, Raymond Hatton and Raymond McKee are the featured players of the great cast

(81 Decatur Tonight.)

Butter Beans and Susie with their six supporting ads of rollicking, funmaking, blues singing, coon-shouting, buck and wing and breakdown dancing negro vaudeville stars, swing back onto the Eighty-one Decatur street stage at 11 o'clock tonight for the sole and particular amusement of white patrons of the unique theater. Butter Beans, who weighs about 100 pounds, and his 300-pound wife, Susie, are about the funniest pair Atlanta has ever seen on the stage. They earned 18 curtain calls at the frolic last month, the success of which was so great that the act was brought back for a return engagement, along with Nina Marshall trio and five other big acts. Ozzie McPherson, a long, lean, ginger-cake blues singer, a newcomer to Atlanta, has been standing the regular crowds on their ears with some of the weirdest melody that ever echoed against the flies of the 81 Decatur street show shop. All orchestra tickets are reserved in order to insure seating of patrons without inconvenience or rush. They may be secured in advance up to 11 o'clock, the hour of the show, at the box office.

Both the square and long, gay-colored silk scarfs are again being worn. They are tied under the chin in Ascot style with tailored suits, or on the side when worn with frocks.

Early to be and early to rise and you might as well not have a radio. —Baltimore Sun

CLEVER ACTORS SCORE BIG HIT ON FORSYTH BILL

Comedy acrobats, clever singers, dispensers of dialogue, a black-face comedian of the first water, and an exceptionally good comedy skit entitled "Thank You, Doctor," are grouped together in one of the most pleasing and at the time hilariously humorous bills ever presented at the Forsyth theater. Following the five unusually good acts on the regular program the entire company combines in several minutes' of laugh-provoking comedy in a postlude offering, which comes as a complete surprise to the audience.

The curtain rings up on a most unusual comedy acrobatic stunt in which Green and Page, a funny man, and his pretty assistant, thrill the audience with their difficult acrobatic feats.

Rodero and Malley present a remarkably original and humorous act in which Mr. Malley portrayed the Italian laborer. Two most striking features of their offering are the clever dinlogue of the two men in which numerous and original riddles are told and the serious impersonation of the great comedian, George Beban, in his famous "Rose Marie" song, which is well done by Mr. Malley.

The Cook and Oatman duo in an act called "Delineations From Song Land," ends its act amid roars of applause after several numbers in which a full baritone and beautiful soprano blend in songs both tuneful and original.

"Colonel" Jack George, the side-splitting "colored preacher," brings down the house with his "Scripture readings" and dissertations on problems of the day.

The last act, a comedy skit called "Thank You, Doctor," in the judgment of the writer is one of the best comedy vaudeville skits ever enacted on a local vaudeville stage from the standpoint of acting and story.

The surprise act after the program has as its starring personage Jack George and is a scream from start to finish.

The always pleasing Aesop's Fable picture and Pathe News complete the remarkably enjoyable program.
